DR. JUSTIN MILLER.

Dr. Justin Miller, dean of the University of Southern California law school, yesterday announced that he has accepted the post of dean of the law school of Duke University at Durham, N.C. He said he will take up his duties there July 1.

TOM MAY

Jay R. Jacobs, general chairman, revealed that the work of the publicity committee will be of an educational nature, its main purpose to disseminate facts disclosing the need for a new Jewish hospital.

May stated the funds are needed to complete, equip and furnish the present structure. The cost of the land was $150,000, the cost of the hospital building will be $1,200,000 and the cost of equipment and furnishings $300,000, totaling $1,650,000. The balance required is $1,200,000.

RIVER OFFER REJECTED

Arizona Spurns California Plan

Proposals for Dividing Colorado Water Fail at Phoenix Session

Deadlock Denied, However; Further Deliberations Set for Today

BY CHESTER A. HANSON
"Times" Staff Representative

PHOENIX, Feb. 6. (Exclusive)—With exchange of proposal and counter on the part of California and Arizona featured the opening of the 10-state Colorado River conference here today as the two States made a solution of the problem of using the river waters.

California proposed and Arizona rejected, but assurance was given that affairs between the two States have not reached the stalemate stage as reflected. Tomorrow Utah and New Mexico will discuss certain phases of the entire Colorado River problem, dealing particularly with the engineering aspects of the project.

California's proposal was, in substance, to receive 300,000 acre feet of water, as before, the division of the water physically to be at any time to be divided equally between Arizona and California, any water necessary to make up the shortage to Utah and New Mexico, as well as to furnish water to Nevada, to be supplied by Arizona and California equally.

PROPOSAL TURNED DOWN

It was learned through Commissioner Stone that she cannot consider any proposal which contemplates division of the waters of the Gila or its tributaries.

California's offer was made after Governor Phillips had officially served notice that she would not accept Arizona's proposal for division of the waters. The notice was handed to Col. W. J. Donovan, chairman of the conference and representative of the President, and was handed it over to Arizona. This was at the opening of the session at the Westward Ho Hotel this morning, following a welcoming address by Gov. Phillips of Arizona.

Delegates and Arizona commissioners met for the first time in almost three years since the adjournment here last week. The California offer was the subject of discussion before the morning session adjourned. The Arizonans went to their quarters to study it.

RIGHT PROSPECT

Stone, however, expressed that if the desired assurance could be specified, the California proposal might go a long toward satisfying Arizona. The proposal has the advantage of not limiting either State to any amount of water and

Will Rogers Remarks:

NEW YORK, Feb. 6.—[To the Editor of The Times:] Arrived from your old-time county seat today, and for a country that has no traditions or background, you are not bad. Have read all your papers today on the conference, and here's one thing they seem to overlook that really makes things harder than you think. You must remember that it's national pride that they are juggling with. There is far more pride involved at this conference than speech. The minute you rate a nation they naturally think you are establishing their independence in comparison to everybody else. Nations don't mind being small, but they don't want it advertised to the world, so remember it's not tonnage they are prorating; it's prestige. If they only had to divide up ships they would be home next week.

Yours,
WILL ROGERS.

ORTIZ RUBIO IN ORDEAL

He Goes Under Knife Again

Mexico's Wounded President Has Operation on Jaw; His Condition Good

Score Held by Capital Police in Attempt to Uncover Assassination Plot

MEXICO CITY, Feb. 6. (AP)—President Ortiz Rubio of Mexico underwent a second operation this morning to remove a piece of splintered bone from his jaw, but came out of the anesthetic in good shape, it was learned tonight. His doctors insist his condition is good.

Lieut.-Col. Chazaro, the President's private secretary, said this afternoon that former President Calles, Secretary Portes Gil and the other members of the Cabinet had seen Ortiz Rubio today, but only at a distance.

The President's doctors strictly ordered that no one should be allowed to talk with him.

SCORE ARRESTED

Meanwhile police and military authorities held approximately a score of persons under arrest after a joint investigation into the attempted assassination.

Daniel Flores, the well-dressed, quiet young man who fired six shots from a .38-caliber pistol into the Presidential limousine, wounding the President in the cheek and jaw, was questioned constantly during the day at the military prison. The military authorities endeavored to get at the bottom of what they believed to have been a well-prepared plot against Ortiz Rubio.

Flores maintained a defiant attitude and insisted that he alone had planned and executed the assassination attempt.

VASCONCELISTAS HELD

The exact number of persons detained and their names were not divulged, but one young woman and a young man connected with the headquarters staff of the "Vasconcelista," or anti-re-electionist party, during the Presidential campaign were said to be among them. The Vasconcelistas were the opponents of Ortiz Rubio's party at the last November election.

Gen. Minjares Palacios, Chief of Police, this afternoon made public part of the scant information that has been obtained from Flores by constant questioning.

Gen. Palacios said that Flores, when asked if he had a father, had evaded giving any clew to his identity or his past.

"Everyone is supposed to have a father, isn't he" Flores said.

"What is your father's name?" he was then asked.

"I don't know."

PRODUCES CARTRIDGES

After blocking the progress of this kind of cross-examination for a while Palacios said Flores remarked:

"To show you how clever your detectives are I want to make you a little present."

Thereupon he extracted from his sleeve six revolver cartridges the detectives had not found.

The authorities believe that Flores was born and raised in the State of San Luis Potosi, and that his family still lives there. Detectives are conducting a complete investigation in that State.

PORTES GIL IN CHARGE

Under the new Penal Code placed in effect by Portes Gil just before leaving office, Flores is liable to a maximum of twenty years' imprisonment. But since the case has been handled by the military authorities, the limits of the Penal Code may be disregarded.

Senor Portes Gil, who as Secretary for the Interior, is acting head of the government during the absence of Ortiz Rubio, told the press today that all departments of the government are functioning normally.

HOOVER AND SENATE EXPRESS DEEP REGRET

WASHINGTON, Feb. 6. (AP)—President Hoover and the Senate expressed regret today at the attempt made upon the life of Pascual Ortiz Rubio, President of Mexico, and voiced hope for his speedy recovery from the bullet wound in his jaw.

Mr. Hoover said in a personal message:

"While deeply distressed to learn of the cowardly attack made on you and your family, Mrs. Hoover and I rejoice with the American people that you and Senora De Ortiz Rubio have suffered no serious harm and that you have been spared to carry on your constructive program. Please accept our most cordial wishes for your complete recovery and be assured that the government of the United States earnestly trusts that Mexico, under your wise and

TAFT HAS GREATER GAIN

Doctors Report Condition Better Than at Any Time Since Return from North Carolina

WASHINGTON, Feb. 6. (AP)—The condition of William Howard Taft was described tonight by his physicians as better than it has been at any time since his return home from Asheville, N. C.

After an examination the doctors expressed themselves as highly pleased with the turn events have taken.

Although this morning they reported considerable difficulty in giving Mr. Taft sufficient nourishment, the former Chief Justice was fed this afternoon and doctors said he appeared somewhat refreshed by considerable sleep. He was administered medicine to encourage sleep during the afternoon.

The former President has slept at night since his arrival from the South on Tuesday, but the doctors wanted him to obtain even more rest. They believe this to be an important ally to medical science in their attempt to restore the 72-year-old patient to health.

DOCTORS' ATTITUDE

While the doctors apparently still feel the sick man is in no immediate danger, they gave no assurances of confidence that any crisis has been passed.

In contrast with the last two days, the Wyoming-avenue neighborhood where the Taft residence is located was devoid of many passers-by today. The spacious red brick home had several callers, as usual, bearing messages of encouragement from the numerous friends of the former President and Chief Justice. The Senate today adopted a resolution expressing regret for his "serious illness" and hope that he will soon recover.

Mrs. Taft, who calls her husband "Will" and is known affectionately to him as "Nellie," left the house this afternoon for an automobile ride to refresh herself. They were married forty-three years ago. Their two sons, Charles P. and Robert A. Taft, are expected here this weekend.

HOOVER KEPT INFORMED

President Hoover, associate justices of the Supreme Court and other high officials in Washington, continue to keep in close touch with the condition of their illustrious friend. Every bulletin formulated by the doctors is sent to the White House, where it is read and made public.

The same interest in Mr. Taft's condition is evident throughout the city, where year after year he has been a familiar and well-loved figure. Up until not so long ago he enjoyed taking walks in the vicinity of his home, especially across the lengthy Connecticut-avenue bridge which spans a section of Rock Creek Park. He always had a kind word ready for those who wished him "good day."

BLEASE URGES PLEA FOR REAPPOINTMENT

WASHINGTON, Feb. 6. (AP)—Senator Blease, Democrat, South Carolina, proposed in the Senate today that a resolution be adopted asking President Hoover to reappoint William Howard Taft as Chief Justice.

He said he has nothing against Charles Evans Hughes, the nominee for Chief Justice, but that he "loves William Howard Taft" and fears there "is something crooked around here somewhere."

"You can't fool me," said Blease. "I am not in the inner circle and can't get it, but someone has fooled William Howard Taft. There is something crooked around here. It was all fixed up. Taft resigns and Hughes takes his place and Hughes's son resigns as solicitor, and Taft's son is to take his place."

FIRE BREAKS OUT IN BYRD STOREHOUSE

Small Blaze Has Comic Turn When Dog Escapes With Admiral's Pants

LITTLE AMERICA (Antarctica) Feb. 6. (Exclusive)—A fire in the radio storehouse was a break in monotony yesterday. It started from gasoline which had spilled from a blow-torch and burned under the snow until it reached some boxes. With the use of fire extinguishers, snow and much useless advice from the bystanders, it was put out after a few minutes and did not cause much damage.

During the fire a dog with a misguided sense of humor ran off with Admiral Byrd's wind-proof pants which he had been carrying under his arm and had put down for a moment. If the dog hadn't tripped on them the admiral would probably be looking for another pair. Altogether it was a very successful fire, although fires are not recommended as diversion down here.

Fate of Almost Score of Others Unknown After Blast

SALT LAKE CITY, Feb. 6. (AP)—Six men were killed in an explosion in a coal mine at Standardville, Utah, late tonight, according to messages received here by the Standard Coal Company, owner of the property. The fate of nearly a score of other men in the mine at the time of the explosion is not determined.

Harvey Stanley, mine superintendent, said he was unable to determine the nature or the cause of the blast. Rescue crews were immediately formed and mining officials from this city rushed to Standardville to supervise rescue operations. Day-shift workers were called to assist in the rescue work.

Pin in Throat of Woman Forty Years Removed

BRENTWOOD, Feb. 6. (AP)—An inch-long steel pin, swallowed forty years ago, was removed at Brentwood Hospital today from the throat of Mrs. H. J. Ahrend, 63 years of age, of Hayward, who had been undergoing treatment for a puzzling bronchial ailment.

X-ray treatments had failed to relieve the painful throat disorder, which began several years ago. Finally Dr. Catherine Holden traced the trouble to a foreign object in Mrs. Ahrend's throat. By means of a special magnet apparatus, the pin was removed and Mrs. Ahrend remembered swallowing it when a young woman.

IMMEDIATE NAVAL SLASH GOAL SIGHTED BY AMERICA

Concrete Plans Given for Parity, "Yardstick" and "Humanizing" of Submarine Warfare

LONDON, Feb. 6. (AP)—The naval conference achieved significant progress tonight with an important American statement that outlined definitely the nature of the naval agreement which can be reached at London.

The statement was given out by Col. Henry L. Stimson, head of the American delegation, who, dressed in evening clothes for a dinner engagement, stopped off at St. James' Palace to issue it to the press.

Briefly, the situation is as follows:

First, Anglo-American naval parity will immediately be a reality and both fleets will be materially reduced, saving each country millions of dollars.

Second, a five-power agreement has been tentatively realized for "humanizing" submarine warfare.

YARDSTICK AGREED ON

Third, a provisional agreement has been reached on a new "yardstick" for fleet strength, whereby conflicting French global and British category plans for limiting tonnage are reconciled.

Fourth, the conference work is progressing at such a pace that the Americans hope the work of writing the London treaty can be started within two weeks. Premier Tardieu of France says the main work of the conference can be completed in ten days.

Col. Stimson's important summary of the American position was made to newspaper men with Prime Minister MacDonald's knowledge. It is understood to carry with it British agreement. The Japanese delegation was informed of its contents.

STIMSON'S STATEMENT

The Stimson declaration follows:

"At the opening of the conference the United States delegation made no statement of its position or of the needs of its country beyond the historical fact of agreement in principle for parity between Great Britain and the United States.

"We are now in a position where we can go further. Following discussions among ourselves, and negotiations with the British and Japanese, which have clarified the limits of possible agreement, our delegation has made suggestions as follows:

"First, with Britain, immediately parity is every class or step in the navy. The gross tonnage of these two fleets is substantially 1,200,000 tons apiece.

"Negotiations between President Hoover and Prime Minister MacDonald last summer practically reduced the discussion of parity between them to the comparatively insignificant difference in their respective cruiser-class tonnage of 24,000 tons.

CRUISER PROPOSAL

"We propose to settle this difference as follows: Under our suggestion, the actual tonnage difference between the two cruiser fleets will be only 12,000.

"Of the larger cruisers armed with eight-inch guns Great Britain will have fifteen and the United States eighteen, an advantage to the latter of 36,000 tons.

"Of the smaller cruisers armed with six-inch guns, Great Britain will have an advantage of 42,000 tons. But beyond this, in order to insure exact equality of opportunity, the United States makes the suggestion that each country will have the option of duplicating exactly the cruiser fleet of the other.

"Thus Great Britain would have the option by reducing its number of small cruisers to increase its large cruisers from fifteen to eighteen, so as to give it a total tonnage of 327,000 tons, the exact amount of tonnage which the United States now asks.

AMERICA HAS CHOICE

"On the other hand, the United States would have the option by reducing its large cruisers from eighteen to fifteen, to increase the num-

CHICAGOANS AWAKENED

Growing Crime Reign Spurs Business Men to Propose Iron Glove Rule

Union Outrage in Attempted Slaying of Builder Stirs Association Action

BY JOHN P. GALLAGHER
"Times" Staff Correspondent

CHICAGO, Feb. 6. (Exclusive)—Fear that the rule of the criminal is near, if not actually at hand, and that the time is ripe for the citizens to take matters in their own hands through the formation of vigilante units, or a sort of Scotland Yard force to suppress it, were voiced today by aroused business men as they prepared to take action to restore law and order.

The first step of the business men was the calling of a meeting of the executive committee of the Association of Commerce for tomorrow to consider measures to end the reign of underworld savagery that has resulted in eight killings on the streets of Chicago, numerous dynamite bombings, shootings, bold daylight robberies and burglaries in the last week.

The gathering is expected to evolve into a "crime indignation" meeting aimed at the local law and order enforcing bodies at whose door the blame is laid for the "rule of the jungle" now said to be threatening the city's 3,500,000 citizens.

"SITUATION TERRIBLE"

"The situation really is terrible . . . terrible," said James B. Forgan, Jr., vice-president of the First National Bank and a member of the executive committee of the Association of Commerce. "Chicago must do something about it and do it quickly. Not only is the situation terrible in relation to crime, but also in municipal finances.

"I can see only one way out . . . if conditions get bad enough the citizens will be forced to do something drastic about it. I think that time already has arrived.

"I'm not speaking as a banker, nor as a member of the Association of Commerce, but as an individual. Personally, I don't see how things could be much worse. Street killings, shootings, bombings, robberies and burglaries are becoming rampant, so rampant, in fact, that they are the talk of the civilized world. It must be stopped.

SPRAGUE TALKS

"I think the first thing that should be done is to bring pressure on the police to halt the terrorism. Something should be done to break the alliance that now exists between certain high authorities and the gangland element. That is what permits the hoodlums to run wild."

"The executive committee of the

Seasick Humorist Reaches Port and Comments on House of Commons, King George and Shaw

NEW YORK, Feb. 6. (Exclusive)—The Ile de France of the French Line arrived today after encountering severe storms at sea. Many of the passengers were seasick most of the voyage. One of those who admitted an inability to cope with the rough weather was Will Rogers, humorist and self-appointed delegate to the London Naval Conference.

Mr. Rogers talked for an hour today, 'how do you do' if you hurry, with reporters about his health, the naval conference, American politics, King George, George Bernard Shaw and the House of Commons. He said he emerged from his cabin only three days ago and other passengers thought he had boarded the Ile De France in midocean.

CONGRESS BEAT FOR NOISE

Mr. Rogers declared that he had believed nothing could equal Congress, but had found the American lawmaking body cannot compare with the House of Commons in noise and excitement.

"They all talk at once," he said, "shout each other down, argue and keep up a terrific noise all the time. The only rudeness I saw abroad was in the House of Commons."

When asked if he would report on the arms conference to President Hoover, Mr. Rogers replied that the President is getting direct reports about matters in London. He added that he will report to "Prime Minister Borah" as soon as possible.

LISTENED TO SHAW

He said he talked with Shaw and modified the statement by explaining that he listened to the Irish playwright.

"You can't talk when he is around," he explained. "You can witnessed.

NATION'S SMOKE TOTAL GOES UP

Thousand Cigarettes for Each Person Sold in Year

Number Increases Thirteen Billions Over 1928

Output of Snuff and Other Tobaccos Decreases

WASHINGTON, Feb. 6. (AP)—Almost 1000 cigarettes for each man, woman and child in the United States were taken from bond during the 1929 calendar year.

Figures made public today by the Internal Revenue Bureau showed that the 119,049,165,104 taken from bond last year were 13,122,330,453 more than during 1928.

At an average cost of 13 cents for each package of twenty, the 1929 cigarette bill would have taken $780,000,000 out of the pockets of the smokers.

In contrast, however, the amount of snuff taken out of bond last year dropped 619,000 pounds as compared with the previous year, the total production amounting to 40,038,914 pounds.

Manufactured tobacco also decreased about 6,000,000 pounds to a total of 337,718,626, and the production of playing cards dropped approximately 400,000 packs to a total of 51,678,382.

"I'd suffered off and on for seven years with rheumatic pains all across my shoulders and back, and clear down in my legs. When the attacks came on there wasn't any such thing as relief from liniments, massages, medicine or anything else. One thing was that constipation kept my system full of poisons and my kidneys weren't working right, either. I'd have to leave the bed eight or ten times at night; had headaches and dizzy spells continually, and my food got to where it wouldn't agree with me.

"Sargon has been the first thing that ever came anywhere near giving me relief! The rheumatic pains have entirely disappeared and my kidneys have righted themselves so that I sleep good throughout the night. My whole system feels strengthened; I've got a wonderful appetite and can eat the heartiest kind of a meal with the satisfaction of knowing I won't have indigestion afterwards.

"Sargon Soft Mass Pills seemed to fix me up right away and got my bowels regulated so good that I quit having those headaches or dizzy spells. I can sure recommend this new compound to anybody suffering like I was and I'm willing to have my statement published if it might help others looking for the right medicine to bring them relief."

The Sargon Man is at the Owl Drug Store, 6th and Broadway, where he is meeting the public daily and explaining the merits of this remarkable new medicine. Sargon may be obtained at all Owl and Liggett Drug Stores in Los Angeles and other cities.—[Advertisement.

POLA LOSES JEWELS TO GERMAN COURT

Pola Negri

BERLIN, Feb. 6. (AP)—After several years' absence from the city where she first achieved film success, the American film actress, Pola Negri, returned to Berlin today, only to get into hot water with the courts.

Sam Rachmann, theatrical agent, obtained a writ of attachment whereby the courts sequestered Pola's jewelry to the extent of 50,000 marks (about $12,000.) Rachmann asserts he negotiated the screen star's American contracts, for which she failed to pay the stipulated commission.

Immediately after she handed over to a court attache her diamonds and rubies she and her husband, Prince Mdvani, departed for St. Moritz, Switzerland.

VIGILANTES MAY GUARD CHICAGO

Association of Commerce should go deeply into the present deplorable crime conditions existing at present," said Col. A. A. Sprague, member of Sprague, Warner & Co.

Commissioner of Police William F. Russell when apprised of the possible demands of the business interests of the city said he did not know what the business men hoped to accomplish or how they would go about it. He expressed a willingness to outline the crime situation if asked to do so.

"If they want to know the real reasons," he said, "we haven't enough policemen and those we have are underpaid when they are paid. None of them have received their salaries for weeks because of the lack of funds in the city treasury. We have 4000 policemen; we need 20,000.

"WE KNOW THERE'S GRAFT"

"We know there is graft. Gangsters go to the policemen and offer them big money to turn their backs on the law breaking. We expect them to say 'no, I won't take it,' and go on supporting their families on their meager pay. Of course, we fire the crooks when we find them, but it isn't easy to find them.

"And because we are bound by civil service we can't fire a man simply because we suspect that he is crooked. We have to prove it. That is one thing further that handicaps the department—civil service."

The shooting yesterday of Philip H. Meagher, construction superintendent of the new Lying-in Hospital, gives the Association of Commerce Committee one more wedge by which it can enter the crime crisis, inasmuch as it is vitally interested in the Landis award. The shooting has been attributed to trouble over the past, which permits the employment of nonunion workmen.

At a meeting last November the executive committee went on record as still indorsing the award.

The Landis Award Employers' Association, thoroughly aroused over the shooting, has not only posted a reward of $1000 for the arrest and conviction of Meagher's assailants, but has employed detectives and retained a law firm to bring them to justice.

Meagher, a superintendent for the H. R. Barnard Company, which has employed nonunion workmen since the Landis award, was in a critical condition at the Billings Hospital today.

Pilot Waits Too Long to Jump

EAST HEMPSTEAD (N. J.) Feb. 6. (AP)—Elliot De Lisser of New York City, an automobile dealer, was killed today in an airplane crash. His plane went into a tailspin at an altitude of 2500 feet, but De Lisser didn't jump until only about 150 feet from the ground. His parachute failed to open and he fell in a field.

The plane crashed into a house 300 feet away, the engine plunging through the roof.

AMERICA TELLS NAVAL ATTITUDE

Stimson's Statement Gives Impetus to Conference

Writing of Treaty May be Begun Within Fortnight

ber of its small cruisers so as to give it a total cruiser tonnage of 339,000 tons, the exact amount of tonnage which the British now ask.

"In battleships, we suggest by the reduction in numbers on both sides to equalize our two fleets in 1931 instead of in 1942. At present the British battleship fleet contains two more vessels than ours.

"In destroyers and aircraft carriers we suggest equality of tonnage, and in submarines the lowest tonnage possible. As is well known, we will gladly agree to the total abolition of submarines if it is possible to obtain the consent of all five powers to such a proposition, and, in any event, we suggest that operations of submarines be limited to the same rules of international law as surface craft in their operations against merchant ships, so that they cannot attack without providing for the safety of passengers and crews.

"OVER-ALL" RELATION SOUGHT

"Second, our suggestion to the Japanese delegation would produce an 'over-all' relation satisfactory to us and, we hope, to them. In conformity with our relations in the past, it is not based upon the same ratio in every class of ships.

"We have not made proposals to the French and Italians, whose problems are not so directly related to ours that we feel it appropriate at this time to make suggestions to them. A settlement of Italian and of French problems is essential, of course, to the agreement contemplated.

"The United States delegates do not feel at liberty to discuss any further details in figures, and it is obvious that the announcement of hypothetical figures by others is calculated only to provoke argument.

ALL IN AGREEMENT

"Our delegation is in agreement on every item of the program and we are in the most hopeful spirit that in co-operation with the other delegations the primary purposes of the conference, namely, the termination and prevention of competition in naval armament, and such reductions as are found consistent with the national security, may be accomplished.

"This is all we deem it helpful to state until our suggestions have been considered by the delegations to whom they have been sent."

Mr. Stimson's statement came at an opportune moment, in the opinion of observers, when the atmosphere of the conference needed the clarifying that it produced.

It relegates the highly technical and complicated differences between Italy and France, and between Great Britain and the continental method of measuring fleet tonnage, temporarily to the background.

Today's meeting of the conference lasted two hours.

DUAL SCHEME SOUGHT

A subcommittee appointed today will investigate the means for drawing up a dual scheme of categories adapted to the needs of the continental powers, France and Italy, on the one hand, and of the oceanic powers, the United States, Great Britain and Japan, on the other.

Thus a compromise within a compromise will be sought. The result is expected to be the maintenance of naval equilibrium, and the satisfaction of the requirements of nations favoring total tonnage limitation without categories, in order to have specialised navies, and also of the requirements of Great Britain and the United States, which are entirely favorable to the category limitation system.

Tomorrow's conference program begins with the first meeting of the experts, subcommittee to tackle this problem.

HOOVER PERUSES NAVAL PARITY PROPOSAL

WASHINGTON, Feb. 6. (AP)—President Hoover and Acting Secretary of State Cotton carefully perused late today the statement made public in London by Henry L. Stimson, American Secretary of State, proposing immediate naval parity with Great Britain.

Subsequently Cotton made public a brief statement clarifying the cruiser section of the Stimson declaration with the explanation that the United States should have the right to build eighteen eight-inch gun cruisers with a lesser tonnage than Great Britain in smaller gun ships, but that it could have the option of a fifteen-ship fleet of eight-inch guns the same as Britain and use 30,000 tons in additional smaller cruisers.

The statement by the acting Secretary of State said:

"The statement clearly shows that the United States delegation has made a proposal which gives tonnage parity by categories between Great Britain and the United States. As to cruiser category, it is proposed that the United States have the right to build eighteen large cruisers (three more than Great Britain,) and in smaller cruisers a lesser tonnage than Great Britain. But if the United States wishes it is to have the option to build the same tonnage in larger cruisers as Great Britain, that is, fifteen, and in that event can increase its small cruiser building to duplicate the British tonnage."

TOKIO FORWARDED NEW AMERICAN PROPOSAL

TOKIO, Feb. 7. (Friday) (AP)—An American proposal, described in authoritative quarters as "drastic and far reaching" and covering every category of naval armaments, it was learned today, was received by the Japanese government last night from its delegation at the London naval conference.

The proposal, which was delivered by Senator Reed, an American delegate, to Reijiro Wakatsuki, chief of the Japanese delegation, Wednesday evening, created a profound impression in government circles, officials, however, refused to discuss the plan.

The American proposal was submitted to Tokio without comment by the Japanese delegation, which did not ask for any instructions. However, the questions involved are of such importance as to transcend the delegates' powers and hence deliberation of the whole government is made necessary. Naval experts have begun a study of the document, which probably will require several days.

The Foreign Office, while admitting receipt of the proposal, maintain a profound secrecy today concerning its contents. It was learned authoritatively, however, the proposal in its present form is not acceptable to Japan, although it represents some concessions on the part of America from the position taken at the Japanese-American conversations last December at Washington.

STIMSON HONORED BY ROYAL SCOTS GUARDS

LONDON, Feb. 6. (AP)—Amid the strains of Scottish airs played by bagpipes, Secretary of State Stimson tonight was entertained at a dinner in the mess hall at St. James' Palace by twelve officers of the Second Battalion, Royal Scots Guards, who had formed a guard of honor for him in Hongkong when he was on his way to become Governor-General of the Philippines.

able guidance, will enjoy an era of spiritual and economic progress."

SENATE RESOLUTION

The Senate expressed its sentiments in a resolution offered by Senator Heflin, Democrat, Alabama. The measure was adopted without debate and the secretary of the Senate was directed to send a copy to the Mexican President. The resolution said:

"The Senate has heard with deep regret and profound sorrow of the attempt to assassinate Hon. Pascual Ortiz Rubio, President of the Republic of Mexico, and wishes for him a speedy recovery."

The President and Senora De Ortiz Rubio paid an official visit to Washington during the last Christmas holidays. They were received at the White House and later President Hoover paid the then President-elect of Mexico the unusual compliment of calling upon him at the Mexican Embassy, which was his official residence while in the national capital.

NO GUARD WANTED

Upon his arrival here, the noted Mexican visitor was accompanied from the train to the embassy by two of the White House secret service operatives. Before the day was over, they were back at the White House, however, and during the remainder of his stay in this country he was unguarded except by police details in the cities which he visited.

Some of those who were with Senor Ortiz Rubio during his tour of the United States expressed the opinion today that his dislike of armed protection made possible the attempt upon his life after his inauguration in Mexico City yesterday. It was said that when Communists made a demonstration upon his arrival at Detroit he stalked through their ranks without so much as turning his head, although banners were waved in his face and many demonstrators shouted imprecations.

Again at Nogales, Ariz., he spoke at a banquet before returning into Mexico, although he had been warned of a plot to assassinate him while he ate, the fate which befell his predecessor, Gen. Alvaro Obregon in Mexico.

PLYMOUTH (Eng.) Feb. 6. (AP)—Lady Nancy Astor, American-born peeress, has acquired a new and striking fame. Plymouth Museum has obtained the dress she wore as the first woman to take a seat in the House of Commons and the dress will have a place among habiliments worn by royalty and other personages in centuries gone by.

Lady Astor was elected to Parliament in 1919 and has held her seat ever since.

Deadlock Still Holds in Brady Murder Trial

AUSTIN (Tex.) Feb. 6. (AP)—The jury which more than forty-eight hours ago began deliberating the murder case of John W. Brady, former State Civil Appeals Court judge charged with the slaying of Miss Lehlia Highsmith, 28-year-old Capitol stenographer, tonight still is deadlocked.

The division, reported as ten for heavy punishment and two for acquittal, apparently stood firm.

Although most of the persons connected with the case have abandoned hope of a verdict, District Judge J. D. Moore revealed that he intends to keep the jury at work indefinitely, perhaps until Saturday.

Senate Passes Bill for Visits to War Graves

WASHINGTON, Feb. 6. (AP)—Congress completed action today on legislation to provide $5,286,367 to enable gold star mothers and World War widows to make a pilgrimage to the graves of loved ones in France.

A House resolution to provide the money was passed by the Senate and sent to President Hoover.

RIVER MEETING ON AT PHOENIX

New Proposal of California Rejected by Arizona

Deadlock Denied, However, by State Delegations

thus bringing about complications in the way of securing water with title to it. Under the old proposal, for instance, California would be allotted 4,400,000 acre feet of water, and although there would be more in the stream which she could take, the question of title to such additional water would have to be disposed of in some way or other.

ARIZONA SUGGESTION

Arizona's proposal, which California turned down, substantially was as follows:

Nevada 300,000 acre feet; Arizona, 2,800,000 acre feet; California, 4,400,000 acre feet; an additional 1,000,00 acre feet to be split fifty-fifty between the two States and all surplus waters to be split equally between them; waters for Mexico to be furnished fifty-fifty by the two States; but the Gila and all other Arizona tributaries to be exempt from allocation duty.

The California needs were found to exceed 4,400,000 acre feet by a considerable amount. The Imperial Valley Irrigation District alone was asking for virtually all of it; there were other claims for agricultural uses, and the Metropolitan Water District must have 1,100,000 acre feet for domestic water. The Californians struggled with their problem at Reno and at home. They could find no other way but to say they could not accept such limitation as imposed by Arizona.

CALIFORNIA REPLY

The official refusal and counter-proposal handed to Col. Donovan, signed by Chairman Bacon of San Diego and Members W. B. Mathews of Los Angeles and Earl Pound of Brawley, of the California commission, is as follows:

"California, after mature consideration of the proposal submitted by Arizona for division of the waters of the Colorado River feels constrained to reject the same on the following grounds:

"(A.) Such proposed division allows to California far too little water for its well-established requirements, and at the same time allots to Arizona much more water than is needed or can be put to beneficial use in that State.

"(B.) Sound reclamation principles forbid an allocation of water in perpetuity to any State in excess of its requirements. Such excess can be of no benefit to the State to which it is given and is unavailable with title to another State needing it for proper development.

"California, however, is prepared to enter into a compact on the following basis:

"The use of waters of the Colorado River system in the lower basin for agricultural and domestic purposes shall be divided: 300,000 acre feet yearly to Nevada; the balance of the water physically present at any time equally between Arizona and California; any water necessary to make up a physical shortage of water to those parts of Utah and New Mexico in the lower basin and the republic of Mexico, to which they or it have actual need or legal right, shall be furnished equally by Arizona and California."

John Mason Ross, for the Arizona commission, made the following answer to California's counter-proposal of this morning:

"The proposition now made by California means that California would get one-half of the main stream plus one-half of the water of the Gila and the other Arizona tributaries. That is to say, in addition to 50 per cent of the main stream water she would get out of the main stream enough more to represent one-half of the waters of the Gila and of the tributaries.

"Arizona from the first has tried to make it clear that we cannot and will not discuss a division of our tributary water or of the water of the Gila. We have insisted and still insist that if any division of water is to be made it must be confined to water actually reaching and flowing in the main stream.

"Arizona has always conceded that any water from the Gila or her other tributaries reaching the main stream becomes main stream water and subject to division, and has always based her proposals on that assumption."

British Labor Wins Contest

LONDON, Feb. 6. (AP)—The Labor party today retained the Brightside division of Sheffield in a parliamentary by-election. William Dobbie, former president of the National Union of Railway Men, carried the seat left vacant by the recent elevation of A. W. Ponsonby to the peerage.

Mr. Ponsonby won the division at the general elections last spring.

LAND CLAIMS RULED FUTILE

Senate Hears Details of Southland Fight

Eight-Year Homestead Law Battle Costly

Valuable Property Around Los Angeles Involved

WASHINGTON, Feb. 6. (Exclusive)—The eight-year fight waged by nearly a thousand homesteaders in the hope of winning almost priceless property in and near Los Angeles by payment of a $16-per-acre homesteading fee under old Spanish and Mexican land grant claims was declared futile today by leaders of the Senate Public Lands Committee at the conclusion of a hearing.

The hearing was called to give Williamson S. Summers, attorney for the claimants, a chance to support charges laid previously before the committee.

During the session Senator Bratton, New Mexico, termed the homestead proposal "the coldest-blooded proposition I have ever heard;" and at the conclusion Senator Nye, chairman, stated he had found "no occasion and no excuse" for the claims set up by the homesteaders. Chairman Nye also announced he will call the committee together again this week to report on the inquiry.

The committee today questioned Summers closely as to money he had collected as attorney for the homesteaders. Summers said his charge to each of the claimants was $600, but insisted he had not collected "from a great majority of them."

HEARINGS HELD HERE LAST APRIL.

Public hearing of homestead claims which were reported virtually disallowed in Washington yesterday was conducted in Los Angeles in April, 1929. Although several Federal rulings had been returned against the individuals attempting to upset present titles through application of ancient Spanish and Mexican land grants, the Senate voted to settle the matter definitely; and, accordingly, the subcommittee consisting of Senators Nye, Bratton and Dale, came here and heard evidence for a week.

The investigation sought to determine whether the land-grant question should be referred to the Department of Justice for court action, whether there was fraud involved in the grants, and, if the latter were discovered, what Congress might do to remedy the situation.

VALUABLE LAND INVOLVED

The fight was waged by the homesteaders in an effort to acquire homestead claims against part of approximately 175,000 acres hereabouts which for years have been the undisputed property of their present owners. Holdings involved included sections of the Irvine ranch in Orange county, the Palos Verdes Estates, virtually all of the San Fernando Valley, the Malibu ranch and property between the Malibu and Santa Monica.

In some instances homesteads were claimed on the theory that the lands are of the public domain, because the ancient Spanish or Mexican grants through which they passed down to present owners were invalid under the laws of Spain or Mexico which then governed the country. In other instances it was asserted that the lands are of public domain because they were not originally included in the Spanish or Mexican grants, but were appropriated by grant holders out of public lands adjacent to them. In still other cases, boundaries were disputed.

AGITATION COSTLY

Preceding the hearing here last year, B. B. Smith, register of the local Federal Land Office, estimated that the "homestead movement" probably had cost the claimants $300,000, provided in sums of from $100 to $1200. He said some phases of the movement had kept attorneys with sizeable staffs in work for years.

"As long as the subject can be agitated," he declared at the time, "persons probably will be led to believe that they have a sporting chance, by paying out a small sum, to establish a claim against substantial property worth many times the amount expended. The effect of the agitation will be that an incalculable deal of needless mischief will be worked."

Pledge of Singleness Short Lived

GLORIA GOULD WEDS AGAIN

Divorcee Whose Escapades Kept New York Society on Qui Vive for Years Now Bride

NEW YORK, Feb. 6. (Exclusive)—Gloria Gould Bishop got married again today. This time the divorced wife of Henry A. Bishop, Jr., whose escapades have kept society on the qui vive for years, became the bride of Walter MacFarlane Barker, a young contractor.

The pair obtained their license at the marriage bureau in the Municipal Building late this afternoon and took a taxicab to the Yorkville Police Court, where the ceremony was performed by Magistrate Dourss.

"Only two or three immediate friends were present," it was announced, and the couple left on a secret honeymoon trip for unknown parts.

According to a man who described himself as a "close chum" of Barker, the romance dates back for a period of some six years, which would place it well back of the divorce which Mrs. Bishop obtained from her former husband at Reno early last year.

HER VARIED CAREER

Barker's sister, Ada, who, with her brother Joseph, are said to have been the only witnesses to the wedding, this evening was described as "probably the closest friend Mrs. Bishop has ever had," and it was through her the vivacious daughter of the late George J. Gould and Mr. Barker became acquainted.

Mr. Barker is the son of Alfred Barker, a contractor now of Palm Beach, Fla. According to information he gave in his application for the marriage license he is 31 years of age. He was born in Chicago, but removed with his family to East Orange, N. J., while a small boy, and later came to New York, where he has made his home since. He gave his address in the license application as 227 Park avenue.

Mrs. Bishop is 23, and is the youngest daughter of the late George J. Gould and Edith Kingdon Gould. She has had a varied social and theatrical career, her activities embracing a flyer as a dancing instructor, a term as manager of a Broadway picture theater with herself as her own best publicity agent, and a course in Greek dancing which she conducted through the columns of a New York newspaper, herself posing in regulation attire for the illustrations for the lessons. In her short-lived theatrical venture she achieved the front pages on more than one occasion by donning over-

ELOPEMENT BRIDE

Her elopement with young Bishop in September, 1923, was a three-day sensation in her set. It was not long, however, before her exclusive friends began to hear that the match was not turning out so well. Then some two years ago Mrs. Bishop went to Paris and established a residence with a view to bringing suit for divorce. Bishop persisted in remaining in America in spite of all rumors of a possible reconciliation and she could not serve him with the papers.

Eventually she returned to America, went to Reno and as soon as she had fulfilled the easy residence requirement there brought her suit and was promptly awarded a decree. In her papers she charged cruelty, accusing Bishop of having used "insulting language" to her and of laying violent hands on her on one occasion. She was awarded custody of her 4½-year-old daughter, Gloria. Then she went back to France where she has been living virtually ever since. She returned to America about two weeks ago and told ship news reporters that she was committed indefinitely to a state of single blessedness. She said she had no thought of ever getting married again, "one reason being that I have not been asked."

The bride is the sister of Mrs. Anthony J. Drexel, Lady Decies, Mrs. Carroll L. Wainwright, Jay Gould, George J. Gould, Jr., and Kingdon Gould. She is a niece of the Duchess de Talleyrand and Mrs. Finley J. Shepard.

PSITTACOSIS BLAMED ON LOVE BIRDS

Pets Two Kansas Women Fondled Have Been Traced to Los Angeles Dealer

KANSAS CITY, Feb. 6. (AP)—Two cases of psittacosis, or parrot fever, have been diagnosed in Kansas City, Kan., Dr. S. D. Henry, health director, announced today. The victims are Mrs. R. W. Uhl, 41 years of age, and her mother, Mrs. C. C. Whitla.

Dr. Henry said Mrs. Uhl has been suffering from a fever ranging from 102 to 105 degrees, with her condition attended by pneumonia symptoms.

The cases were diagnosed as psittacosis after it was found Mrs. Uhl had received two love birds, a species of parrot, as a Christmas present. Both women have fondled the parrots. One of the love birds died soon after being received.

Dr. Henry said the birds had been purchased from the Harding Bird Store in Kansas City, Mo. The store purchased the parrots from the National Pet Company at St. Louis, which in turn had bought them from a dealer in Los Angeles, it was said. The Los Angeles dealer is believed to be a Mexican importer.

The fast train was brought to such a sudden stop that wheels of the coaches were flattened where they slid along the rails and the train was delayed an hour and a half.

WILKINS FATE WORRIES BYRD

Camp Hopes Week's Silence Due to Radio Failure

Last Message Told of Hunt for Take-off Field

Flyer Believed Still Waiting for Chance to Hop

(Copyright, 1930, by the Los Angeles Times, the New York Times Company and St. Louis Post-Dispatch. All rights for publication reserved throughout the world.)

LITTLE AMERICA (Antarctica) Feb. 6. (Exclusive)—The news that Sir Hubert Wilkins on his ship, the Scoresby, has not been heard from for a week caused great interest in the Byrd camp here and the hope was expressed that only radio failure is the cause of his silence. The last word Admiral Byrd received from him indicated that he was still looking for a field from which he could take off for Little America, apparently to the southwest of Peter Island, and he asked when the Byrd expedition expected to leave here.

His messages have indicated that if he could not find a suitable base from which to take off with skis he would be forced to limit himself to short flights, using pontoons. Although he still apparently hoped to make his long flight up to two or three weeks ago, no word has been received here to indicate that he got away, and it is probable that if he had been able to fly he would have let Admiral Byrd know so that radio contact could be made with his plane.

INSURANCE TAX USE CRITICISED

United States Chamber of Commerce Aroused

Millions Spent by States as General Revenue

Great Increase Revealed in Income from Levy

WASHINGTON, Feb. 6. (AP)—The contention that $23 out of every $24 collected in special State insurance taxes during 1928 was used for general revenue purposes, for which the policy-holder already had been taxed as a citizen, was raised today in a statement by the Chamber of Commerce of the United States.

The statement said that a survey made by its insurance department showed that nearly $100,000,000 was collected from policy-holders in 1928.

Special State insurance taxes for the fiscal year ending June 30, 1929, it added, totaled $92,178,871 collected by all States, an increase of $7,615,895 or 9.01 per cent over 1927.

"Of this sum," it said, "total expenditures of the various State insurance departments aggregated but $3,956,708 — although representing an increase of $438,694, or 12.45 per cent over 1927.

"In other words, on the average, of every dollar collected in 1928, only 4.29 cents were spent for supervisory service to policy-holders. The remainder, amounting to 95.71 cents of every dollar of tax, was used for general revenue purposes."

WASHINGTON, Feb. 6. (AP)—Increased activity in the construction field was forecast today by the national building survey conference. A survey showed favorable conditions on the west coast.

WHEAT SURPLUS BUYING URGED

Farm Board Called Upon to Relieve Price Crisis

Advisory Committee Favors Immediate Purchases

Action Without Precedent in Nation's History

CHICAGO, Feb. 6. (Exclusive)—Scarcely seven months after the passage of the Federal government's Agricultural Marketing Act, the Federal Farm Board has been called upon to create a stabilization corporation, by which means the United States government will for the first time attempt to purchase sufficient of the existing wheat crop to relieve present demoralized price levels.

At the close of its two-day meeting here today, the wheat growers' advisory committee of the Farm Board recommended the immediate creation of such a national surplus control corporation under powers granted by the marketing act. Articles of incorporation are being drawn up, in order to exert the governmental action at the earliest possible time.

WITHOUT PRECEDENT

Although Alexander Legge, chairman of the Farm Board could not be reached after the announcement of the committee, it is understood he as well as S. R. McKelvie, grain member of the board, sat in with the wheat growers and approved their actions. W. G. Kellogg, chairman of the advisory group and general manager of the Farm Board's central sales co-operative, made the announcement.

This proposed entry of the Farm Board into the weakened national and international wheat markets is said to be an unprecedented peacetime action of the Federal government toward attempted control of raw foodstuffs for the benefit of the producers.

While the new stabilization corporation would be closely related to the Farmers' National Grain Corporation, a $20,000,000 co-operative sales agency created last fall by the Farm Board, it is more than a mere co-ordinating and marketing organization. Under the marketing act's provisions, its board of directors may be given almost unlimited leeway in the amount of grain purchased, and how the surplus shall be disposed of.

LOSSES TO BE ABSORBED

Any losses that might be incurred in the processing, holding or "dumping" of wheat in the domestic or world market may be repaid from the revolving fund of $500,000,000 appropriated by Congress last June for the Farm Board. Loans are made by the Federal Farm Board from this fund to the stabilization corporation. It is the plan of the board that any losses incurred in unusual years are to be made up from profits of the corporation during more favorable seasons.

The act also provides that the Farm Board may recognize an existing corporation as the agency for conducting its stabilization activities. It is this section of the law which might enable the Farm Board to use the mechanical facilities of its existing farmer-owned grain corporation in Chicago in its plan of getting into the present wheat situation as soon as possible.

Chairman Legge previously defined in a letter to Senator McNary, the policy of the board on this matter of the government's attempt to stabilize agricultural commodities. The process of stabilization, he said, is divided into two rather distinct classes.

NORMAL OPERATIONS

"The first class is what might be called normal operations. Involved in almost everything the board is doing," Mr. Legge said. "Every measure taken to increase the effectiveness of co-operative organizations in any commodity, or improve their financial position, to centralize or correlate their activities so as to make their operations more effective, is in itself a process of stabilization."

In most cases, he believes, this sort of activity will be all that is needed, the result depending on how successful the board is in working out large, well-managed organizations which will control a sufficiently large percentage of the product to make their influence felt on the market.

"The second form of stabilization," Mr. Legge explained, "might be termed extraordinary or emergency operations, whereby because of a large surplus of any commodity, the operation would consist of buying and taking off the market some considerable part of the tonnage so as to relieve the pressure, and carrying the product until some future date in the hope that there would be a more favorable opportunity of disposing of it."

Warships Seek Lost Spaniards

LISBON (Portugal) Feb. 6. (AP)—At the request of the Spanish government, Portuguese warships began searching today for six Spanish trawlers which have been unreported since the middle of January.

PRIVATE TRADERS IN MOSCOW FINED

MOSCOW, Feb. 6. (AP)—Charged by the government with having violated the regulations respecting the payment of taxes, 1110 private traders in the Moscow district were fined a total of 263,055 rubles, (about $130,000) today. At the same time 564 enterprises belonging to other private traders were confiscated and handed over to the state co-operative organizations for exploitation.

COLDS MAY DEVELOP INTO PNEUMONIA

Coughs from colds may lead to serious trouble. You can stop them with Creomulsion, an emulsified creosote that is pleasant to take. Creomulsion is a modified discovery with dual action; it soothes and heals the inflamed membranes and tissues, and aids nature to throw off the cough. Most druggists in your town use Creomulsion in their own families for their children and themselves. Here is why: Creomulsion contains, in a concentrated, effective form, those healing elements which soothe and heal the inflamed membranes and stop the irritation, while the creosote goes on to the stomach, is absorbed into the blood, attacks the seat of the trouble and checks the growth of the germs.

Creomulsion is guaranteed satisfactory in the treatment of coughs from colds, bronchitis and other forms of bronchial irritations, and is excellent for building up the system after colds or flu. Money refunded if not relieved after taking according to directions. Ask your druggist. (adv.)

MORE TARIFF RATES SLASHED

Democrats in New Inroads on Opponents' Bill

Regular Republicans Gird to Ward Off Attacks

Measure's Passage Predicted by Senator Watson

WASHINGTON, Feb. 6. (AP)—Despite a clash in their own ranks and an agreement among Republican regulars to make a determined stand against further slashes in existing rates, Senate Democrats—aided by Republican independents—succeeded today in making further inroads on the Republican tariff bill.

Of eight amendments to the chemical schedule adopted after another hectic day of roll calls, six were to cut duties below present levels and the other two were to eliminate increases and restore existing levies.

Perturbed over the success of the coalition forces yesterday, regular Republicans held a conference before the Senate met and agreed to keep a full force on the floor at all times in an effort to defeat opposition amendments. As a result, the Republican seats were well filled during the day and all record votes were close.

VOTES IN SIGHT

Senator Watson of Indiana, the Republican leader, announced after the party conference that enough votes are in sight to pass the bill, despite an undercurrent of dissatisfaction expressed recently by a dozen or more of the newer Republican Senators. With the bill in conference with the House, the Republicans feel they stand a better chance of getting a measure more to their liking.

Spirited clashes not only between Democrats themselves but between Democrats and Republican Independents, who thus far have escaped any serious personal differences in their co-operation to oppose industrial rate advances, preceded the vote today on an amendment by Senator Kean, Republican, New Jersey, to apply a tariff of 6 cents a pound on synthetic camphor. That is the present rate.

COMPROMISE AT FIVE

The Senate previously had agreed to reduce this duty to 1 cent in line with House action, but the final roll call today was 48 to 29 for a 5-cent duty. This was suggested by Senator Harrison, Democrat, Mississippi, and accepted by the New Jersey Senator.

Senator La Follette of Wisconsin, a leader of the Republican independents, who succeeded several weeks ago in obtaining Senate approval of the 1-cent duty on the ground that production was still in the experimental stage, expressed surprise at Harrison "jumping up on the high horse of protection" for an industry that has not yet started. Harrison replied that the 1-cent represents too great a reduction and producers should be encouraged in manufacturing the synthetic product, which is used in making safety glass for windshields, because it will help southern naval stores producers in finding additional markets for turpentine.

Mrs. Frances Stevens Hall

MRS. HALL FORGIVES ACCUSER

Message Sent 'Pig Woman' by Slain Pastor's Widow After Cancer Operation

NEW YORK, Feb. 6. (Exclusive) Suffering lifted Mrs. Frances Stevens Hall, who betrayed no emotion during an ordeal few women could have endured, to the heights of compassionate forgiveness early tonight. Stricken and contemplating the hereafter, she forgave the "pig woman," her chief accuser. Here is the telegram she sent to the Jersey City hospital charity bed where Jane Gibson is dying:

"A heart without malice sends you forgiveness."

In these words Mrs. Hall, whom the State of New Jersey attempted to send to the electric chair on the strength of testimony of Mrs. Gibson, forgave those cruel days when the world pointed to her as the suspected double murderess who killed her husband, Rev. Edward Wheeler Hall, and his humble chorister sweetheart, Mrs. Eleanor Mills, in a love tryst.

But it is unlikely that Jane Gibson ever will know of the proud clergyman's wife's forgiveness. For Jane Gibson had lost consciousness when the wire of forgiveness reached Jersey City Hospital tonight. And physicians did not expect her to recover consciousness and they declared her death from cancer was merely a matter of hours. Even if she had received the message tonight, it is doubtful that the pig woman would have sent an answer to the quiet, expensive room in Harbor Hospital here, where the 64-year-old Mrs. Hall is recovering from an operation for the same disease.

It was the pig woman who testified so firmly she saw Mrs. Hall aiding in arranging the bodies of Dr. Hall and Mrs. Mills beneath the crab-apple tree in De Russey's Lane the night of September 14, 1922.

RADIO TRUST QUIZ PUSHED

Justice Department's Stand in Inquiry Told

R.C.A. Accused of Balking War Against Crime

Investigation of Charge Ordered by Harbord

WASHINGTON, Feb. 6. (AP)—Intensive investigation of the Radio Corporation of America is being pushed by the Department of Justice to determine whether the corporation's control of 3400 patents involves violation of the antitrust laws.

The Senate Interstate Commerce Committee was informed of this by letter today by John Lord O'Brian, assistant to Atty.-Gen. Mitchell. He said the department will institute proceedings to prosecute the corporation if it concludes they are "justified."

COUZENS INSISTENT

Senator Couzens, Republican, Michigan, said subsequently that if the department does not take the case to the courts his committee will give the matter "further consideration."

"We will ask why the department concludes it cannot act, if it should do so," he continued, "and if we find that existing legislation is not adequate we will see what can be done about it."

Disclosure of the investigation was made in the committee's hearing on the Couzens bill, which sets up Federal regulation of all communications, including telephone and telegraph, as well as radio and cable companies.

At another point in the hearing Senator Wheeler, Democrat, Montana, contended that the R.C.A. "for a few paltry dollars" has refused police protection to cities by declining to co-operate in setting up equipment for use in reducing crime except at their own prices.

INVESTIGATION ORDERED

James G. Harbord, chairman of the board of the R.C.A., told the committee he personally will supervise investigation of the charges. He declared that if the situation is what Senator Wheeler interpreted it to be, the R.C.A.'s position in the matter will be altered. Harbord later instructed Manton Davis, vice-president of the R.C.A., to begin the investigation in New York tomorrow.

Asst. Atty.-Gen. O'Brian's letter was in response to an inquiry Senator Couzens had made of Atty.-Gen. Mitchell concerning complaints against the Radio Corporation, and affiliated companies.

HISTORY OF INQUIRY

The letter said the Federal Trade Commission, after a five-year investigation beginning in 1924, dismissed the R.C.A. case "substantially on the ground that the commission was without jurisdiction to investigate violation of the Sherman Antitrust Act."

"In February, 1929," said O'Brian's letter, "the Federal Trade Commission transmitted to the Attorney-General the record of its proceedings and the case was immediately assigned."

Since last November, when "adequate service" has been available, O'Brian wrote, "this investigation has had unremitting attention."

"The R.C.A. still owns or controls about 3800 patents," O'Brian said.

O'Brian wrote that the corporation asserts that every act complained of is protected by the legal monopoly granted by the United States Patent Office.

In this "important aspect," he explained, "the case presents a conflict between the antitrust laws enacted to prevent monopoly and the type of monopoly created by the government through the issuance of patents."

Flying Clinic Coming Home

CARACAS (Venezuela) Feb. 6. (AP)—Turning the noses of their planes northward, five flying surgeons from the United States today headed homeward after demonstrating new methods of practice and procedure to physicians in eleven Central and South American countries. The flying clinic is due at Barranquilla, Colombia, for the first overnight stop on the trip to Havana.

The surgeons conducting the first aeromedical expedition to Latin-American nations were honored here last night by representatives of the Venezuelan government.

Women Freed in Motor Death

HONOLULU, Feb. 6. (AP)—Mrs. Mary Kekahuna and Mrs. Elizabeth Chun Gun Dong, were acquitted here yesterday of second-degree murder charges growing out of the death of Cid C. Hudgins. The jury deliberated five hours.

Hudgins was found dead beside his wrecked motor car May 27, last. The two women were known to have been his companions and were subsequently held.

A sister of Hudgins is a librarian in Phoenix, Ariz.

Hatfield Silent as to His Plans

SAN FRANCISCO, Feb. 6. (AP)—George J. Hatfield, United States Attorney for Northern California, today would neither confirm nor deny reports that he intends to resign soon and enter private practice.

He was appointed by President Coolidge October 1, 1928, and was renominated for a second term by President Hoover two months ago.

POWER OFFICER CHANGES JOB

PRISON TO HAVE MILITARY RULE

Forceful Regime Planned at Colorado Institution

Ex-National Guard Head to be Made Dictator

Board of Corrections and Governor at Odds

CANON CITY (Colo.) Feb. 6. (AP) A military regime will be instituted at the State penitentiary here immediately under the dictatorship of Patrick J. Hamrock, former adjutant-general of the Colorado National Guard, in an effort to quell the intermittent disorders.

Action installing Hamrock as special deputy warden under Warden Francis E. Crawford was taken by unanimous action of the Board of Corrections today.

Col. Hamrock will be given a free hand in bringing order out of chaos and in attempting to prevent recurrence of riots and fires such as have occurred in the last few months.

The board came to cross-purposes with Gov. Adams early in the day when the Governor dispatched telegrams to its three members, suggesting that they resign. The board replied that the Governor's suggestion will not be followed.

Gov. Adams holds no power of discharge over the Board of Corrections, which is under civil service.

By resolutions the Corrections Board took steps to discharge three guards whose actions were criticised after the riot in October when eight guards and five convicts were killed, and summarily discharged two more.

CONVICTS HAVE LOW MENTALITY

Only Three in 100 Prove to be Without Defects

Third of Them Declared Feeble-minded

Detroit Clinic Reports Startling Results

DETROIT, Feb. 6. (AP)—Startling results of scientific examination of the mentality of 100 convicted felons were announced from the bench in recorder's court here today by Judge Thomas M. Cotter, who for the last three months has been conducting an investigation with the co-operation of a psychopathic clinic.

Of the 100 unselected felons, sent to the clinic without regard for sex, age or condition, reports submitted to Judge Cotter showed that only three had "no essential mental defects." Two were stated to be definitely insane; thirty-three were found to be feeble-minded; twenty-five were of inferior intelligence, and the other thirty-seven exhibited "deviations in personality," handicapping adequate social adjustment.

The psychiatrists found that seventy-three of the convicted persons were "poor community risks," recommending penal imprisonment for seventy-one and hospitalization for two. Fifteen were reported to be "reasonably good community risks," and Judge Cotter accepted the scientists' conclusions by placing them on probation. Twelve were regarded as "doubtful" and Judge Cotter placed some of them on probation while others were given jail sentences.

Judge Cotter sent the report on each convicted person to the institution in which he was ordered confined, believing it would prove of great value to the officials in handling the prisoner.

Many of those examined had long police records, a total of 283 arrests being listed against seventy-seven of them.

HIGH COURT TO RULE ON "ADS" BY LAWYERS

SAN FRANCISCO, Feb. 6. (Exclusive)—The right of an attorney to advertise for business will be argued before the State Supreme Court April 1, as a result of the granting today of a writ of review to Daniel Barton, San Francisco attorney suspended from practice for three months by the State bar. Barton was suspended for placing an advertisement in a San Francisco newspaper in violation of a rule of the bar declaring the practice unethical.

CRIPPLED CHILDREN PERILED

Fire Raging at Classroom Door Causes Near-Panic, But Teachers Remove Forty Safely

WASHINGTON, Feb. 6. (AP)—Forty crippled children, attending classes at the Weightman School for Cripples, were carried bodily or aided to safety today after fire was discovered in the hot-air system of the building.

Flames shot three feet into the air in the central corridor of the school. No child was hurt, although half of the youngsters, terrified at sight of the flames within a dozen feet of their classroom doors, became hysterical and were not quieted for nearly an hour after they returned safely to their rooms.

The flames, caused by the ignition of accumulated sweepings which had settled in the pipe vent under the floor, were discovered by Fred J. Courtnay, janitor, and while he fought them with a hand extinguisher the four women teachers bundled the cripples into the wheel chairs and rushed them to safety.

Some children, unable to walk, were picked up by the teachers, who worked furiously to get the handicapped youngsters to the safety of the out-of-doors. Others were able to toddle along themselves and with eyes wildly upon the fire, attempted to quit the building alone. These were gathered into the teachers' arms and half-led and half-pushed to the open doors.

GIN DEATH DEFENDANT CONVICTED

Verdict of Manslaughter Given Against Asserted Bootlegger of Oakland

MERCED, Feb. 6. (AP)—A manslaughter verdict was returned here tonight against George Hodder, asserted bootlegger of Oakland whose liquor is said to have caused the death of Roy D. Ebert, Merced dairyman, during a party near El Nido last December.

The conviction is believed to be the first of its kind obtained in California. Hodder will be sentenced Monday.

Ebert died following a card party at which liquor was served at the ranch home of Carleton (Dummy) Wells, former University of California football player. The liquor was taken to the party by an employee of Joseph Goldman, Merced tobacco dealer, who testified during the trial he purchased it from a man "who resembled Hodder."

Although other consumers of the liquor suffered no ill-effects, the prosecution adduced testimony to show wood alcohol and formaldehyde, poisons, were among its ingredients. Physicians also testified Ebert died from drinking poison gin. Hodder refused to take the stand. His attorneys said they will appeal.

COURT SETS HEARING IN FITTS CASE

State Supreme Tribunal Will Hear Challenge on Election Here March 4

SAN FRANCISCO, Feb. 6. (Exclusive)—The State Supreme Court has fixed March 4, as the date for the hearing of the action brought by Registrar of Voters Kerr, of Los Angeles, which challenges the validity of the election of Dist.-Atty. Fitts and three Los Angeles Supervisors at the August, 1926, primary election.

The court will sit at Los Angeles and hear arguments on the writ of mandate, which Registrar Kerr seeks against County Purchasing Agent Russell to compel the latter to purchase additional ballot boxes.

Kerr claims many persons expect to present the names of Fitts and others for District Attorney and for the three Supervisors' seats as candidates at the coming August primary election. Because of this possibility, Kerr says, he needs more ballot boxes.

The suit, in effect, seeks to test the right of Fitts and others to hold offices to which they were elected by a majority vote at the primary. Because of a conflict between State law and the Los Angeles county charter, the names of the candidates in question were left off the November general election ballot in 1928. The State law provides that a majority of the votes cast at a primary is sufficient to elect a candidate.

All Offenders Against Rule of De Rivera Cleared

Action Marks Anniversary of Mother's Death

Sanchoz Guerra Included Among Beneficiaries

MADRID, Feb. 6. (AP)—A royal decree was issued today declaring a general amnesty for all persons accused or convicted of rebellion or sedition against the Spanish government during the dictatorship of Gen. Primo De Rivera, who was overthrown last week.

The decree wipes out charges against Jose Antonio Sanchez Guerra, former Liberal Premier, who has been facing retrial on account of sedition growing out of the abortive Ciudad Real rebellion of 1929 and against other civilians and army officers connected with revolutionary attempts at that city and Valencia and Segovia.

The action was taken on the anniversary of the death of Maria Cristina, mother of King Alfonso, who died last year after a long illness. Several hundred persons, many of them officers in the Artillery Corps, are affected.

DEATH CASE RECALLED IN SHOOTING

Man Wounded by Deputy Declared One of Pair in Fresno County Slaying

SAN FRANCISCO, Feb. 6. (AP)—The murder of William and Sarah Hayes in a remote section of southern Fresno county in 1908 was recalled here today when State Parole Officer Whyte revealed that Jack Helms, wounded by a deputy sheriff last night at Pittsburg, Cal., after he had threatened to kill his employer, has been positively identified as one of two brothers sentenced to life imprisonment for the slayings.

Steps are being taken, Whyte said, to return Helms to Folsom prison. He was paroled December 14, 1921, after having served thirteen years of his sentence. Under the then-existing laws life-termers were eligible to parole after seven years.

William Helms, the second brother, obtained his release March 30, 1924. Records in Whyte's possession show William died in 1926 as the result of injuries suffered in an accident at Dutch Flat, Placer county.

Whyte said the brothers were arrested on purely circumstantial evidence. They were convicted in Stockton by a San Joaquin County Superior Court jury after having obtained a change of venue.

Wheel Hurtles Two Blocks and Kills Woman

RICHMOND (Va.) Feb. 6. (AP)—Death, assuming the form of a flywheel to a saw, flew through space for two blocks today, plunged through the roof of a house, slashed a woman's head from her shoulders and buried itself deep in the ground under the floor.

James Brice, a negro, was sawing wood in a vacant lot. The balance wheel, an iron disc half an inch thick, snapped as the saw was running at high speed. One part fell to the ground and the other sailed high in the air, clearing a two-story church and two small houses and plunging through the roof of a third.

Winnie Jones, negro woman, was struck by the iron with terrific force. Her face and half her head was severed.

Aircraft Crash Bill Reported

WASHINGTON, Feb. 6. (AP)—A resolution directing the Secretary of Commerce to make public the complete findings of government investigators in all aircraft accidents occurring since May 20, 1926, was favorably reported to the Senate today by the Commerce Committee.

Senator Bratton, Democrat, New Mexico, is the author of the resolution.

BANDITS SEIZE WOMEN

New Beauty for the New Ford

THE NEW FORD TOWN SEDAN

In the Town Sedan you see a distinguished example of the unbroken sweep of line which adds so much charm and grace to all the new, roomy Ford bodies. Radiator, hood, cowl, lower roof line, fenders, wheels — every point of design reflects the new style and beauty that have been placed within the means of every one. All of the new Ford cars are finished in a variety of colors.

ANOTHER STEP FORWARD

THE introduction of the new Ford bodies has set a new high standard of motor car value. From the new deep radiator to the tip of the curving rear fender, there is an unbroken sweep of line—a flowing grace of contour gaining added charm from the rich and attractive colors.

You will take a real pride in the smart style and fresh new beauty of the Ford just as you will find an ever-growing satisfaction in its safety, comfort, speed, acceleration, ease of control, reliability and economy. In appearance, as in mechanical construction, craftsmanship has been put into mass production. New beauty has been added to outstanding performance.

A feature of unusual interest is the use of Rustless Steel for the radiator shell, head lamps, cowl finish strip, hub caps, tail lamp and other exposed metal parts. This steel will not rust, corrode or tarnish and will retain its bright brilliance for the life of the car. Here, as in so many other important details, you see evidence of the enduring quality that has been built into the new Ford.

Goes After Hit-Run Driver Then, Sees Latter Crash

RIVERSIDE, Feb. 6.—Following a series of exciting events on La Cadena Drive and elsewhere in the outskirts of the city, Ray J. Clements, 28 years of age, of San Bernardino, was placed under arrest in the Community Hospital late last night. He was taken there following a spectacular crash into a West Riverside eucalyptus tree. Mabel Osborne, 18, of San Bernardino, his companion, also was taken to the hospital. She suffered painful cuts on the head and left leg. Clements lost virtually all his teeth and was badly battered about the head. Traffic Officers Hastings and Henderson announced they intended filing charges of hit-and-run driving and driving while intoxicated against Clements.

Involving a robbery story, a chase of the thieves, a continued pursuit of a hit-run driver and the subsequent near-fatal crash, the story of the wild highway episode reads almost like a dime thriller. According to Officers Hasting and Henderson, the night's sensational happenings started when they saw two automobiles pass the Palmyra-avenue and La Cadena intersection, where they were stationed, at a high rate of speed.

Taking out in pursuit, they lost the rear car in traffic and stopped at the county line. They later found the driver of the rear car was Gerald Rentfro, local automobile salesman, who had been held up by two bandits at the point of revolvers. Obtaining nothing from their victim, the two robbers leaped into their automobile and sped away, with Rentfro in hot pursuit. He said he hoped Hastings and Henderson would fall in behind and attempt to stop him for speeding so he could enlist them in the nip-and-tuck race, but their halting at the county line prevented this, and losing his quarry in the traffic, Rentfro drove into the Baldwin service station half a mile north of the county line.

Hardly had he stopped, when a coupe traveling at a speed he estimated at nearly sixty miles an hour, swung far back into the space in front of the service station and sideswiped an automobile belonging to L. M. Stubbins of 1724 Truxton avenue, Bakersfield, which was parked beside the pumps. Mrs. Stubbings was lying down in the front seat, but was unhurt; the speeding car, whose trail was covered with a cloud of dust, disappeared at its rapid rate.

Leaping into his machine, Rentfro forgot his own robbery troubles and took out in pursuit of the hit-run driver. The race, at breakneck speed, then led over the maze of highways in the north side of the city and ended on B street, the north and south roadway of the Crestmore road. The crash followed.

Rentfro was but 300 feet behind his quarry when the smash-up occurred.

Carpinteria Men Reject School Plans of State

SANTA BARBARA, Feb. 6.—The Carpinteria High School board of trustees threw down the gauntlet of battle to the State schoolhouse board last night when plans submitted by the State were unanimously rejected and the original drawings, once turned down by the State board, were unanimously re-accepted. The location for the proposed high school building on the Coast Highway with the present school buildings also was unanimously approved in the face of objections by the State board.

Andrew Hill, representing the State board, last week appeared before the Carpinteria board and explained his department's stand in failing to approve the plans submitted by the Carpinteria school board for its approval.

The State wants a building conforming to a larger district and does not approve the location on the State highway. It is the contention of the Carpinteria board that the plans submitted by P. C. Kistner Company of Los Angeles are adequate and that the location along the State highway where the present school stands is desirable at this time.

Copies of the resolutions rejecting the State's plans and approving the Kistner designs and specifications are to be sent to Hill and to County Superintendent of Schools A. S. Pope and Vierling Kersey, State Superintendent of Public Instruction, both of whom are supporting the Carpinteria board.

Pope recently in a letter to Kersey indorsed the Carpinteria board plans and explained the fight with the State schoolhouse board. Kersey replied in a letter he would support the Carpinteria board's demands.

ANITA LOOS'S CARAVAN BALKS

Motor Home Refuses to Move, So Movie Writer Makes Moving Plea to Truckman, While Wheels of New Palatial Car Spin in Sand of Palm Springs

PALM SPRINGS, Feb. 6.—The Builders' Supply Company here has entered the movie business starring the new Fageol truck. No less than the famous authoress, Miss Anita Loos, responsible for so many film scenarios, including "Gentlemen Prefer Blonds," was through here with her new $20,000 motor caravan on her way to New York. Choosing a suitable spot to rest for the night, she and her party drove onto the sand near Deep Well ranch and did not discover until next morning that Palm Springs likes to cling to its famous visitors. Not all the power of the huge motor would shift it, and, as the wheels spun and churned up the sand, the beautiful house on wheels sank deeper.

Ted Fulford was eventually appealed to for help, and came to the rescue with his company's gargantuan truck. Miss Loos is now well on her way to the East and speaks of settling here to write some time later.

BANDITS GENTLE BUT FIRM

Terrorism Mixed With Kindness in Treatment of Chula Vista Couple Robbed in Home

SAN DIEGO, Feb. 6.—Two armed bandits mingled kindness with terrorism at Chula Vista today. They held H. F. Mitchell and his wife Katherine, prisoners in their home at 838 Third avenue, during a five-hour robbery of the palatial dwelling.

Climaxing the dramatic hold-up, the bandits released Mrs. Mitchell, forced her to cook breakfast for them, and departed from the home in the Mitchell auto with the words "Your car will be recovered undamaged." Meanwhile, the bandits had looted every nook and corner of the large dwelling in search of money but found only $17 cash and some clothing, which they stole.

A large quantity of jewelry and silverware had been gathered up for theft, but the bandits left it unmolested after hearing the pleadings of Mrs. Mitchell, and took in its stead a $100 check written hastily by Mrs. Mitchell at the yeggs' command. Shortly after 1 a.m. the pair entered the Mitchell home through a second-story bathroom window, Mrs. Mitchell told Pat Patterson and M. E. Kelly, investigating officers of the Chula Vista department.

The bandits went directly to the Mitchell bedroom where they awakened the sleeping couple at the point of revolvers. Cautioning them to remain quiet, the intruders tied Mitchell in bed with shreds of a sheet and bound Mrs. Mitchell to a chair with rope. Mitchell, suffering from a broken leg, protested to the intruders of his condition and hence was handled with considerable care while he was being strapped to the bed.

After securing their victims, the pair began a careful search of the house which lasted almost until dawn, then apparently tired and hungry from "their work," they unloosed Mrs. Mitchell and ordered her to cook breakfast.

She obeyed orders and went down into the kitchen where she fried ham and eggs, while one of the men stood guard over her. In the meantime the other remained in the bedroom with Mitchell to prevent him spreading an alarm.

When the first had eaten he was relieved by the next who went upstairs and resumed the vigil over Mitchell. By this time it was getting light and after ordering Mrs. Mitchell upstairs again, the bandits fled from the house, stole the Mitchell auto and disappeared. The bandits were described as young men and their descriptions fit those of bandits who have been operating in San Diego.

FAMILIES IN NEED TO GET SUSTENANCE

San Diego City and County Providing Work for Men With Dependents

SAN DIEGO, Feb. 6.—Unemployed men whose families are in need are being provided with means of support through co-operation of the city Civil Service Board and the County Public Welfare Commission, it was announced here today.

This co-operative plan, so far, has revealed that the unemployment situation is gradually being relieved. Of the 103 applicants to the civil service for jobs on road improvements in Balboa Park, twenty-three had qualified under terms of the agreement between the city and county, it was stated at the office of the commission.

The condition of the family of each applicant is investigated by the County Welfare Association and it is upon this recommendation that the men are given employment at the park, it was stated. Men who are in need of actual cash to meet their household expenses are to be paid in cash from the $5000 fund provided by the City Council.

Others are provided with grocery and rent accounts by the County Welfare Commisson as provided for by the Board of Supervisors. Of the 103 applicants for work, the County Welfare Commission found that only twenty-three had two or more dependents who were in need of relief.

It was stated today that the Civil Service Commission welfare board would consider some cases where only two persons are dependent, the circumstances being taken into consideration. Under this co-operative plan of providing relief, the two boards expect to have the funds available spread where they will do most good to those deserving of financial help. It was said that under this plan work will be provided for not more than 100 men.

INGLEWOOD, Feb. 6.—A marriage of widespread local interest took place in Riverside Tuesday afternoon when Alfred E. Chamberlain, president of the Inglewood Chamber of Commerce and well-known resident of this city, and Miss Katherine Pownall, also of this city, were married at the Mission Inn.

FIRE BELIEVED INCENDIARY

Investigation by County Officers Started Following Blaze in Fur Shop on Valley Boulevard

ROSEMEAD, Feb. 6.—Suspicion that the fire that destroyed the Belden fur shop on Valley Boulevard early today was of incendiary origin has started an investigation by the Sheriff's office at Temple City and the county fire department. A house in the rear of the store was also burned.

According to reports on file with Deputy Fire Warden George K. Emery, fire broke out at the same time in the front of both structures, although there was apparently no way by which the blaze could have crossed the intervening space.

H. G. Welch, an employee of the fur company, who was sleeping in the house, was slightly burned in his efforts to fight the flames.

Emery expressed the belief that burglars had set fire to both buildings in an effort to conceal the theft of valuable furs. Furs have been stolen from the Belden shop in two burglaries recently. No estimate of the fire loss was available at a late hour today.

ERRATIC WOMAN IN HARD LUCK

"Let Punishment Fit the Crime," Official Says of Mrs. Paddleford

SANTA BARBARA, Feb. 6.—Genevieve Elenor McKinny Paddleford, who created a furore in Pacific Coast social circles here a few months ago when she reappeared in her old familiar and popular role as a society matron after several years of obscurity, purchased an expensive car, ran up a large bill in one of the exclusive hotels, assertedly cashed a bogus check or two and then attempted to beat the Sheriff out of the county, was again in the limelight of publicity with the filing today of a statement by Dep. Dist.-Atty. Martin J. Coen for the State prison board.

Mrs. Paddleford was sentenced to San Quentin in April, 1929, for forgery, according to the statement. She appeared here suddenly about a year ago, registered at one of the fine homes, reserved an expensive suite for Chicago relatives, cashed a large check and then moved to the Santa Barbara Biltmore. A clerk recognized her as a woman who cashed a bogus check in Pasadena a few weeks before. He called the Sheriff and she fled, only to be overtaken on the Ventura county line. She startled Los Angeles and San Francisco society a few years ago by entertaining in grandiose fashion, only to be arrested on a warrant from Salinas. She served sixty-two days in the State prison, but the Appellate Court reversed the decision. She was born in Hamilton, O., educated in a girls' convent in Oakland, and completed a musical education in Berlin. She has been married three times. Dep. Dist.-Atty. Coen recommended punishment to fit the crime.

Two Boys Admit Many Burglaries to Police Chief

VENTURA, Feb. 6.—Virgil Davis and John Mix have confessed to police that on Tuesday night they, in company with John Smith, broke into the Begetti Grocery, the Blue Bird Cafe and the Grace Scott Store. Smith yesterday morning confessed that they had broken into the latter two stores, police announced today.

The robbery of the Bogetti store, where Davis and Mix admitted they found about $3 in pennies, was reported to the Sheriff's office Wednesday and the crime was not charged to the boys until yesterday afternoon.

Besides admitting the robberies here, the three also confessed to robberies in San Francisco a few weeks ago. Chief of Police Mattson said, and Mix, who is only 16 years of age, said that about two months ago he was held for ten days in San Antonio, Tex., on suspicion of murder, but later was released.

The youths were arrested Tuesday after they had set off a burglar alarm when they broke a window in the rear of the Grace Scott Store.

Davis and Smith were each placed under $5000 bail in the Justice Court by Judge M. Dimmick.

The pledge, which must be taken by each new member, reads:

"I most heartily and sincerely pledge that from this day on I will totally abstain from the use of alcohol as a beverage; that I will not under pretense of being ill use any alcoholic preparation in violation of this pledge; that I will faithfully obey all laws; that I will not refuse to act in any capacity where I am needed to assist an agency of government, and if called upon, will unhesitantingly act as juror in the courts or as a deputy law enforcement officer; that I will be prepared to vote and will vote on every election for the official or the act I think will best serve the needs of the community in harmony with the purposes of this pledge."

Responsibility Fixed on Garage

SANTA BARBARA, Feb. 6.—Just because garage owners post signs declaring they will not be responsible for cars left in storage does not mean that they cannot be made to pay, Justice of the Peace Thomas Poole ruled here today when he granted W. S. Halsey $20 damages from R. N. Huston, J. E. Wilber and L. K. Goodyear.

Halsey's car was stored in the garage owned by the defendants. It was damaged when another car crashed into it, according to the testimony. The garage owners refused to pay for the repair of the car, Halsey testified.

Justice of the Peace Poole declared the fact that a sign declaring the proprietors would not be responsible for automobiles left there meant nothing. He held the garage owners were entirely responsible where the car stored there for a rental was damaged.

Following the ruling Halsey declined to accept the money, declaring he just wanted to show the garage owners they were wrong and to teach them to be courteous to their customers. They insisted he accept the check for the damages after the court had found his claim legal.

The trial was in progress all day yesterday, with Judge Edward Henderson on the bench.

The case went to the jury at 9 p.m. and it was 2:40 a.m. today before a verdict was reached.

The prisoners are: Frank E. Graham, George Huffies, Fred M. Vanderpool and Charles Travis. Although the radio was not found, fingerprints discovered on the door of a service station, from which the set was stolen, corresponded with the prints of Graham and Huffies, according to the officers, and the two are also charged with suspicion of burglary.

INJUSTICE PROTESTED

Pasadena Legion Post Declares Gold Star Mothers of "Unknown Soldiers" Discriminated Against

PASADENA, Feb. 6.—Mothers and widows of American soldiers, who rest in unidentified graves in France have been discriminated against by the War Department's ruling that only relatives of identified hero dead are entitled to make a pilgrimage to the French cemeteries at the nation's expense, according to a resolution adopted by local Post No. 13, American Legion. Copies of the resolution, which urges the Secretary of War to rescind the "unjust ruling against the mothers and widows of our unknown soldiers," will be presented tomorrow night at the meeting of the Legion's County Council, and will be forwarded to members of Congress from this State, according to Robert M. McCurdy of this city, Legion Fourth Area commander.

"In view of the fact that Congress provided that the pilgrimage be for mothers and widows of men who gave up their lives and were buried in foreign soil, the War Department is grossly unfair," McCurdy said.

"There are hundreds, if not thousands, of unknown graves in France which mean just as much as the graves of the identified dead to their relatives who have only a memory to keep. It was not the intention of Congress to be penny-pinching to those who gave their sons and husbands on the altar of patriotism. One Pasadena Gold Star mother had planned her trip, but her application was refused on the ground that her son was an 'unknown soldier.'"

Local Legionnaires expressed the opinion that while many American soldiers lie in unidentified graves there are few instances in which the cemeteries in which they are buried are unknown, and that a mother or widow of an "unknown soldier" normally would have a strong desire to at least visit the cemetery in which the loved one is known to rest.

The mother whose application to make the pilgrimage was denied asserts that she had been comforted recently in her bereavement by the thought that she would soon be able to place a wreath on one of the unknown graves near Chateau Thierry where her son is known to be buried.

"I'm not superstitious or anything like that," she said today, "but I just know that some unseen power would direct me to place the wreath on my boy's grave."

Today Congress completed action on legislation to provide $5,330,267 for the pilgrimage of those eligible, but on the basis of the War Department's ruling on local cases the mothers of "unknown soldiers" are outsiders.

REQUA MUM ON ORIENT TOUR NOW

Eminent Engineer Returns to Montecito Home; May Confer With President

SANTA BARBARA, Feb. 6.—Mark L. Requa, prominent engineer and personal friend of President Hoover, who just returned to his Montecito estate from a tour in the Orient, characterized the world conference of engineers held in Tokio as "most successful." He said he had no comment to make on the political situation there.

Rumor has it that he is to make no particular comment on his trip until after a reported conference to be held with President Hoover. Requa did not deny his intention of visiting the President soon, but only said he had "no immediate plans."

He spent three months in the East, visiting Japan, and about two weeks in each of the Chinese cities of Shanghai and Hongkong.

"It was not an official visit at all," he said. "I was merely on tour as a private citizen, just walking around and taking things in."

Business Census to Begin Soon

VENTURA, Feb. 6.—Uncle Sam's first census analysis of this city's business is to begin next Monday. Mrs. Lena R. Smith of Santa Barbara has been appointed by Supervisor R. C. Keene to enumerate the data from the firms within the city limits here, and A. D. Pugsley will carry on a similar work throughout Ventura county outside this city. It is possible that Avenue and Pierpont Bay sections may be later added to Mrs. Smith's territory.

She was here today preparing for this work. She said that the census of distribution, as it is called, relates to all businesses which have to do with the changing of hands of any commodity. It does not cover the professions and such lines as real estate dealer, barber, etc., where services, rather than a commodity, are sold.

The census of distribution is expected to be finished by April 1.

MAN KILLS WIFE AND THEN SELF

Brooding Over Body Until Next Day, He Ends Life

Shooting Witnessed by Son of Burbank Couple

Small Boy Sent With Note Telling of Tragedy

BURBANK, Feb. 6. (Exclusive)—After shooting his wife to death yesterday as the climax to an alleged family quarrel, Roy Spear, 39 years of age, carried her body back into the bedroom of their home at 2704 Hollwood Way, where he disposed of it carefully on the bed. After brooding over the tragedy until noon today, Spear pulled up his revolver and fired another shot that ended his own life. The shooting was witnessed by Robert, the 10-year-old son of the couple, who told police today that immediately after his father had carried his mother's body into the bedroom he had placed the lad in his automobile and had driven around all day yesterday and last night in order to keep him from telling any one what had occurred.

Spear and the boy returned home early today, and shortly afterward Spear dispatched the lad with a note to the home of a neighbor, Charles M. Farrar, telling the latter that he had killed Mrs. Spear and planned to commit suicide. Farrar immediately rushed over to the Spear home, but the sound of the latter shot as he neared the home told him that he was too late. He returned, he found Spear lying in a pool of blood, still alive, and the body of Mrs. Spear in the bedroom.

POLICE NOTIFIED

Farrar notified the police, who sent an ambulance, but Spear died within a few minutes. The shooting of Mrs. Spear occurred yesterday when she threatened to leave him as the result of an asserted family quarrel. The woman is said to have pleaded for the automobile that was standing beside the house, but Spear followed and shot her down there, carrying her body back into the house.

Doctors who examined the bodies declared that Mrs. Spear had been dead for at least twelve hours before her body was discovered, but police are inclined to place the time of her death at an earlier period, basing their conclusions on the evidence of the boy, Robert, who told Capt. Lee Hampton, Sergt. Hodge and Officer William George that the shooting of his mother occurred at about 10:30 a.m. yesterday.

QUARREL OVER WOMEN

Police indicated today that the quarrel arose when Mrs. Spear accused her husband of being too attentive to other women. Spear is declared to have burned letters and photographs before he completed the double tragedy by shooting himself.

Spear, an operative for the Mc Fairie Detective Agency, addressed a note to his associates asking them to "take care of the boy and not let him are what his father has done to his mother and himself."

The bodies of Spear and his wife were taken to the Pillbach mortuary pending a Coroner's inquest.

Speakers: Dr. Boyce, Dr. Petty, Dr. Rider; 3:00 p.m., "Our Fathers," Miss Kappen; 3:45 p.m., "The Layman's supper; "The Layman's Contribution to a Christ like World," George Cartner; 4:30 p.m., People's Supper, association presidents presiding; Methods conference conducted by Mr. Holland; 8 p.m., Address, Mr. Holland; 8:30 p.m., Address, Dr. Baker.

CRIME DOES NOT PAY IN THIS INSTANCE

GLENDALE, Feb. 6.—[illegible] from a miniature crime wave that was staged here last night at the amount to enough to pay the benefits for their time and effort, according to police. As D. F. Yost, 223 Lima street, Burbank, was approaching the Glendale city limits from Eagle Rock, three young men each armed with a revolver held him up and robbed him of his roll. The total amount of booty they were able to find in his clothes was a long dollar bill.

FREE IN CLASH ON IMMIGRATION

Words Bandied With Box Over California Letter

Labor Federation Officials Argue for Restriction

Los Angeles Mexicans Said to be Charity Burden

By a "Times" Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON, Feb. 6. (Exclusive)—Representative Free of San Jose again was the cents rof a clash in the House Committee on Immigration today when he and Representative Box, Democrat of Texas and co-author of the pending legislation to restrict immigration from the Western Hemisphere, bandied words over a leter from Los Angeles which the Texas Representative introduced in the record.

Mr. Free asked the name of the writer, charged that Mexicans working at $2.50 a day supplanted Americans, who had been getting $4 a day on a Los Angeles construction job and predicted dire things unless something is done about it.

"I have spelled it out," Representative Box, said, "and I think that you cannot intimidate him."

"I resent that insinuation," the Californian retored.

APOLOGY OFFERED

Judge Box rose to his feet apparently bent on taking Mr. Free "into camp." Instead he apologized and asked that his remarks be stricken from the records. Chairman Johnson, obviously distressed by the flare-up, heartily concurred and the matter was dropped.

Meanwhile Los Angeles had been before the committee for a large share of the session during which two representatives of the American Federation of Labor, A. P. Stout of the railroad brotherhoods, and W. C. Hushing, added the support of the federation to the proponents of the bills.

Hushing, legislative representative of the A. F. of L., adressed his remarks specifically to the Mexican immigration phase and particularly to the testimony of a former witness from Los Angeles.

One tenth of the population of Los Angeles, Hushing said, is Mexican. These Mexicans draw tremendously on the organised charity of the city, 40 per cent of the budget of the Community Chest funds being required for them, while Catholic charities reported 85 2-3 per cent of their funds go to Mexican aid, he said.

Despite the former witnesses' testimony that Mexicans are a healthy people, Hushing stated that 43 per cent of all cases in the Los Angeles General Hospital are Mexican, while 62 per cent of the cases, requiring, 72 per cent of the budget are Mexican cases ni the maternity hospital.

The Mexican death rate in Los Angeles is 124.6, as against 67.8 for Americans, he continued.

He attacked the statement of C. B. Moore of Los Angeles that a strike in the Imperial Valley was organised among the Mexicans by the Filipinos, and cited much evidence to prove that the strike he was talking about was organized by the Americans themselves. Although it was not brought out in the committee, the strike he was talking about occurred in 1926, while the one Mr. Moore investigated occurred less than three months ago.

HELP PROPOSED

Charging that the opponents of Mexican restriction are blinded by United States dollars, the witness said that if the Imperial Valley and other localities are willing to accept white and negro labor it can be flooded with help gathered from the present unemployed class through the United States Employment Service.

It was this service which caused Representative Free to state that California did not want another race question by the importation of negroes, at a former session, when the Director-General referred to sending into the valley labor from Harlem district in New York City. A. P. Stout of the railroad brotherhoods said of the Mexicans: "They will not organize and will take any miserable pay they can get," forcing American labor out of jobs.

He dealt principally in generalities, in which he included charges that Mexicans fill the southwestern jails, drain the resources of charity and overburden hospitals.

MRS. FLORSHEIM GETS ESTATE

CHICAGO, Feb. 2. (AP)—Mrs. Ida Florsheim of Beverly Hills, Cal., widow of M. S. Florsheim, was given his $400,000 estate under terms of a will filed for probate here today. Florsheim died in Beverly Hills last Friday.

FAVORITE OF ROBBERS CUTS CASH TO CARFARE

CHICAGO, Feb. 6. (AP)—No longer will Nate Fisher be a fish for bandits. He has served notice that hereafter all the collateral on his person will be nothing in excess of carfare.

Fisher has been a favorite among robbers. It were as though the robbers, meeting in their clubhouse, would say: "Oh, hum, business is bum, let's go out and rob Fisher again." The motion would then be passed unanimously.

Three times in two weeks they worked it. The first two visits were at his office and netted $70 and $60, respectively. Fisher was not what would be called a rich haul, but he was dependable.

The third time was last night. The robbers were waiting for him at his home. They hadn't had time to get down to the office in the daytime, doubtless. Fisher resignedly handed over $12 and his watch.

"But let me tell you something," he said to the robbers. "This is absolutely the last time. Henceforth I'm carrying no cash to speak of, and I'm going to tell time by the sun; and if it's night, I'll guess what time it is."

PROMISE TO PAY RANSOM FREES MAN

Wealthy Realty Broker Agrees to $25,000 Sum After Week of Torture

NEW HAVEN (Ct.) Feb. 6. (AP)—Saying he had been released on a promise to pay $25,000 ransom to kidnapers, Max Price, wealthy 66-year-old real estate broker, returned to his home today after eight days of enforced bondage.

Search for Price which had been carried on throughout Connecticut and in New York City was ended at midnight last night when he walked into the Bridgeport railroad station. Taken to police headquarters, he told officers, "I've been through hell."

Trembling, stubble-bearded, and wearied by five miles of walking from the countryside where he had been thrown out of an automobile by his captors, he told of having been tied to a bed for eight days, blindfolded even while being fed, with his captors continually demanding ransom.

He said his capters offered to let him go if he would promise to pay $25,000 on returning home. He agreed, he said, and received his freedom, his watch and $1. Still blindfolded, he was placed in an automobile and driven for an hour and a half, he said, and then tossed out of the car.

He said he was in the yard next to his home here on the evening of January 28 when men seized him from behind, gagged him and then took him by automobile to the house in which he was held.

STATE ASKS CHANGE IN OIL ORDER

Wyoming Says Conserving Policy Works Hardship on Rocky Mountain Area

WASHINGTON, Feb. 6. (AP)—Gov. Emerson of Wyoming today informed President Hoover that the Rocky Mountain States desire a further modification of the Hoover oil conservation policy.

The Wyoming Governor said there is a distinct need for light-gravity oil and that present production in Wyoming showed there is light-gravity oil there.

In view of the President's policy of not granting permits to explore for oil on government land, he said, it is impossible for Wyoming now to produce oil that is really needed.

Gov. Emerson said the Hoover administration had been extremely fair in its conservation policy, but is working hardship not only on Wyoming, but on all the Rocky Mountain States.

Treaty Cruiser Enters Service

NEW YORK, Feb. 6. (AP)—The U.S.S. Pensacola, first of the "treaty cruisers," was commissioned today at the Brooklyn navy yard. The yard commandant, Rear-Admiral De Steiguer, turned the vessel over to Capt. A. G. Howe, who assumed command of the cruiser following the commissioning ceremonies.

The Pensacola with her sister ship, the U.S.S. Salt Lake City, comprises the first unit of the eight 10,000-ton cruisers authorized in 1924 by Congress. She will leave soon on a "shakedown" cruise lasting several months.

REHEARING GRANTED IN STATE-LIABILITY CASE

SAN FRANCISCO, Feb. 6. (Exclusive)—The State Supreme Court today granted a rehearing on its own decision upholding the legality of the recent legislative provision making the State liable for damages in accidents involving automobiles and motor vehicles owned and operated by the State. A suit testing the legislative act was brought by Alexander R. Heron, then State director of finance, and resulted in a Supreme Court order compelling State Controller Riley to issue warrants in payment of insurance premiums contracted by Heron covering the liability. The rehearing granted today will be heard in April.

HUNT EXTENDED FOR DAWN MAN

Florida Finds Bring New Expedition Plans

Study Will be Made of Prehistoric Bones

Search to be Conducted by Smithsonian Party

WASHINGTON, Feb. 6. (AP)—The Smithsonian Institution is to seek further traces of the man believed to have roamed parts of this continent in the dawn of history.

Heading a party of five members, Dr. James W. Gidley, assistant curator of fossil matter, will leave tomorrow for Melbourne, Fla., to work six weeks in territory that has brought the institution valuable mammalian finds. They also will study the skeleton recently unearthed near West Palm Beach, believed by some persons to be the bones of an extinct species of elephant.

AGE ESTIMATED

Basing his conclusions on the human remains and the associated animal bones and skelotons found in this section of the country, Dr. Gidley said today that man reached this area contemporaneous with an animal life of between 25,000 and 1,000,000 years ago. It is his opinion that man remained there after most of this animal life had disappeared and that men occupied the country in great numbers before changes produced conditions that permitted formation of swamp deposits. This, he said, probably was before the period of the mound-building Indians.

The discovery in Florida of human remains, such as a skulls, bones, arrow points and man-made implements along with more than fifty different animal species, most of which are extinct, or living elsewhere, leads Dr. Gidley to place man there during the Pleistocene epoch.

EXHIBITS VARIOUS

The variety of these Pleistocene exhibits, which include bones of camels, mammoths, tapirs and many other animals, recently unearthed alongside human remains, convinces him of man's residence there at the time.

On this exploration, Dr. Gidley expects to get additional specimens, representing 4 known mammalian life, to aid in a possibly definite determination of the time of man's first appearance. While Dr. Gidley has high hopes of excavating the skeleton of a mammoth, he said he would be compensated if he found "some good skulls."

Balm Suit Lost by Descendant of John Alden

NEW YORK, Feb. 6. (AP)—Alden S. Condict, who asserts he is a descendant of John Alden, Puritan Lover, today lost his $170,000 alienation suit brought against his former parents-in-law, Dr. and Mrs. Penton B. Turck.

A sealed verdict, reached by the jury last night, was read in court today by Justice McGoldrick. Condict was the only party to the suit present.

Condict had said that the Turcks induced his wife, Katherine Condict, to leave him. They denied the charge and in a counter-claim said that Condict did not support their daughter and, instead, helped to spend the $300 monthly allowance she still received from her father.

The couple, married in November, 1925, separated in March, 1927, and were later divorced in Reno.

You can readily understand why.

Halitosis is wide spread—due to the fact that everyday conditions (many of germ origin) develop in the mouth and cause odors. Defective teeth. Minor infections. Fermenting food particles.

Eliminate all risk of offending others by the daily use of full strength Listerine, the safe antiseptic.

So active a germicide it kills the Staphylococcus Aureus (pus) and Bacillus Typhosus (typhoid) germ in counts ranging to 200,000,000, full strength Listerine strikes at the cause of mouth odors. Bottled Sunshine —to build her up in weight and vitality

YOUR child's weight and height are, of course, an index to his health. Usually underweight means a lack of vitality and endurance.

For under par children physicians are advising a health-builder long known for its power to renew vitality and to increase general resistance to certain infections.

Authorities find that Bottled Sunshine—good cod-liver oil—helps to bring the underweight child up to normal weight. It gives him new vitality; puts the ruddy color of health into his cheeks.

Bottled Sunshine does this because it is so rich in two essential vitamins—Vitamin D, the "sunshine vitamin" of which children get so little in these modern days of indoor living, and Vitamin A which promotes normal growth and nutrition and increases resistance to many infections.

When they prescribe cod-liver oil, thousands of physicians specify "Squibb's," because it is vitamin-tested and guaranteed as to its content of the health-protecting Vitamins A and D.

Ask your physician about Squibb's Cod-Liver Oil to help your child grow and gain weight as he should. Squibb has a new Mint-flavored Cod-liver Oil which will appeal to the older children especially. You can get it, as well as Squibb's Plain Cod-Liver Oil, at all good drug stores.

CHICAGO PLANS NEW WAY OUT

Administration Sees Path in Muddle and Mire

Mud Slinging at Bankers and Reformers Likely

Thompson Hurls Handful in Rage Over Chaos

CHICAGO, Feb. 6. (Exclusive)—The city administration is reported to have decided upon its policy in extracting the municipality from the financial mire.

Failing to sell tax anticipation warrants it will make war on "the reformers," attack the Silas H. Strawn citizens' committee and take indirect slaps at the bankers. The open declaration of battle is to be withheld for ten days or so, and the interim spent in a real and intensive effort to sell tax warrants. If that fails then the floodgates will be thrown open, according to the tentative decision.

The Mayor's friends hope they will be able to dispose of warrants. They much prefer to "whip the reformers" by that method, although they admit privately the chances of success are against them. When convinced of inability, if that is the result, to find buyers for the tax warrants, then it is planned to have President H. Wallace Caldwell of the school board flood the homes with propaganda through the school children. The approach to the parents will be a plea to buy warrants to keep the schools open. At the same time, the sale of warrants over the counter is to be started.

POLICEMEN GETTING ANXIOUS

The committee appointed last Tuesday to get cash for some of the 40,122 public employees who have been waiting more than a month for $11,275,500 in salaries is scheduled to have its first session tomorrow.

The police are getting rather anxious for a pay day, so they circulated a petition today asking Gov. Emmerson to call a special session of the State Legislature for the purpose of granting some relief. Tomorrow the school teachers will miss their second pay day. The school board hasn't the $1,890,000 necessary to meet these salaries.

Mayor William Hale Thompson today added his voice to the waiting chorus. He declared the situation presents "an unprecedented financial crisis." He refers to it as "chaos." He asserts the "situation is intolerable and unprecedented."

MAYOR TELLS CAUSE

"Never in the history of any American municipality," he says, "has there been anything like the mess and muddle now existing in Chicago.

"The revenue crisis has crippled all municipalities in Cook county. The situation is beyond the realm of ordinary conjecture and becomes graver each week."

The cause of the conditions the Mayor attributes to "meddling reformers," "reform advisers," "reassessment reformers," the "Loop's newspaper organs," the "invisible government," the "self constituted government," and public officials who became "rubber stamps for Loop reformers," and "the lies of reformers."

STATE COMPTROLLER QUITS

CHIMNEY-SWEEP IN TIGHT PLACE RESCUED

FRESNO, Feb. 6.—G. F. Green should know today the trials and tribulations that Santa Claus faces annually in his trips up and down millions of chimneys. Green, a Sacramento chimney-sweep, spent eight and one-half hours stuck fast in the chimney of a local restaurant last night.

He was working in the chimney after the restaurant closed for the day, and at 10:30 p.m. got stuck in it. At 4:45 a.m. his efforts to extricate himself attracted the attention of passers-by, who called the police.

Police could do nothing about it, so they called upon the fire department, and it was this group that succeeded in freeing the imprisoned man after two hours' work.

Green was none the worse for his experience except for being worn out from his efforts to get out of a tight place.

ROW ROCKS COLLEGE IN NEBRASKA

Religious Education Chair at Hastings Institution Vacant After Charges

HASTINGS (Neb.) Feb. 6. (AP)—The religious education chair at Hastings College, a Presbyterian institution, is vacant tonight as a result of the break between college authorities and some of the faculty over the question of religious instruction.

Prof. Willard E. Uphaus, whose supporters said he had been reprimanded by college officials for disseminating among his pupils doctrines described as "extremely liberal and even radical," left for Yale University to accept a research fellowship in the Yale divinity school.

Six other department heads who "bolted" out of sympathy with Prof. Uphaus, will resign in June. They are Prof. Joseph Baccus, public speaking; Dr. Hewitt Vinnedge, history; Prof. Leroy G. Pulver, economics; Prof. Merle Maupin, piano instruction; Dr. Forest Witcraft, sociology, and Dr. James Duncan, of the physics department.

Before leaving Prof. Uphaus reiterated his belief that President Calvin French and the board of trustees have not treated him fairly.

PORTLAND FILIPINOS GUARDED

Attack on Islander Laid to Gang With California License Plate on Auto

PORTLAND (Or.) Feb. 6. (AP)—Filipino gathering places here were placed under special police guard tonight after Vincente Catoda, Filipino, was attacked and beaten severely by eight white men who rode in an automobile bearing California license plates, Police Chief Jenkins announced.

Catoda, found lying on a sidewalk, was treated at the police Emergency Hospital for numerous cuts and abrasions. He told police the automobile bearing the white men drew alongside him and that all occupants leaped out and stopped him. He declared he was asked the whereabouts of other Filipinos and, when he refused to answer, was attacked.

Catoda told police he failed to obtain the license number of the automobile, but recognized it as a California plate.

Aguinaldo Will Address ex-Foes by Voice Film

WASHINGTON, Feb. 6. (AP)—Unable to be present himself, Gen. Emilio Aguinaldo, who thirty-one years ago led the Philippine insurrection, will speak through the medium of motion pictures to his former enemies at the annual dinner here Saturday of the Military Order of the Carabao.

Gen. Pershing and Admiral Henry T. Mayo have been invited as guests of honor.

Aguinaldo, in making his talkie, expressed regret that he spoke in Spanish, explaining that "neither your guns of yesterday nor your schools of today have succeeded in chiseling the English language into my unresponding mentality."

Fish Permit Charge Hurled

MONTEREY, Feb. 6. (AP)—Director Stevenot of the State Department of Natural Resources notified fish canneries here today that his office will investigate charges that unnamed Southern California politicians have attempted to sell "unlimited" fish reduction permits for $10,000 each.

"Unlimited" reduction permits, canners here explained, would enable the canners to reduce the entire catch into fertilizers, oils and meals contrary to the recently enacted State law, which limits reduction to 32.5 per cent of the catch.

BOLL WORM FUND GETS APPROVAL

Senate Passes Proposal for $587,500 for Fight on Pest in Arizona

WASHINGTON, Feb. 6. (AP)—The Senate today passed the House resolution to appropriate $587,500 to meet an emergency caused by an outbreak of the pink boll worm in Arizona. The proposal now goes to the White House.

The Senate later adopted a second House proposal to authorize an appropriation of $2,500,000 to compensate farmers for losses due to the enforcement of noncotton zones in the pink boll worm areas, this resolution also now goes to the President.

The money would be expended in co-operation with State authorities and determination of losses would be subject to review by the Secretary of Agriculture.

The $2,500,000 fund for compensation of farmers in the noncotton zones to be set up in the fight against the pink boll worm would be available to any State which contributes an equal amount to the Federal appropriation.

Senator Ransdell, Democrat, Louisiana, who sponsored the resolution in the Senate, said this will be available to any infested district.

The emergency appropriation, however, is for use only in fighting the boll worm in Arizona.

British Church Plans New Way to Pick Bishops

LONDON, Feb. 6. (Exclusive)—The Church of England assembly today accepted a committee report recommending a new method of appointing bishops. The report recommends that the electing body has a right to refuse the King's nominee without incurring penalties; that the archbishops of Canterbury and York are not liable to penalties for refusing to confirm and consecrate persons elected by the bishops; that the Prime Minister should consult, before making an appointment, a committee of seven members including the archbishops of Canterbury and York, and five others selected by the Prime Minister and the church assembly.

At present the Prime Minister nominates the bishop's name, the person selected being conveyed by the King's letter to the chapter concerned, which then goes through the motions of electing the nominee.

IMMORALITY OF STUDENTS TOLD

Former Fresno High School Teacher Accused Also

Grand Jury Foreman Tells of Charges Made

Parents Said Unwilling to Prosecute, However

FRESNO, Feb. 6.—Charges of immorality and indulgence in liquor at a rendezvous maintained by a bootlegger have been made against a group of students and a former teacher of the Fresno High School, it was learned here today from George S. Smith, foreman of the Fresno county grand jury.

Smith said that parents of some of the students brought the matter to his attention, but declined to press it when they were advised that they and the students would be required to appear as witnesses before the grand jury, and that their identity would be made public as the result of the investigation.

Following a conference between Smith and Dist.-Atty. Devore today, it was announced that no further action would be taken under the present conditions.

Smith said that from what he was told of the situation, the parents of three of the students involved desired that the grand jury "go after" the former teacher and the bootleggers and not involve the students. He said that after he told the parents that any criminal investigation would necessitate a complete laying of the case they lost interest.

"From what I learned of the case I believe a lot of it would be corrected if the parents would pay a little more attention to their children, watch their movements a little more, and know where their children are at night," Smith said.

City Superintendent of Schools Hubbard and Howard R. Gaines, principal of the high school, said they had no knowledge of the matter and that no complaint had been made to them by parents of students.

College Friends Boost Debt Fund

LA VERNE, Feb. 6. (Exclusive)—The campaign to wipe out the $16,000 deficit of La Verne College has resulted in the raising of $10,229, it was announced by Dr. E. M. Studebaker, president of the college, at a New Era banquet held tonight in the college gymnasium which was attended by more than 600 alumni and friends of the institution from all over the State. Dr. Studebaker said he hopes the remainder of the sum will be raised within a few days and, if it is, the notes representing the debt will be burned at a ceremonial bonfire.

Many of the tickets to tonight's banquet were sold for $25 each and $2375 was realized by this means alone. The toastmaster was Samuel Hollinger of Macfarland, a member of the board of trustees, and the chief speaker was Dr. D. W. Kurtz, minister of the Church of the Brethren, his topic being "The Christian College."

Don't Let's Be Technical, but—let's investigate this stocking situation a bit. For instance, what makes The May Company's $1.35 "Surety" silk stockings so superior?

(Now, isn't that nice of you to ask a leading question like that!) Well, for one thing, the silk in them is pure dye—no weighting; that's why they improve with washing. For another, there are more rows of tiny stitches within the length of one inch than most stockings of the same gauge.

But no need to concentrate too hard over that! It merely means that "Sureties" give you the trimmest ankles in the world, for one thing.

"Surety" light-weight service silk stockings—exclusive with The May Company—in eleven perfect colors, are equal to higher-priced stockings of other kinds.

BROADER COURT POWERS UPHELD

Commissioners Would Hear Minor Liquor Cases

Law Board Proposal Backed by Legal Expert

Amendment Suggested to Allow Reversals

WASHINGTON, Feb. 6. (AP)—In pursuit of the Law Enforcement and Corporations to broaden the powers of United States Commissioners to hear minor prohibition cases, a ruling was declared by Roscoe Pound, dean of the Harvard law school, to be contrary to the principles of the commission, appeared before Chairman Wickersham of the National Law Enforcement Commission today invited Representative Dyer, Republican, of Missouri, to appear before the commission March 5 when hearings will be held on the 2.75 per cent beer bill.

Dyer, author of the bill, said he will urge the commission to recommend to Congress enactment of legislation to permit the manufacture of 2.75 per cent beer under the dry laws, holding it is not intoxicating.

Wickersham informed Dyer that the commission was unable to consider his request yesterday on the beer proposal.

Harvard law school, said the Jones law does not define offenses, but only gives Federal judges wide latitude in imposing punishment.

Pound asserted that under the Constitution, petty offenders do not have the right to a jury trial.

DIGNITY LOST

Expressing regret over the loss of dignity of the Federal courts through the "bargain day" and "cafeteria courts" when prohibition cases are disposed of wholesale, Pound said the condition can not be eliminated until remedial legislation is passed.

The submission of the proposed amendment to give the Federal judges authority to overrule the commissioners either on convictions or acquittals came as a surprise to wet members who had attacked the original section which gave them only the right to reverse an acquittal.

Pound contended it is not necessary for petty accused prohibition violators to waive their right to trial before a commissioner, and expressly pointed out that the commission recommended that this be preserved.

HOUSE TAKES UP DRY LAW SHIFT

Enforcement Transfer Bill to Pass by Tomorrow

Alcohol Permit Provisions Cause Some Dispute

Author Assails Leaders of Nullification Doctrine

WASHINGTON, Feb. 6. (AP)—The Williamson bill to carry out the first of President Hoover's proposals to strengthen dry enforcement by transferring the prohibition unit from the Treasury to the Justice Department today received its first consideration in the House, where its passage by Saturday virtually was assured.

Although there is little opposition to the transfer there, an attack was launched immediately by several wets and drys against a provision to make the Attorney-General and Secretary of the Treasury jointly responsible for regulation of industrial alcohol permits. The wets are agreed that they want to give the drys everything they desire to enforce the law under the bill, so that there will be no alibi when, as they predict, enforcement will have failed in the Justice Department.

DIVERGENT VIEWS

Some want the Attorney-General to make regulations under which the Secretary of the Treasury may issue permits. Others believe the dual responsibility will result in a spying by Justice Department agents on legitimate industrial alcohol-consuming concerns, and that the Treasury alone should regulate the 160,000 permittees.

Representative Williamson, Republican, South Dakota, author of the measure, characterized prohibition enforcement as the most difficult problem that confronts the Chief Executive.

He warned the house that "no fundamental is ordered obedience to duly enacted laws that no government can long survive large-scale violations of enactments in which a considerable majority of the people show a deep personal interest."

"It follows," Williamson contended, "that the government must use every means at its disposal to secure observance of whatever laws are placed upon its books or run the chance that all laws will come to be regarded with contempt. When contempt for all law becomes general, government is at an end. Chaos and anarchy follow."

In opening his address the South Dakotan said that important States have repealed their enforcement statutes and have refused to cooperate with the government.

"A considerable body of men of position and influence," he added, "are openly preaching the doctrine of nullification. Nullification is closely akin to rebellion and rebellion means war."

"WEASEL DOCTRINE" HIT

Williamson assailed "the weasel doctrine that those who like their home brew can brew it at home."

Though he did not mention the New Jersey Representative by name, presumably he was referring to an address on prohibition by Representative Franklin Fort, Republican, New Jersey, which was interpreted as advocating that the government turn its attention to those who violated the law for commercial purposes and leave home brewing alone.

"That preachment," Williamson declared, "is a clear evasion of the whole purpose and intent of the Constitution and the national prohibition act. Its advocates have either neglected to read the law or failed to grasp its meaning. The very purpose of prohibition not only was to stop the manufacture and sale of intoxicants, but to prohibit their use the moment that stocks in private homes became exhausted. In a word, the Eighteenth Amendment was intended to make the nation bone dry so far as that can be realized with respect to anything prohibited."

ASSAILED IN SENATE

The Law Enforcement Commission's recommendations were assailed in the Senate by Senator Wagner, Democrat, New York, who declared that its report to Congress is disappointing and that the proposal to broaden the commissioners' powers is unconstitutional.

"If you enact this proposal into law," he said, "you erect a new class of crimes, undefined, inchoate, of uncertain gravity, of unknown penalty until such good time in each individual case as the Attorney-General decides."

Comedienne's Salary Tied Up

CHICAGO, Feb. 6. (AP)—Frances White, the "romper baby" comedienne, is dividing her week in town between the theater, and the divorce court and the Federal Building. When it's all over she may have no salary to show for it, but she has got a divorce.

The Deputy Collector of Internal Revenue yesterday served a lien on Manager Smith of the Palace Theater, where Miss White is appearing, tying up her salary. The government believes Miss White owes for income taxes in 1924 and 1925, the amounts being $824.14 and $747.35.

Earlier this week Miss White was granted a divorce from Clinton Donnelly, to whom she was married here in 1923; but that will be of no value to her as far as the tax matter is concerned, for she was granted no alimony.

The son, Kent Shaffer, was a graduate of the Sheffield Scientific School at Yale. After his health failed in 1910, he lived in Denver and Los Angeles, dying in 1925.

LIQUOR DEATH CUT DETAILED

W.C.T.U. Issues Report on Alcoholism Mortality

Figures Back Assertion as to Prohibition Benefits

Dry Law Declared to Have Saved 25,000 Lives

EVANSTON (Ill.) Feb. 6. (AP)—The Woman's Christian Temperance Union today issued a report on alcoholism mortality in forty-five States to substantiate its assertion that prohibition "has saved at least 25,000 lives that would have been lost had preprohibition alcoholism death rates continued."

The report says its findings were based on data furnished by the United States Bureau of Census, covering the period from 1910 to 1926.

Maryland is listed in the report as the only State in which "alcoholism has mounted higher under prohibition than in the saloon era. New York furnishes a fifth of all the alcoholism in the country and yet has never reached its record for the saloon days."

COMPARISONS MADE

Continuing, the report says:

"Alcoholism killed 4627 people in the United States last year. That death rate was 4 for each 100,000 thousand. Had alcoholism killed at the rate of 6.6 per 100,000, which flourished in 1916, the height of the saloon era, there would have been 7926 deaths. Credit 3299 to prohibition.

"In the saloon era the census data shows the alcoholism death rate nearly double the average rate for the prohibition era.

STATE SHOWINGS

"Thirty-one States and the District of Columbia were below the national average death rate of 4 for each 100,000 for 1929, and only thirteen States were above the average. Montana is probably high, but data are incomplete.

"The States with higher than average alcoholism are Arizona, Connecticut, Delaware, Florida, Illinois, Maryland, Massachusetts, New Jersey, New York, Ohio, Pennsylvania, Rhode Island and Wyoming. Their average alcoholism death rate is 6 for each 100,000. The average for the thirty-one other States listed and the District of Columbia is 2.5 for each 100,000."

SHIPS TO CANADA MAY GET MAIL CONTRACTS

WASHINGTON, Feb. 6. (AP)—American ships operating from continental United States ports to Canada would be made eligible for American postal contracts, under an amendment to the Merchant Marine Act introduced by Chairman White of the House Merchant Marine Committee. At present, White said, many American flag ships operating from Pacific and Atlantic ports to British Columbia and Nova Scotia are barred from eligibility to ocean mail contracts.

THE SON OF TARZAN

By Edgar Rice Burroughs

Morison Baynes's thoughts were certainly upsetting him. This lovely creature riding by his side—he had seen climbing and swinging through trees and actually conversing with grotesque baboons! Beautiful she was and very desirable; yet after all what did he really know of her? Before he realized it he had blurted out: "I saw you in the trees with the baboons!" "Yes!" laughed Meriem. "the baboons are among my very best friends."

And then, because she saw the horror that the man felt at her answer reflected in his face, Meriem rather enjoyed shocking him further. "Yes," she said, "I lived among the great apes for many years. I dwelt among the tree branches and hunted the lesser beasts. Korak brought me fruits and flesh. He fought for me and was kind to me." There was a wistful note in her voice. She had not thought of Korak a great deal of late.

For a time the two rode on through the deep night, both silently absorbed in their own reflections. The girl was thinking of a god-like figure in a leopard skin who came nimbly through the trees. Behind him, shaggy and powerful, swung a huge anthropoid ape, while she, Meriem, laughing and shouting her welcome, swung from a swaying limb before her sylvan bower. Ah, the happiness of those sunny days! The freedom! And, best of all, Korak!

The man's thoughts were rather jumbled. He suddenly realized he had come mighty close to falling hopelessly in love with this girl who had voluntarily told him just now her weird story. And he had been about to offer her his honorable name! A girl who by her own admission had lived among the apes! The Hon. Morison Baynes trembled at the narrowness of his escape. Yes, he loved her. Perhaps though, he would not have to propose.

Gain of 26 Per Cent Scored Over 1928 Total

Completion of the most profitable year in its history was reported yesterday by the Union Oil Company of California in the annual statement for 1929 released by W. L. Stewart, president. Net profits for the year, after charges for depreciation, depletion and drilling expenditures, amounted to $15,019,635.48, or an increase of 26 per cent over profits for the previous year.

Before deducting depreciation, depletion, etc., profits totaled $30,140,263.92, the equivalent to $7.15 a share on the 4,215,953 shares outstanding at the end of the year. This compares with $5.75 on the 3,795,057 shares outstanding at December 31, 1928.

On the final net profit the earnings on 4,215,953 shares were equal to $3.56 a share, compared with $2.93 a share at the close of 1928.

Increased profits in 1929, according to Mr. Stewart's statement, were due largely to the increased production of light-gravity refining crude from Santa Fe Springs and increased gasoline business. Sales for the year amounted to $88,864,518.90, an increase of $3,496,748.19 over 1928, and the quantity of all products marketed totaled 37,080,000 barrels, or a gain of 3,157,000 barrels over the previous year.

OUTPUT GIVEN

Production, subject to royalties, of crude oil and natural gasoline was 22,802,497 barrels, as compared with 13,735,843 barrels in 1928, an increase of 8,866,644 barrels. The increase, Mr. Stewart stated, was due to operations at Santa Fe Springs from which the company showed an increase of about 10,344,000 barrels in the year. The average production of crude oil and natural gasoline from 895 wells on January 1, last, was approximately 58,600 barrels daily. In addition 191 wells were shut in, including eighty-two wells in Santa Fe Springs and Signal Hill. Crude-oil purchases at the present time average 67,000 barrels daily.

Production and purchase of crude oil for the year totaled 46,571,971 barrels, including production and purchase of natural gasoline and purchases of refined and semirefined products, the production totaled 50,-733,016 barrels, or 16 per cent of the total output of the State, as compared with 39,196,465 barrels and 16 per cent in 1928.

In Santa Fe Springs the Union Oil Company completed thirty-five wells in the year, the output of which has been curtailed to an allowable production under the conservation program of about 24,000 barrels daily.

EXPENDITURES SHOWN

Expenditures for new drilling and field development amounted to $10,-690,318.10, while the charge against income for drilling and expenditures, wells abandoned and depreciation was $8,410,241.31. The balance of oil wells and development, after deducting reserves for depreciation and drilling expenditures, was $18,810,634.20, representing 968 wells producing or shut in, 147 wells drilling or inactive, and subsidiary field facilities.

Current assets at the close of the year totaled $62,796,084.46, or, about seven to one of current liabilities, and exceeded all indebtedness. Current assets increased $12,004,896.44 and current liabilities decreased $1,518,578.90 since Dec. 31, 1928. Cash resources at the end of the year, consisting of cash and United States government and other bonds, amounted to $13,773,168.08.

Inventories of crude and refined oil products totaled $8,630,586 and

NET INCOME OF GENERAL MOTORS OFF

Preliminary Figures Set Decrease for Past Year at $28,185,840

NEW YORK, Feb. 6. (Exclusive)—General Motors Corporation for the year ended December 31, last, according to preliminary figures released today, will show net earnings, including equities in undivided profits of subsidiaries, of $248,282,-268, equal after dividends of $9,478,-681 on the preferred and debenture stocks to $5.49 a share on the common stock, as compared with $276,-468,108, or $6.14 a common share calculated on a comparable basis with 1928.

For the quarter ended December 31, last, preliminary net earnings were announced by A. P. Sloan, president, as $25,433,933, after charges and Federal taxes, equal after preferred and debenture dividends to 53 cents a share on 43,500,-000 common shares, as compared with $70,968,025, or $1.58 a common share in the preceding quarter, and $35,233,495, or 77 cents a common share on the same common basis in the 1928 quarter.

Retail sales by General Motors dealers for the year totaled 1,860,403 units, as against 1,843,443 in 1928. The corporation's sales to dealers were 1,899,207 units, against 1,810,806 in the preceding year.

The directors declared the regular quarterly dividends of 75 cents on the common, $1.75 on the 7 per cent preferred and $1.50 on the 6 per cent preferred and debenture stocks.

Utility Holding Seeks to Merge Portland Power

NEW YORK, Feb. 6. (Exclusive) Public Utility Holding Corporation, holding and investing company formed last fall by Harris, Forbes & Co. and American Founders interests, is negotiating for the transfer of the ownership of the Portland Electric Power Company to Central Public Service Corporation, the company announced today.

The negotiations contemplate the exchange of Portland Electric Power stock for Class A and voting stocks of Central Public Service and a large amount of cash. The stock interest Public Utility Holding expects to acquire will make it the second largest stockholder in the Central Public Service system. Such a transaction would involve about $25,000,000 and would result in bringing the annual gross income of Central up to about $40,000,000.

Central Public Service with the addition of the Portland property would supply gas to more than 111 communities throughout the country and from the standpoint of the number of gas distributing systems operated it would be one of the country's foremost gas-utility organizations, although only 43 per cent of gross revenues on a consolidated basis would be derived from gas operations.

Pig'n Whistle Sales Hold Up

January Sales of the Pig'n Whistle Corporation amounted to $326,-249, as against $302,831 for January, 1929, an increase of 7.23 per cent, Sidney Hoedemaker, vice-president and geenral manager, announced yesterday. Sales for the twelve months ended January 31 aggregated $3,638,966, a gain of 10.16 per cent over the preceding period.

The outlook for the balance of the year is stated by officials of the company to be satisfactory, Mr. Hoedemaker said.

QUARTER'S NET AWAITED

Series of Poor Statements May Discourage Rising Trend in Market; Utilities Well Fortified

BY EARLE E. CROWE

First-quarter reports will furnish the information that will largely determine what stock prices will do after the end of March. It is too early yet to hazard estimates on the statements different industries will turn out, but by the end of the current month enough information should be available to guide the course of speculation.

Nearly all competent observers believe that the last half of the year in business will provide the basis for a genuine upturn in prices, but opinion is not so settled on the near term outlook. Right now it appears to many people that the first-quarter earnings will be discouraging to the stock market, while others maintain that the market will largely ignore the first three months and look more to the prospects for the second half of the year.

MAY CHECK PRICE

Bearish estimates for the current quarter may conceivably check the recovery movement in stocks now under way. The noticeable activity and rise in public shares reflects the reaction of speculators to this possibility, since the utilities are the most logical group to come through without reductions in earnings. The quickening interest in rails is also along this line of reasoning, the railroads having a fairly steady volume of earnings regardless of mild recessions in business.

In any public utility market the California utilities should play a leading part, if the forecasts of business leaders regarding the course of business in this State are true. It is understood that the Washington conferences have been told that California should escape business recession, which is a prophecy that further fortifies the attractiveness of this State's utilities from a stock market point of view.

SETTLEMENT NEAR

What California's oils will do in the first quarter is open to debate. The outlook now is for the settlement of the gasoline price-cutting squabble without open warfare. Within the last few days it is reported that price-cut signs have substantially diminished in number and that complete elimination of the trouble is expected by the end of the week.

Curtailment of production seems to proceed satisfactorily, except for the threat of an outbreak of Kettleman Hills drilling. If both gasoline and crude oil prices hold up through the quarter there should be nothing to prevent the reporting of sizable increases in earnings over the same period of last year.

Restricted drilling campaigns are affecting the operations of oil well equipment manufacturers in this State, and the possibilities point to lower net income. Airplane manufacturers, of which Southern California has a considerable number, are still worrying over an unsatisfactory outlook and will probably report a poor first quarter. Most of the Coast industrials will likely show a slight improvement over last year.

Net Profits of MacMillan Oil in Sharp Rise

Net profits of the Macmillan Petroleum Company for 1929 reached a total of $1,006,258 after all charges, including taxes, equivalent to $6.64 a share on the 116,497 capital shares outstanding at the close of the year, against $555,525.32, or $4.96 a share on 112,000 shares outstanding in 1928, an increase of 81 per cent, R. S. Macmillan, president, announced yesterday.

Gross profits increased more than $500,000 to $1,756,984.72, while depletion, depreciation and Federal income taxes totaled $750,726.12. Earnings for the last quarter of the year continued to show a satisfactory increase over the previous year, but no equitable comparison is available since the company recently inaugurated a policy of writing off 27 per cent of the gross production to depletion instead of 13 per cent as formerly.

Through the acquisition of the Signal Hill properties of the Petroleum Company comprising some twenty-four wells and the further development of these properties, the company's production has been materially increased, Mr. Macmillan stated. With good contracts for the Texas refineries, officials of the company are looking forward to a continuance of satisfactory earnings for the ensuing year, he said.

The proceeds of these notes will be used toward refunding a like principal amount of three-year notes which matured the 1st inst. The company is now formulating a plan under which it expects to pay this issue of notes at or before maturity from the proceeds of the sale of junior securities.

YOUR INCOME TAX

NO. 4

When husband and wife, living together, file separate returns, either may claim the exemption of $3500 or they may divide it between them, the husband, for example, claiming $1000 and the wife $2500.

Many errors have occurred in the returns of couples married during the taxable year. The Revenue Act provides that if the marital status of a taxpayer changes during the year his personal exemption shall be determined by apportionment in accordance with the number of months he was single or married. For example, a couple married on October 14 may file a joint return and claim an exemption of $3125, which is 9-12 of $1500, or $1125 for the husband, while single, plus 9-12 of $1500 for the wife while single, plus 3-12 of $3500 for the period during which they were married. Should they file separate returns each is entitled to an exemption of $1562.50, which is 9-12 of $1500, plus 1-2 of 3-12 of $3500.

A similar provision applies to the head of a family. A taxpayer who on October 14 ceased to be the head of a family—the support of one household of a relative or relatives being discontinued—is entitled to an exemption of $3000, which is 9-12 of $3500, plus 3-12 of $1500.

With respect to the $400 credit for a dependent, the taxpayer's status as of the last day of the taxable year determines this credit. If his support of such dependent ceases before the end of the year he is not entitled to this credit.

NEW BANK RATE CUT ANNOUNCED

Drop to 4 Per Cent Made by Gotham Reserve

Charge for Loans Lowest in Nearly Two Years

Slash Follows Similar Step by British Board

NEW YORK, Feb. 6. (AP)—Two of the world's important banks today took steps to ease credit, thereby facilitating trade and business expansion.

The New York Federal Reserve Bank reduced its rediscount rate to 4 per cent from 4½, taking action several hours after the bank of England's rate had been cut to 4½ from 5 per cent. The German Central Bank reduced its rate from 6½ to 6 on Tuesday, while the Bank of France cut to 3 from 3½ last Thursday. Since January 1 several other central banks on the continent have taken similar action, including those of Belgium, Hungary, Poland, Austria, Sweden and the Netherlands.

CYCLE TRACED

These readjustments represent the completion of another credit cycle of about a year's duration. Early in 1929, after several previous increases had failed to stem the flow of credit into speculative channels, the Federal Reserve Board issued its first warning against the excessive use of credit by the securities markets to the detriment of general business. Meanwhile stock speculation continued at a brisk pace and the warning was renewed in August, when the New York bank rate was marked up to 6 per cent.

The peak of stock speculation was reached in the following month, followed by several weeks of backing and filling and then the complete collapse in prices in October and November. After this thorough deflation had taken place, the rate was reduced a full per cent to 5 and shortly after cut to 4½.

GOLD THREATENED

While England was not directly confronted with securities inflation in its own markets, except in the so-called Hatry issues, the country was, nevertheless, faced with a serious drain on its gold supply because of the tremendous absorption of credit by the speculative markets of the United States. Although a lower bank rate was badly needed in England to stimulate business, the heavy loss of gold to France in recent months delayed a reduction until there was a lower Bank of France rate.

Wall street always has understood that a gentleman's agreement existed between the heads of the central banks in London and New York, whereby they would keep each other informed of prospective rate changes and endeavor to act in unison to maintain a fair relationship between the two money markets.

Value of State's Live Stock Down

SACRAMENTO, Feb. 6. (AP)—Total value of live stock in California is $19,000,000 less than a year ago, due chiefly to fewer cattle and the low average value of sheep, it was stated in the annual live-stock summary of the California co-operative Crop Reporting Service, made public here today.

The live-stock industry started the current year under conditions less promising than a year ago, the report stated, largely because of high feed bills incurred during recent months with fewer cattle available for market, and with lower prices prevailing for butter fat, lambs and wool.

BANKING LEADERS DISAGREE

Heads of Two Largest Buffalo (N. Y.) Institutions Split in Views on Modern Trend

BY JOHN P. SINCLAIR

[Copyright, 1930, by the North American Newspaper Alliance]

NEW YORK, Feb. 6.—Buffalo is discussing the trend of banking just like Chicago, Minneapolis, Kansas City and other American cities. In this city is located the Marine Trust Company, which, with its various holding companies, controls banks in many of the important cities of Upper New York State. Already its resources are more than $500,000,000.

"Nothing unusual about our development," said George F. Rand, the 37-year-old president of the Marine Trust Company and its associated group banks. "The development of banking into larger and larger units seems perfectly consistent and logical to any one who has made any study of the subject, and who is not himself prejudiced against the new tendencies. But what is coming is efficiency, resulting in cheaper and better banking service. I believe we can serve our customers better by being in shape to handle all of their business than by having to go outside of our bank and co-operate with various other banks in order to accommodate those who require larger banking service."

"In your opinion, do you think this movement of larger banking units will continue? If so, where is the end?" I asked him.

"None of us can say with certainty what the final solution will be—perhaps there isn't any. The law of life is the law of change. This principle applies to banking as well as to other activities of life. I do not see any factors which will arrest the development of larger and larger units of banking control."

Lewis G. Harriman, 41 years of age, president of the Manufacturers' and Traders' Trust Company of Buffalo, takes a different point of view on the banking problem.

Mr. Harriman began his business career as an engineer, after graduating from Trinity College in 1909. Later, he became an investment banker associated with two different New York Stock Exchange houses.

Then he was investment trust officer of the Guaranty Trust Company, New York City, until he moved to Buffalo to become vice-president of the Fidelity Trust.

Three years ago, at 38, he became president of the M. & T. company, one of "the big three banks" in Buffalo.

"I may be dead wrong, but I don't see any advantage in chain banking or branch banking outside of one's own city," said Mr. Harriman to me. "I am a unit banker, and have no chain affiliations with any other bank. I do not believe that any bank can give any better service than we can, co-operating with our correspondents in the larger cities as we do today.

"In a word, I am frank to tell you that I believe the strength of the United States is in the individual. To take away the ability of that individual to develop as he wants to, and put the control of money and credit in the hands of a very few men, and fifty years from now we will have nothing but a socialised form of industry.

"No, I am for the individual. I have seen the larger men pass on credits, and I have seen the smaller ones. Perhaps that's one of the reasons why I think that each local community can handle its own job much better than some one on the outside not familiar with those conditions.

"I am talking now about banking conditions in the thickly populated industrial East. I am not talking about banking in any other section of the country, of which I know very little."

Wheat Market Revives After Early Setback

CHICAGO, Feb. 6. (AP)—Big buying for previous speculative sellers turned wheat future deliveries sharply upward today after the market had dived below bottom price records for the season. The sudden switching wholesale to the buying side of the market appeared to be more or less due to current belief that definite steps toward establishment of a wheat stabilization corporation would speedily be announced.

A stimulating factor was that any issues of the proposed corporation could be met by Farm Board funds and not by assessments on stockholders of the stabilization corporation.

Chicago closing prices today for wheat were firm, 1¼c to 1⅞ a bushel higher than yesterday's finish. Corn closed ¼@⅝c to ⅞c up, oats ⅛c to ⅜c advanced, and provisions unchanged to 7c rise of 12 cents.

Bulging wheat values in the late dealings here went hand in hand not only with greatly broadened speculative demand but also with quick developing of a dearth of future delivery offerings. Rumors with eastern connections were prominent in this buying. Preceding these developments, however, there had been an early rush of selling that was associated with sharp setbacks in Liverpool wheat quotations and with 6½c a bushel break in the rye market at Hamburg.

Authoritative estimates that world import requirements of wheat during the next six months will be 24,000,000 bushels a week were given particular attention here and did a good deal to offset Liverpool advices that Russian wheat offerings are increasing. Export business in North American wheat today amounted to about 800,000 bushels.

Corn and oats paralleled the action of wheat. Provisions rose on account of commission house buying of lard and because of upturns in the value of hogs.

METAL MARKET

CLEVELAND, Feb. 6. (Exclusive)—Daily Metal Trade today says:

Specifications for thirty steel continue to gain slightly although the improvement in automotive requirements is scattered and considerable tonnages is expanding slowly. Sheet demand is irregular, and in the West the mills are unable to schedule ability far ahead due to the uncertainty of specifications. Structural shape inquiries in the East are slightly heavier, but little improvement in demand for this material is reported in the West.

Heavy railroad equipment orders continue to be placed, thus furnishing fairly complete work for the steel market. The awards of track material have been light lately, but car and locomotive orders continue to be placed at a good rate. Structural report demand is expanding at a steady rate. Pig iron buying is holding up in good volume and at Chicago demand is in excess of production of the five active merchant stacks in the district.

LOS ANGELES CURB

In sharp contrast to the trend of operation on the senior board, traders on the Los Angeles Curb Exchange yesterday engaged in one of the most active sessions this year and forced a number of issues to substantially higher levels. The recent popular stocks figured prominently in the bullish demonstration while others in the less active group sold down, making the close slightly irregular.

Caterpillar Tractor, Diamond Electric, and the Neon light issues featured the advance. Diamond Electric, which has jumped up more than 6 points over the past two sessions, advanced 1 1-4 points to reach a new top for the movement at 50. The close was at 49 3-4. Caterpillar added 1 3-8 points to recent steady advances and closed high at 66½. Neon of Delaware, on a turnover of more than 5000 shares, shot up more than 2 points to 42 and closed at 41 5-8 for a net gain of 1 7-8. Neon of New York advanced a point to 14 3-4 and Electrical Products of Washington, 1-4 to 14.

Bank of America National Association, crossed the board at 194½ for a gain of 4 points. District Bond sold off 3 points to 27 and Crystalite, 1 1-4 points to 13 3-4. Other changes were fractional.

Sales totaled 57,839 shares valued at $493,606; previous day, 43,662 shares, valued at $365,506.

DRIFT OF STOCK PRICES ERRATIC

International Harvester, and Standard Gas lost 2 or 3 points. Johns-Manville dropped 6. United States Steel, Radio and General Motors lost about a point each.

Cotton closed about $2 a bale lower, influenced by weakness in foreign markets, reports of slack textile business and rumors of cancellation of trade orders. Wheat rebounded from its early decline under the influence of bullish weather reports and revival of foreign buying, closing up about 1½ cents. Corn firmed up in sympathy.

European foreign exchange rates held steady, failing to reflect the lower Bank of England rate, as the New York Reserve Bank was expected to reduce its rate later in the day and maintain the relationship between the two money markets. Sterling cables closed at $4.86⅛, up 1-16. The Latin-American rates continued to sag.

OIL NEWS

BY HOWARD KEGLEY

Attempts of operators at Santa Maria Springs to give that field the prestige of producing well in the wildcat class are still falling short of the record established in the Big Lake Field of West Texas, where wells are producing from depths below 8500 feet.

George F. Getty's No. 25, on the Richfield lease of the structure at Santa Maria Springs, is so far the nearest approach to the Texas "marvels." Yesterday, Getty's project was brought to 8000 feet for about 600 barrels of oil per day, but scarcity of water at 8000 feet, but scarcity of water necessitated the installation of pumps to improve its output. Another contender for the honor of being the deepest producer is the Associated Oil Company's Fullerton No. 4, which yesterday was reported with bottom of the hole at 8000 feet. This project is in the extreme westerly portion of the Santa Maria Springs field, although out 10 miles farther than the Richfield operations. The company's Elliott No. 2, recently brought in for about 600 barrels daily at a depth of 7895 feet. Also recently succeeded in placing on production Fullerton No. 3 on production of 600 barrels ago at 8000 feet but drill pipe is frozen with top at 7780 feet. It is fishing.

The extent of the lower Clark Basin, south of Santa Fe Springs, is generally thought to be fairly defined pending the results of the most extreme western and southeasterly completions now under way. In the far southeastern portion of the field, the Standard Company's South Whittier Community lease, is putting out about 1000 barrels daily. The company's South Whittier Community No. 4 is yielding 700 barrels as does its No. 25 and No. 27 is coming up well from about 8000 feet. Standard's No. 36 is the deepest drilling project in the lease and is below 8170 feet. Two other Standard wells are expected to pass the 7000-foot mark and will probably be completed at about 7500 feet.

Increases

The Davis Petroleum Company's Ohio-Croll No. 4, located on the 11-38, at Maricopa Flat, has increased its daily flow to 2130 barrels of oil. The initial yield on completion, was about 1700 barrels from a depth of 3948 feet. Pressure on the casing has increased to [illegible]

Davis's daily production now from Maricopa Flat has increased to approximately 4200 barrels. The company's Weir No. 4 is rigging up [illegible] and derrick for Son-Cr[illegible]. It is being constructed. Adjoining its forty-acre lease is the Davis forty-acre government project being leased on which its No. [illegible] is rigging up.

On the same section where Davis found good production, the Western Oil Company's Son [illegible] is putting out about 900 barrels per day. The company's Son [illegible] is rigging up.

The City Council yesterday visited the scene of the Ohio Oil Company's recent success southeast [illegible] and looked over the ground where thirty operators and drillers have filed application with the Planning Commission to [illegible]

Officials in close touch with the situation do not expect any [illegible] drilling campaign at Venice for several weeks, because the rules and conditions have not been passed by the City Council. The only [illegible] that can continue drilling is the Ohio Oil Company, whose lease is outside the city. Recreation Gun Club No. 1 discovery well remains shut in to aid the recreation movement, while Recreation Gun Club No. 2 is drilling below 4000 feet and the company's second No. 1 northwest of the [illegible] is preparing to spud in.

Try Signal Hill

The St. Patricia Oil Company is reported to have closed a deal for [illegible] on the corner of Walnut and Lemon streets in the [illegible] southeasterly portion of the Signal Hill field and may drill several projects near the Colonial Company's property. The company's Hadley No. 1, one mile southeast of the town lot area at Potrero [illegible] with part of the needed equipment at Signal Hill, as it is [illegible] due to failure of arrival of [illegible] for resumption of drilling [illegible] feet.

Paul Blinn, independent operator, is preparing location for a derrick on the corner of State and Cherry streets which also is close to Western Oil and Refining Company's Harding No. 15, just brought in for 600 barrels of oil per day. Blinn has the corner of Molino and Walnut streets at Signal Hill. The Ohio Oil Company is constructing a derrick and will be ready [illegible] is within the next two weeks.

Lease Extension

The Inglewood City Council [illegible] has granted a ninety-day extension of time in the Associated Oil Company and the Sunset Pacific Company to enable both operators to make further tests on lower [illegible] sands at Potrero. An order [illegible] to show why the companies' permits to drill should not be revoked [illegible] brought by a number of property owners.

Counsel for Associated and Sunset Petroleum urged that the proposed tests [illegible] be pertinent and give the city a chance to determine whether various projects were good [illegible] compelling them to drill [illegible] wells.

Gas Gusher

Barton's No. 1 in [illegible] area at Potrero has settled to a daily flow of 165-barrel [illegible] gravity oil per day, cut about 20 per cent, and is one of the few producers in that area [illegible] anything. The Globe Le[illegible] University Company's No. [illegible] been in a few weeks and [illegible] cleaned out to bottom of [illegible] producing about ninety barrels per day.

Getty's Parker No. [illegible] on the corner of Queen and A[illegible] streets in the town lot area [illegible] pumps out about forty barrels of oil per day on the completion is near Y[illegible] Lockheed No. 1 and No. 2, [illegible] producers.

STAFF ENLARGED

Logan & Bryan & Co., members of the Los Angeles and San Francisco [illegible] exchanges, yesterday announced the association of Mack [illegible] with this organization. Mack is attached to the newly [illegible] Hollywood branch in the [illegible] picture colony.

LINDBERGH WILL GLIDE BY NIGHT

Bell Lanterns at Camp Tell Secret of Flights

Iron Eagle Would Utilize Before-Dawn Breeze

Aviator's Hero Aids Teacher With School Flock

BY TYREE DE LAPP
Times Staff Representative

LONG BEACH, Feb. 6.—Glider flights in search of night are to be attempted in the near future by Col. Charles A. Lindbergh, he admitted after making a short discussion of the problems which he and Hawley Bowlus, builder of the American glider sailplane flight record, set in their opposition to the latter's plan to use Tent O'Brien Ranch for the purpose.

The discussion took place at the end of a day during which the colonel made one flight in the sailplane, lasting 21 minutes, but which was devoted largely to a search for new take-off points in this rugged, rolling section of the Tehachapi Mountains.

WEATHER DATA

Earlier in the day the colonel also had had a long visit with Bowlus to discuss United States Meteorological Bureau data in this town to discuss local weather and wind conditions with Dr. Alexander Breese, in charge of the station. An unlooked for incident, which occurred during a visit to the weather station, was ample evidence that Lindbergh is still the hero of American youth.

Two girls down the road from the weather station is the daughter of the observer and the colonel and Mrs. Breese had started. Their schoolboys, evidently awed a bit, observed Lindbergh and the weather station and then scampered into the schoolhouse with the news.

SCHOOL DESERTED

Despite the protests of Mrs. Irene Oates, principal of the school, the entire school population of nine children deserted their books and ran down to the glider station for a look at their hero, a visit which his visit to town was the greatest inside oblivious to the fact until Mrs. Oates entered and explained the situation to him, telling him the children would not go back to their books until they had seen him.

Lindbergh good-naturedly came out and allowed the children to crawl over him and then lifted them back to the ground.

MEN STAYS BEHIND

The colonel had arrived at the glider camp in his automobile early in the morning but today he was accompanied by his wife, who arrived in Los Angeles at the home of Mrs. Jack Maddux. Soon after his arrival he and Mrs. Breese and several others at the camp went on the search for a new take-off point, with a side trip to the weather station.

Shortly during the afternoon, the colonel found what he considered a new take-off point he hurried back to the camp and said he intended to make a flight this afternoon from the point he had found, even though the wind's velocity was only between ten and twelve miles an hour, which is the minimum required for the flight.

WIND TOO WEAK

Delayed in the assembling of the glider and then it was found the take-off point, which was a quarter of a mile distant from the knoll where he took off yesterday. It is on the side of a series of hills which overlook Cuddy Lake and is about 200 feet above the lake.

When the Colonel took off to make the flight he immediately made a turn to the left. He kept on this course until he got over the lake and then the plane struck a current, which took it up 1000 feet, enabling the colonel to execute the turn in a wide sweep which covered about three miles in distance, according to find a favorable current. His search was entirely fruitless, for he ended one of his wide circles headed for an emergency field which was once used by Ryan on the outskirts of town. He made a perfect landing, the glider coming to a stop 100 feet after it hit the ground. Lindbergh helped dismantle the plane after it was brought to a stop.

GAINS MADE IN BATTLE ON BOX BILL

Palomares Expects Fact Finding Committee to be Named by House

F. J. PALOMARES

"I feel the presentation of California's case before Congress with regard to the Box bill and proposed legislation restricting Mexican labor has made an impression and a favorable one, and that a fact-finding commission will be appointed before any drastic law is passed," declared F. J. Palomares, manager of the Agricultural Labor Bureau of the San Joaquin Valley, Inc., on his return yesterday from Washington.

Mr. Palomares will meet with the agricultural committee of the State Chamber of Commerce at the Alexandria this morning and will make a report of his findings. The session will commence at 10 o'clock and is expected to last throughout the greater part of the day.

"California will be threatened with an acute shortage of farm labor through the passage of the proposed amendment to the immigration act to exclude Mexican field workers," said Mr. Palomares. "The California delegation stressed the point that the work done by Mexican labor is work that will not be undertaken by any other class of worker."

Palomares spoke for three-quarters of an hour before the Senate committee and pointed out the necessity of finding facts before passing drastic legislation.

"While our representatives were able to make some impression on the members of Congress who are fostering the exclusion act, the situation still is serious," he declared. "We must continue to press the needs of the State upon Washington to protect our agricultural interests and investments.

"If we can't grow cotton, melons, vegetables and fruits we will be compelled to keep our lands idle or turn to the growing of grains and dairy products in competition with vast acreages which are already oversupplying the market with these commodities."

AUTO CLUB TO CURB ITS SIGN WORK

Police Commission Takes Up Problem of Erecting Restrictive Warnings

Informed by the Automobile Club of Southern California that demands for automobile signs have become such a burden on the organization that the directors have decided that hereafter it will only put up directive or informative signs for traffic, and that the cost of all corrective or restrictive signs, such as those for boulevard stops, speed limits and street parking, will have to be borne by governmental agencies, the Police Commission yesterday referred the communication to its traffic committee for a report.

The club, which stated that its action was decided at a meeting of its board of directors on January 16, offered to put up restrictive signs at the cost of material and labor, as there is no desire to make a profit thereby. The club will continue to put up signs showing directions, curves and other information not based on laws or ordinances, at its own expense, the commission was informed.

CLOG DANCING POPULAR

A large number of men and women are enrolling in an evening class in clog dancing, according to announcement by the extension division of the University of California. The second meeting of the class will be next Tuesday at the Benton Junior High School, 1205 Pico Boulevard, at 7 p.m. The instructor is Miss Berenice H. Hooper of the physical education department of the University of California at Los Angeles.

FIESTA PLAN TO BE AIDED BY CHAMBER

Mission Play Group Gets Assistance in Campaign for Benefit Performance

To assist further in plans being made for an elaborate all-day fiesta to be held at San Gabriel on the 17th inst., in connection with the celebration of the three-thousandth performance of the Mission Play, directors of the historical production yesterday enlisted the aid of the Chamber of Commerce in conducting a campaign for a benefit show on the foregoing date.

Detailing the plans for the benefit performance that include the sale of tickets at $100 each, W. I. Hollingsworth, president of the Mission Play Corporation, said the revenue raised will be in the nature of an endowment to assist in the regular presentation of the play each season without fear of bad weather or other conditions that occasionally prevent good houses and adequate box-office returns. The campaign is being carried on in business circles as well as through the agency of clubs.

"The Mission Play has perhaps accomplished more than any other one agency in California to spread the romance and glamour of this country to the East and it certainly has had an important share in developing what many term the lure of California", said Hollingsworth. "The play has been an important influence in perpetuating our colorful history and is deserving of the fullest support possible."

PROTESTS DENIED

The City Council yesterday denied all protests against the improvement of Laurel Canyon Road from Pacoima avenue to Lookout Mountain Road and confirmed the assessments for the improvement of Denker avenue from Manchester avenue to Ninety-second street, as well as confirming the assessments for the lighting of Pico Boulevard from Beverly Drive to Camden Drive.

NEW OIL-CUT PLAN STARTS

Failure of Efforts to Reduce Production Causes Widespread Alarm in State

Failure to bring about State-wide curtailment of oil production has brought a new move by the oil industry as a whole in a final effort to bring down the State's daily output of 703,000 barrels to 609,000 barrels.

It was announced yesterday that the principal producing fields in the State are to be thrown wide open to enable a new potential to be established so that officials in charge of the situation may work out a better curtailment plan than that which has been in effect for the last three months.

MEETING CALLED TODAY

A. T. Jergins, recently appointed a chairman of the Signal Hill general committee, on State-wide curtailment, has notified all operators in that field to meet at the Long Beach City Hall today to discuss further a situation that is thought to border on a catastrophe for the oil industry.

A committee headed by John A. Brown, president of the General Petroleum Corporation, as chairman for the Ventura-avenue general committee, held a session yesterday, and with the Signal Hill operators meeting today and the Santa Fe Springs field's operators meeting tomorrow morning, it is expected that a new plan will be prepared within a few days.

One of the first moves to determine the State's potential will be the openingup of the Elwood field. Wil-

Religious Group Protests Ban on Yale Educator

Criticizing the action of the United States Circuit Court of Connecticut in denying citizenship to D. C. Macintosh of the divinity school of Yale University, members of the Religious Education Association of Southern California yesterday adopted a resolution requesting "all those involved in the case to reconsider the action taken."

The resolution, presented by George Albert Coe, calls attention to the fact that Prof. Macintosh was denied his application for citizenship on the grounds of his statement that he "considers his first allegiance to God and that he weighs his duties as a citizen accordingly."

"We regard the decision of the court as contrary to the traditions of America and as morally and religiously intolerable," reads the resolution.

COURT WRIT PUTS LOCK ON FILM STUDIO

Eqhipment of James Cruze Attached in Suit Brought on Eastern Avertising

Studio effects and equipment belonging to James Cruze, Inc., 1440 North Gower street, were being held by the Sheriff's office yesterday. The studio and office property were placed in custody by virtue of a writ of attachment issued in a civil suit brought against the Cruze organization and Henry D. Meyer, an official, for $17,463.61 by Reid Fulkman.

On the interposition of Elizabeth K. Chadwick to the effect that she owned property included in the attachment to the value of $50,000 the writ was released as to that property.

According to George W. Warfield, attorney for the plaintiff, Fulkman is the assignee of the General Outdoor Advertising Company of New York. The money being sued for is asserted to be due for electrical advertising along Broadway, New York.

The Cruze organization, according to J. Allan Frankey, attorney for Mrs. Chadwick, purchased the property under a sales contract and failed to keep it in effect, the property, therefore, reverting to his client.

Following release of the writ as it affected Mrs. Chadwick, a watchman placed at the studio was released from duty.

MISSING CHILDREN IN POLICE CUSTODY

Three children reported missing from their home by their father, George E. Robinson, 1705 San Vicente street, Compton, were located in custody of the Compton Police Department yesterday by Deputy Sheriff Davidson of the homicide detail. Davidson reported the two younger children, Earl W. and Margaret A. Robinson, 10 and 12 years of age, respectively, would be returned to their father. The eldest, Edson E. Robinson, 14, is still being held by the police, he reported.

RITZ-CARLTON HOTEL PLANNED

Construction Will Begin at Once in Hollywood

Link in World-wide Chain Will Cost $5,000,000

Details to Be Told at Dinner on Site This Evening

Immediate beginning of construction of a $5,000,000 Ritz-Carlton hotel in Hollywood will be announced at an outdoor dinner on the site at 6 o'clock this evening, when the diners will hear the news radioed to them from the New York headquarters of the famous world-wide hotel chain. It will be in the Hollywood hills between Vine street and Beachwood Drive, above Franklin avenue.

The structure will be of Mediterranean type. Its main building will contain 300 rooms. Approximately 200 more will be contained in villas variously located in the twenty-two acres surrounding the principal structure. The buildings and grounds will tower over the film capital some 700 feet, affording occupants a magnificent panoramic view, and Hollywood a spectacular landmark.

WHITEMAN TO PLAY

Gilbert H. Beesemyer, president of the Hollywood Ritz-Carlton Holding Company, is directing the dinner on the site this evening. More than 200 prominent persons are expected to attend. John G. Mott will be master of ceremonies. President Carl Gray of the Union Pacific System will be the principal speaker. John Steven McGroarty will broadcast the proceedings. Paul Whiteman and his orchestra will provide music. Otto K. Olesen's searchlight batteries will provide illumination. The Goodyear blimp Volunteer will cruise in and out of the sky illumination.

For one hour the orchestra will provide music while the banqueting is in progress, and it will be broadcast by radio. Then the speaking part of the event will take place, and at an agreed-upon time the loud speaker will broadcast the announcement which will be made by George McAneny, president of the Ritz-Carlton Management Corporation, in the New York Ritz-Carlton.

MORE ROOMS LATER

The announcement will say, according to advance information, that the Hollywood Ritz-Carlton will be the crowning achievement of the great Ritz-Carlton hotel chain of London, Paris, the Riviera, Switzerland, North and South America. The chain's clientele moving from one to another of its twenty-seven establishments at principal places in the world is said to be virtually enough to insure immediate capacity occupancy, according to Mr. Beesemyer. Plans are so drawn that 500 more rooms can be added in harmony with the ensemble.

Gordon B. Kaufman is the architect. Designs for the exterior have been completed. The approach to the hotel is to have a grand staircase effect extending the entire distance between Vine and Beachwood. There will be patios, loggias, terraces and all the other architectural devices that will permit guests to enjoy outdoor California and the scenery of Hollywood's hills, and the great coastal valley below. Provision is made for all sorts of adjunct shops and establishments necessary to such an institution.

Thompson Brothers negotiated the site purchase. It was held in small parcels by various owners. The site is valued at more than $2,000,000, it was announced. Many Californians participated in the financing and organization work preparatory to insuring actuality of the project.

OFFICERS LISTED

Officers and directors of the hotel and holding company are: President, Gilbert H. Beesemyer; vice-presidents, S. H. Woodruff, P. M. Longan, George Newberger; secretary and treasurer, Victor H. Clarke; directors, A. Z. Taft, William Holman, D. W. Pontius, John M. Longan, Arthur S. Bent, Clarence A. Barker, F. W. Braun, Harry Chandler, Robert D. Clarke, William May Garland, Roger Goodan, Samuel M. Haskins, R. B. Robertson, Robert I. Rogers, James A. Talbot and J. B. Van Nuys, all of Los Angeles, and George McAneny, Albert Keller, Errol Kerr, Duncan E. Harris and Leonard G. McAneny, all of New York.

Among the other underwriters are Dr. Frank W. Acker, Merritt H.

PARDON my skepticism if I do not seem to weep because our old friend "Death Valley" Scotty wails over the loss of $6,000,000 in the New York stock market.

In one of the accounts of this disaster I observe that Scotty fears—just trembles with fear—lest he lose his new collection of nine palaces in Death Valley.

The next thing on the program will doubtless be that some hotel company announces it has taken over Scotty's palace and will graciously extend its hospitality to paying guests.

LET'S HAVE LOTS!

The San Diego Weather Bureau announces that it has been obliged to employ more help. Judging from the weather prophecies we have read this season, I should say that this is a grand idea. There is so much sorrow in the world that we need plenty of comedians.

CHILDREN AT THE WHEEL

A Coroner's jury at Upland opines that the fatal accident to five boys on the Mt. San Antonio trail was due to faulty automobile brakes. I dare say that the fact that a 14-year-old boy was trying to drive the car had nothing to do with the case. The age at which this State issues drivers' licenses is absurd as well as dangerous. Children have no place driving in the traffic. Eighteen years is low enough.

HONOR WHERE DUE

The Boy Scouts of Ontario have honored one of the greatest men in the history of California in erecting a memorial to the memory of Juan Bautista de Anza. It is shameful that we know so little about him.

He was the first explorer to come overland to California. Charles F. Lummis tells of asking the chief scout of the United States Army if such a feat as De Anza's could be accomplished (without telling him that it had been done.) "I couldn't do it," said the scout. "And nobody could do it. It just can't be did."

In De Anza's party were some 240 men, women and children colonists. So tenderly and bravely did he care for them during that terrible march that he finished the journey with 242—babies having been born en route.

From some eighteen head of stock that he drove came the great herds that "grazed on a thousand hills"—in the hacienda days of California.

CHIVALRY

De Anza founded Monterey and San Francisco. When his work was done and he started back to Mexico, the new colonists followed him on foot for miles, their faces streaming with tears at the parting. De Anza was a cavall without fear and without reproach.

OUR WINDY CONSTITUTION

Gov. Young has appointed a commission to look into the matter of adopting a new constitution for the State of California. As it stands it is a hodge podge document. It prescribes every known fact of life and most of the delusions. It settles everything except the best way to boil kidney beans. And I am not at all sure that—if you studied the document long enough—you would not find that, also.

RIVER PROJECT TO BE AIDED

Supervisors Promise to Give All Possible Help for San Gabriel Channel Extension

Assurance that the county will give whatever aid it can to the projected extension of the San Gabriel River channel from its present terminus in Alamitos Bay to the ocean was given yesterday by the Board of Supervisors, in response to a request of City Manager Buck of Long Beach.

Buck pointed out that extension of State street southeast from Long Beach to a junction with the Roosevelt Highway at Seal Beach will be held in abeyance pending acquisition by the county of a right-of-way in the Alamitos Bay district.

The State, Buck said, has already appropriated $550,000 for the work to make State street a part of the coast highway system, but the project has met a legal obstacle through lack of a right-of-way.

Buck was informed of the legal opinion of County Counsel Mattoon and Flood Control Counsel Dowds that the river channel cannot be extended with funds from the sale of the San Gabriel high dam bonds.

Such a move had been suggested by the Long Beach City Council, but the legal opinion held that the San Gabriel dam bonds were voted for the purpose of "conserving and controlling" the flood waters of the San Gabriel Canyon. Inasmuch as extension of the river channel from the bay to the ocean would not, according to the opinion, have any effect on conserving the flood waters, bond money cannot be used for the project. The opinion suggests that the most feasible method of approaching the improvement would be through submitting a new bond issue to the voters.

The board intimated yesterday that as an aid to solving the problem arising from the lack of a highway right-of-way through the district, it will instruct County Flood Control Engineer Eaton to ascertain the cost of condemning a strip of land necessary to provide for extension of the river channel.

If the land can be condemned and funds provided for the improvement, the State then can proceed with the extension of State street to Seal Beach, it was said.

Residents of Long Beach also have been urging the extension of the river channel to the ocean as a means of insuring for Alamitos

HODGEPODGE OF BADGES REVEALED BY SURVEY

Adoption of a standard and uniform design for all county badges is recommended in a report submitted to the Board of Supervisors yesterday by County Purchasing Agent Russell.

Russell, who was requested last September to make a survey of the badge situation in Los Angeles county, reported there are ninety-four varieties of badges outstanding. Of this number, the report states, sixty varieties were authorized by the county badge ordinance, eleven have a doubtful status, and twenty-three are unauthorized.

The report also discloses that the county has purchased 2728 badges for its various officials during the past three years, 880 of which have been furnished the Sheriff's office. Courtesy badges issued during the three-year period total 546, according to the report.

Russell also states there is no authorized individual badge for the Sheriff, District Attorney, superintendent of motor patrol, Coroner and deputy coroner.

Commenting on the numerous varieties of badges outstanding, Russell's report reveals that the California bears incorporated in the designs show many variations, some of which are "unnatural and inartistic."

The report recommends that all badges for all departments be made to a uniform design, and that the county own the die and register it for protection.

The Supervisors took the report under submission after asking the county counsel to straighten out legal problems incident to the issuance of unauthorized badges. The county counsel also was requested to recommend an official badge that will be in conformity with the ordinance.

Fellow-members of Santa Monica Realty Board Restate Stand Against Rock Plant in Hills

By a "Times" Staff Correspondent

SANTA MONICA, Feb. 6.—Opposition to the locating of the Bell rock-crusher and cement plant in the Santa Monica Mountains residential area was reiterated today by the Santa Monica Bay District Realty Board. The restatement of the board's opposition, cast in a resolution at a meeting in the Golden Pheasant Cafe, was particularly significant because of the fact that Alphonso Bell is a member of the organization.

The subject was brought up by Ed B. Conliss and was discussed by members, all voicing opposition. T. A. Johnson said that no reason had developed for changing the attitude of the board since its meeting of May, 1928, when it went on record opposing the industrialization of the Santa Monica Mountains area. He offered a resolution reaffirming the stand taken at that time. The resolution was adopted and a copy was ordered forwarded to Mayor Porter.

Louis T. Busch, a dealer in mountain acreage, was emphatic in his opposition to permitting a cement plant to be located in the mountains. He reported that the prospect of such invasion by industry already had prevented substantial development. A. A. Webber also spoke against permitting the cement plant in the residential area. In going on record the Bay District Realty Board joined with other bodies in that region in united opposition to the rock crusher and cement project.

PORTER TO RIDE OVER PROPOSED SITE TODAY

A horseback ride over the site of the proposed quarry and rock-crushing plant of Alphonso Bell's Los Angeles Mountain Park Company in the Santa Monica Mountains will be undertaken this morning by Mayor Porter. The ordinance granting Bell's application for a special zone of the property is now on the Mayor's desk. He has until Monday night to sign or veto it.

Mayor Porter is scheduled to leave

DESERT ENIGMA SOLVES ITSELF

Death Valley Scotty's Mine Located in Chicago

Admission Establishes Long-Suspected Hoax

Busted Bonanza Leaves Only Hat and Cravat

Death Valley Scotty in years past may have been a colorful figure as the possessor of a mythical mine of gold and a flair for publicity, but last night as the mists of glamour faded he stood revealed only as an aged and drab resident of the lowest spot on earth, still vainly clinging to his "props"—a battered range hat and a red necktie.

Back from a proposed trip "to gay Paree," as he termed it, but on which he got only as far as Chicago, where he said he was "broke," Walter Scott—for that's his less picturesque name—announces that his inferred wealth of Croesus in the pit of Death Valley is a fake, and for two-score years he's got along on other people's money.

Moreover, the man, who in the days he was presumed by the credulous to own a gold-lined cave sought publicity avidly, has suddenly become uncommonly taciturn, locked himself in a downtown hotel room to write his autobiography—for a bit of cash—and carefully shuns all interviewers.

DISPLAYS TEMPERAMENT

Hotel clerks and telephone operators to inquirers announce blandly that "Mr. Scott does not wish to be disturbed." The "Mr. Scott" apparently was having quite a struggle getting his gnarled fingers accustomed to pen, for his tactics of avoidance to all continued throughout the day. A house surgeon is understood to be in attendance on "the writer" should the grip on the pen staff become to painful or the staff endangered.

The erstwhile miner, resort builder and renowned press agent of Death Valley arrived in California from the East yesterday. With the suddenly acquired temperament of a motion-picture actress, or other great and near-great anxious to avoid worshiping crowds and public acclaim, "Mr. Scott" debarked at San Bernardino.

Back among people who have known him for thirty years, he had nothing to say of the $6,000,000 stock market losses which, he previously announced to gaping easterners, had stopped short his proposed Parisian tour.

INTO SECLUSION

"Mr. Scott" grinned sheepishly, some observers thought, as he went from the train to a San Bernardino hotel for breakfast. Most of the old-timers thereabouts just stood on the curbstones and snickered as he and his entourage went by. His stories in the San Bernardino country are accepted with a shrug of the shoulders by the elder residents for since the days they tossed bridle reins over hitching racks outside saloons he has been noted as a yarn-spinner.

Immediately after breakfast "Mr. Scott" plumped down in a waiting, well-upholstered motor and hastened to Los Angeles. Going at once into seclusion of his hotel room, leaving imperious orders that he be not disturbed, he was reported to have begun wooing the biographical muse ardently. No bulletins were issued as to progress on the compilation.

BACKER REVEALED

Death Valley Scotty made the revealations about himself on the train speeding westward. His story now is that for more than twenty years his close friend, A. M. Johnson, millionaire retired life insurance executive, has been bountifully supplying his financial needs from time to time, and that it is Johnson's wealth that is used in the erection of the Moorish castles and what not in Death Valley.

For this strange combination "Mr. Scott" appears to have been the mouthpiece, and his past interviews about hidden wealth, development in Death Valley, airplane and any other matter called to his attention, were unique. The newspaperman who has never interviewed Scotty has never "been given a story." It was only yesterday, however, that "Mr. Scott" was overcome with the shrinking shyness peculiar to the poet's violet and his desires for the calm seclusion of authorship asserted themselves.

Reporters remarked to themselves the metamorphosis in the desert man: when he was presumably wealthy it was publicity he sought and craved; now, alas, in straightened circumstance, the well-known ungrammatical blare from Death Valley Scotty does not issue. It is a strange reversal, they say. But literary folk sometimes get that way.

NEVER HAD CLAIM

Now that Death Valley Scotty has offered himself for inquiry it appears that he never has filed on a gold claim, and responsible mining men who have investigated his past inferences to a heavy-producing mine find that he has never offered any considerable amount of ore anywhere for smelting.

It has long been known that to the west of Shoshone Scott had a camp in a gulch running into Death Valley, approximately twenty miles from the bizarre and elaborate establishment now under construction. Across a hogback in the same valley is another gulch where three English brothers named Ashford had staked out a line of claims.

On previous expeditions of engineers into the valley with Scott, who expected him to show his mine properties, it is affirmed by veteran prospectors that Scott piloted the expedition to the Ashford claims where there were some outcroppings that looked favorable to gold production.

Death Valley Scotty may have had the temerity to hold secure the thought that all who read the stories printed about him and the mythical mine were taken with some seriousness. He may have even thought that the reported dread fate of those who tried to find the source of his reputed wealth found sound consideration.

NONPRODUCER

Whether he knew it does not matter, but many years ago he was the object of one of the most thorough investigations in the history of mining, and it is the results of that investigation that long ago to the mining profession set him aside as a nonproducer. Had the results of that investigation, carried out thoroughly and deeply by a most responsible Mexican syndicate, been published, Scott would have been saved the embarrassment of his latest announcement. But, of course, that may have stayed the hand of authorship.

STOCKS AND BONDS? HA!

Death Valley Scotty is no stranger or mystic to Lulsn J. Henderson, leading merchant and one of the oldest and most respected citizens of Barstow, whom Scotty through the years has "touched" for a bit of a loan occasionally, apparently when the reported gold-pit wasn't disgorging as it should.

"Yes, sure, I know Scott," Mr. Henderson said yesterday, "and the folks around here never put any stock in that gold-mine tale. We thought everybody knew Scott was getting money right along from Johnson. Scotty used to send him wires and then the money would come to San Bernardino for him. We never figured Scott to have a great deal of money, but he always seemed to have some, and when he didn't have, 'most everybody gets low once in a while, why, we'd loan him $50 or $100 until some more came to him. Stocks and bonds? Why he never had any in his life."

Scott apparently learned the value of showmanship and the benefits of publicity in his circus days with Buffalo Bill. About that time he landed in the vicinity of Death Valley, and with his eccentricities, white battered hat and red neckties, clothed himself in mystery, except to miners and prospectors who knew him, and let the public have the interviews.

While operating over the sun-baked sands of the valley, Scott met Johnson, who was there for his health, and the two became firm friends; it was a friendship that endured and was valuable — to Scott.

Scott's first taste of publicity came in 1905 when he chartered a special Santa Fe train which set an all-time speed mark from Los Angeles to Chicago.

The 1905 dash gave Scott a train-riding complex, and it takes no grizzled reporter to remember that about every time he came to Los Angeles since then he revived his announcement—but to small publicity effect. In September, 1926, he blared forth arrangements that never materialized. The following May he declared the same intention with the same results.

TRIP FALLS THROUGH

"He came into our office with a big roll of bills," Assistant Traffic Manager Duffy of the Santa Fe recalled yesterday, "and said he wanted to beat the 1905 record. We told him it would cost a lot more than twenty-two years before. He said the first one cost $8900 and that he would give us $10,000 and we could make it on what it cost and we could give him back the change. Well, he dickered a lot, but he did not leave the $10,000 and the trip was not made."

Traffic Manager Robertson of the Union Pacific had the same experience with the transcontinental railsplitter.

"But he never ordered the train," Robertson said. "He met one of our men one day and in the most casual conversation said he was going to make the run again, but we never heard any more of it."

Another exploit that brought him notoriety was a gun fracas that became known as the "battle of Wingate Pass." Scott was escorting some easterners to his desert rendezvous and while in the wilderness of Wingate Pass the party was set upon by a group of masked men, whom the "tenderfeet" took to be bandits.

Scott, with a noble gesture to defend his guests, whipped out his forty-five revolver, and let 'em have it. One of the bold, bad bandits dropped wounded. The wounded man proved to be Bill Scott, the adventurer's brother.

Bill Scott, anatomically wounded so that he slept on his stomach for weeks, howled loud and long when the law got there, declaiming there was "no hold-up in Wingate Pass," explaining that they were just staging a little show to intimidate the easterners. The pillers at that time reported that Bill said some harsh things about his brother.

GOLD TRAIL ENDS FOR MYSTERY MAN

"Death Valley Scotty"

SECRET GLAB CLEWS GIVEN

Two New Witnesses Present Valuable Leads

Information May Reveal Disposal of Gun

Detective Under Suspicion of Suppressing Evidence

Two new witnesses who are asserted to have information that may reveal the disposition of the gun used in the killing of John R. Glab, wealthy retired druggist, were questioned by Capt. Cato of the police homicide detail yesterday. The story as related by the witnesses, a man and a woman, according to Cato, resulted in his summoning to his office a detective now at the Wilshire station for questioning.

Intimations that important evidence at the time of the murder had been suppressed or hidden, were contained in a statement made by Cato. The names of the two new witnesses were withheld by Cato, but he said they have not hitherto figured in the investigation although they are asserted to have provided a detective with information at the time of the crime that might have led to a quick solution.

DETECTIVE'S NAME SECRET

The name of the detective to be questioned was not revealed, but it was asserted at police headquarters that he is supposed to have obtained evidence in his investigation which never reached the records of the police department.

Another development in the case was the discovery that shortly after Glab's murder, Mrs. Hazel Glab, the widow, made a late night visit to a hospital to see Mrs. Dorothy K. Simmons, wife of Fred C. Simmons, who is in jail with conspiring with W. R. McIntyre to conceal an automobile that figured in a hit-and-run death accident. Simmons was a partner of McIntyre and both lived at 514 Delaware Road.

The purpose of the night visit is expected to be revealed when Mrs. Simmons is questioned by Capt. Cato.

WOMEN TO BE QUIZZED

Mrs. Simmons and Miss Ruby Burroughs, who accompanied McIntyre on the night of January 1 when Mrs. Margaret Towers was run down and killed, facid each other in the office of Capt. Bright of the Sheriff's homicide squad yesterday in connection with new charges that were filed against Simmons and McIntyre. It was learned from Mrs. Simmons that her husband formerly had been a Los Angeles policeman. McIntyre, formerly had been a city policeman also.

McIntyre is charged with murder in connection with Mrs. Towers's death, and yesterday another complain was filed by Capt. Bright charging conspiracy against both men. This was done, according to Capt. Bright, to hold Simmons while the police continue their investigation in the Glab murder case.

Mrs. Simmons and Miss Burroughs are to be questioned by Capt. Cato, as the Glab case is under the police jurisdiction. Wayne Jordan, Chief Deputy District Attorney, conferred with Capt. Bright and Capt. Cato yesterday and asserted that the finding of the missing gun would complete the Glab case and he urged the police to make every effort to discover what became of it.

ACTION DELAYED ON CANYON SURVEY FUND

Disposition of County Flood Control Engineer Eaton's request for $25,000 to make a survey of the San Gabriel Canyon yesterday was delayed until Monday by the Board of Supervisors. If voted, the fund will be employed to determine the feasibility of constructing one or more low dams in the canyon to replace the recently abandoned proposed high dam.

The Supervisors also put over to Monday discussion of what may or may not be done with the $21,000,000 surplus bond money remaining in the county treasury as a result of abandonment of the high dam plans.

Legal opinion seems to indicate that this sum can be used only for the purpose for which it was originally voted: "Control and conservation of the flood waters of the San Gabriel River Canyon."

Snyder Found Guilty of Theft

John P. Snyder, dealer in used automobiles, was convicted of two counts of grand theft at the close of his trial in Superior Judge Hardy's court yesterday.

It was charged that Snyder dealt exclusively in expensive automobiles which were sold from year to year without drastic model changes.

According to Dep. Dist.-Atty. Jesse Frampton, who prosecuted the case, Snyder changed the engine numbers of several automobiles to conform to a late model series and then refinanced them for more than they were worth.

Father Retains Custody of Son

Another chapter in the three-year legal battle over the custody of 5-year-old David Gury was written yesterday when the District Court of Appeal denied the petition of Mrs. Zaida Gury of Long Beach for a writ of habeas corpus to regain possession of the boy.

As the result of an opinion handed down by Justice Houser the child will remain in the custody of his father, Chester Gury.

STAGE LINE EXPANSION DISCUSSED

Bus Transit Executives Confer With Haugh on Union Pacific Program

Plans for further expansion of the activities of the motor stage subsidiaries of the Union Pacific were under discussion in Los Angeles yesterday on the arrival of R. J. Walsh, president of the Interstate Transit Lines, and B. T. Peyton, president of the Interstate Coach Company and general manager of the Union Pacific Stages, inc.

J. L. HOUGH

The two motor stage executives met J. L. Haugh, vice-president of the Union Pacific System, here, for conference on additional equipment, possible extension of routes and a survey of conditions pertinent to the motorized feeder lines of the railroad system.

"While the Union Pacific's transcontinental bus lines have been in operation only a few months, "Mr. Haugh said, "The business has been up to expectations. The economy of motor bus travel with railroad certainty seems to have met with public apprecation. Much heavier traffic is in sight for the summer months, particularly westbound, and it is for a discussion of this known factor and the necessity of preparing for it by the purchase of additional equipment that this meeting is being held in the Los Angeles."

WIFE LIBERATED FROM TRAVELING LECTURER

Mrs. Elizabeth Fern Allison was granted a decree of divorce yesterday from Sydney Franklin Allison, traveling lecturer, by Superior Judge Tuttle on the grounds of desertion. Mrs. Allison besides being given an interlocutory decree of divorce was granted the custody of her daughter, Susanna, 4 years of age, and was given $50 a month for the child's support. She was represented in court by Attorney William H. Irons. The wife testified that her husband earns $400 a month as a traveling lecturer.

RELATIVES CONTEST FOR $7000 ESTATE

the San Diego Air Board of Control, who is here as an official observer for the National Aeronautical Association, announced the official time of the colonel's flight as twenty-one minutes, ten seconds, which is ten minutes less than the colonel's longest flight, which he made in San Diego on his first attempt to pilot a glider.

After Lindbergh had helped disassemble the Bowlus glider, he helped in the assembling of a glider owned by Dan Cardiff of Bakersfield and went, to aid Cardiff take off from the same knoll where he had started his own flight. Cardiff made a flight of about ten minutes and then Lindbergh returned to the camp and aided in disassembling the Cardiff glider. He said then that he will return to Los Angeles tonight, but will be back here early tomorrow morning to resume his glider experiments.

LANTERNS STILL SECRET

It was the discovery of a dozen red lanterns in the Bowlus camp which forced from Lindbergh the admission that he contemplated night gliding. The lanterns, he admitted, are to be used as beacon lights to warn of dangerous promontories in the area over which the glider will circle.

His main reason for wishing to glide at night, he said, is the fact that those who have been staying overnight at the camp have observed that at about 3 a.m. every day since they've been here there has been a breeze of considerably more velocity than is usual in the daylight hours and it has generally lasted until dawn. He wishes, he said, to take advantage of this breeze for flights of much longer duration than any he has attempted to date.

There are no lighted fields here to guide a glider pilot in a night landing, and night flights, if any, will not be made where the day hops have taken place.

Dr. Breese announced that he had obtained for Lindbergh a special weather forecast for tomorrow from D. M. Little, in charge of the western division of Airways Weather Information. This forcast announces that a storm is rising 800 miles offshore which should result in freshening breezes Friday, promising the Colonel a good flight.

TERRAIN FAMILIAR

In his two daylight flights in this region, the colonel has reconnoitered the region and is fairly familiar already with the air currents caused by the many dips and rises of the terrain. He also has observed the presence of many high-tension wires, but he believes he can fix their location well enough to be able to avoid them at night.

In discussing his present great interest in glider flying, he pointed out that it is caused mainly by his belief that it will prove a great factor in areonautical education. He said that the essential principles of flight are the same for gliders and for planes with motors. Mastery, then, of glider flight is a logical preparation for mastery of airplane flight, he said.

The economy of glider flying is what appeals to him chiefly in this connection, he added, for it will enable great numbers of persons who cannot afford to operate an airplane to gain a fine proficiency in the principles of flight by using a glider as their mode of education.

Negro Stabbed When He Buries Baby in Yard

Fianzo Morris, a negro, of 1307 East Fifteenth street, was booked at the Newton-street police station on the charge of having buried a newborn dead baby in the rear yard of his home yesterday. Morris, who is a Pullman porter, told the police he buried the baby in the yard because he had no money to hire an undertaker.

The story was learned when his wife, Sletia Morris, stabbed him with an ice pick when she learned how he had disposed of the baby's body and the police were called.

City Attorney Werner yesterday notified the City Council that final judgment has been entered in the condemnation proceedings to acquire land for the widening of Glendale Boulevard between Glenhurst avenue and Orsensward Road and that the property now can be improved for street purposes.

PORTER AIDE CONVICTED IN RUM CASE

Woman Campaigner Fails to Offer Trial Defense Despite Threat of Fight

Mrs. Florence E. Gilmore, member of the women's divisions in Mayor Porter's headquarters and a speaker for him during his campaign, was found guilty of liquor possession yesterday by a jury in Municipal Judge Bogue's court. She will be sentenced Monday.

Mrs. Gilmore, in spite of her announced intention of fighting the liquor charge, which she declared was a "frame-up" offered no defense at the trial yesterday. Her attorney, Henry Huntington, contended that the wine introduced in evidence by Chief Trial Deputy City Prosecutor Ederhard was not alcoholic at the time it was seized by the police. B. H. Genaro, assistant city chemist, admitted on cross-examination that he did not test the wine until a month after Mrs. Gilmore's arrest, on December 28, 1929.

Officers G. P. Magness, J. A. Donahue and J. S. Ellery, who made the arrest, are under investigation by the Police Commission on charges made by the woman. They testified yesterday that they entered her home at 161 West Twenty-seventh street, accompanied by J. C. Hefley, who told them he had had two drinks there, and found about two gallons of wine in a five-gallon bottle. Hefley, who was also called as a witness, testified that Mrs. Gilmore gave him the drinks. It was erroneously stated in a previous account of the arrest that Mrs. Gilmore was residing at 646 West Fifteenth street at the time.

NEW OIL CUT PLAN STARTED

liam G. McDuffie, president of the Pacific Western Oil Company, is chairman of the Elwood general committee and will personally observe the production possibilities of that field. Elwood is expected to show a potential of approximately 55,000 barrels per day, because wells that have been shut in for weeks will again be allowed to produce. Next week, Santa Fe Springs will be relieved of its curtailment program for six days to determine what it can really produce. It is hoped through this method to accurately gauge what figure may be adopted as the State's daily output under curtailment.

ALARM GROWING

That the oil outlook in this State is viewed with increasing alarm by leaders in the industry is shown by a series of meetings held behind closed doors during the past week. At the conclusion of the meetings spokesmen for the officials announced that an effort would be made to cut the State's daily flow of 700,000 barrels to 600,000 barrels.

Praise for the fields in the San Joaquin Valley was given by officials who are attempting to halt new production. It was stated that the Kern Front, Coalinga, Fruitvale, Round Mountain, Lost Hills, Elk Hills and Maricopa Flat districts have shown a real inclination to heed the curtailment order, but despite what had already been accomplished a greater cut will be requested.

SECOND-STREET JOB RECEIVES APPROVAL

The improvement of Second street from Figueroa street to Glendale Boulevard was approved yesterday by the City Council. The street is to be ninety feet wide, with a seventy-foot paved roadway from Glendale to Boylston street and a sixty-foot roadway from Boylston to Figueroa. The file is to be referred to the Traffic and Street Lighting Committee for consideration of the installation of combination ornamental lighting and trolley-wire poles.

Weber Baking Plant Scene of Daring Robbery

Bandit Gets $1096 in Cash and $4000 in Checks

Eleven Men Cowed and One Forced to Open Safe

One of the most audacious robberies of recent years was perpetrated yesterday when a youthful bandit, operating without confederates, held up eleven employees in the Weber Baking Company plant at 5820 South San Pedro street, forced one of them to open an office safe and escaped with $1096 in cash and $4000 worth of checks.

The robbery occurred about 9:30 a.m. First entering an outer office the bandit menaced Richard Hoyt, sales manager, with a leveled pistol, and threatened him with death if he resisted. Then using Hoyt as a screen in front of him he walked back into a large office and herded E. F. McNullen, cashier, and eight other employees into a corner.

L. Le Barts, chief book-keeper, was then compelled to open a safe and hand over the cash and checks to the bandit. With Hoyt still held as a temporary hostage the bandit backed to the door of the outer office. Whirling suddenly he dashed through the doorway and slammed and locked the door behind him.

It is believed that he then quietly walked out of the front entrance of the plant and escaped in an automobile seen parked half a block away.

The bandit was described as about 25 years of age, five feet eight inches in height, weighing about 130 pounds, wearing a light tan suit and light gray hat, and carrying an automatic pistol.

PROJECT APPROVED

The City Council yesterday approved the recommendation of the Public Works Committee calling for the improvement of Clybourn avenue from San Fernando Road to Vanowen street with eight-inch pavement, forty feet wide.

Maurice Graham, Western Express pilot, who disappeared January 11, still is missing. According to word received at the Los Angeles office of the company yesterday, the latest clew, which came from miners who asserted they saw flames on a mountain near Bingham, Utah, has failed.

Jimmie Carson flew out of Salt Lake City yesterday and thoroughly covered the territory in question, the Los Angeles office was advised. A searching party left Morgan yesterday morning on a ground expedition to the scene of the reported crash. The trip entails a thirty-five-mile journey over exceedingly rough country.

The miners, T. H. and Ray Wescott, Donald Cox and Thomas Swineheart, all of Provo, Utah, arrived at Eureka Tuesday, after making held snowbound at their mining claim for nearly two months. They said that on the morning of Graham's disappearance a flame suddenly flared up on a mountain and after burning fiercely for some time died down.

THE BIG MONEY

The Morgan Bank will be invited to become the American member of the Bank of International Settlements. It looks as if the first stunt for the bank would be the placing of German bonds to the amount of $225,000,000 to cover early payments. Any plutocrat wishing to take this issue may stand up and show his hand.

BABES AND TOBACCO

A woman explorer reports the discovery of a tribe on the Admiralty Islands in which the infants are able to smoke tobacco and swim like mermaids at the age of 3. It seems odd to see the babies blowing clouds in the air, but there they are. Also they learn to swim before they can walk. These islands are in the Bismarck Archipelago off the north coast of Papua and formerly belonged to Germany. Now they are under the British flag. The inhabitants used to be cannibals and it is feared that the infants inherited their nicotinic influences as a result of their forbears dining on some of the highly smoked tars who had been taken while prospecting in the islands.

NO MORE COLLECTIONS

The Quaker church which President Hoover attends in Washington is crowded at most services—the visitors being largely strangers or those moved by a curiosity to see the Executive at worship. They have been rather liberal givers and the Sunday collections have been four or five times heavier than in olden days. This plethora of coin finally worried the elders and they refused to profit further by their advantage. So they have abandoned the contribution box entirely. Regular members of the church may send in their offerings every month, but not a penny will be taken from casual customers. This is a delightful picture to contemplate and would be hard to duplicate in any other denomination.

MARRIED WOMEN WORKERS

"Do married women seek jobs outside the home from necessity or choice?" is a question often asked. If a close-up study of a group of Denver women by Miss Emily Brown of the Women's Bureau of the Department of Labor be taken as a cross-section, it would appear that nine-tenths of the wives of the country who work outside the home do so because they think they need to. Still not a few of the women whose sources of income were ascertained had none except their own earnings.

More than 60 per cent of the women whose husbands were divorced, separated, deserting, ill, unemployed or in prison had children under 16 years of age. Jobs were secured by 36 per cent of the matrons applying for them. How the rest of the applicants in need of wages met their economic problems was not ascertained.

Of course, conditions in Denver as to the status of women applying for work may be quite different from those in Los Angeles or other American cities, but they tend to show that married women are seeking jobs in greater proportions year by year. In fact, the number has become so large in Massachusetts that a resolution was recently introduced in the House of Representatives of that State asking for an investigation as to their actual needs and whether they are displacing single women in needy circumstances. An effort will be made at an evening-up process in this respect, so that there may be less complaint among those who, though worthy of being given jobs, cannot get them.

All over the country women are storming the offices for jobs, but despite keen competition there has been a general upward trend of women's earnings in such places during the last few years, though they still average only about half the salaries received by men, being paid from $20 to $30 a week, as a rule, though much more is granted them in exceptional cases.

It seems strange that so many more married women living with their husbands should be seeking outside work in these times than in former years. It probably would not be unfair to assume that many of them hunt jobs to fill imaginary needs.

FIRST FRUITS AT LONDON

The reported agreement of the British and American delegates to the London conference, first, to extend until 1936 the battleship-construction holiday due to expire next year, and second to scalp at once eight battleships, bringing the capital-ship total of each to fifteen, is the first concrete fruit of that meeting. It is expected that Japan will fall in line and drop one battleship from her list, thus establishing the 5-5-3 ratio agreed upon at Washington at once instead of five years from now.

"At once" presumably means when the London conference is concluded and its result ratified, since the battleship discussion is not yet reached on the conference program, but it is likely enough that this agreement will be carried out without regard to any other agreement that may be reached.

It is not announced which vessels will be dropped by the American Navy and which by the British, except that "presumably" the American ships to go will be the Florida, Utah and Wyoming. The Florida and Utah were completed in 1911 and the Wyoming in 1912. They are armed with twelve-inch guns, the Florida and Utah carrying ten each and the Wyoming twelve. The corresponding British vessels are the Benbow, the Iron Duke, the Marlborough and the Emperor of India, each carrying ten guns of 13.5 inches and each completed in 1914—thus being more powerful vessels than the three of the United States. The fifth British capital ship to go is not suggested, but next on the British list is the Queen Elizabeth, completed in 1915 and armed with eight fifteen-inch guns. Another possible candidate is the battle-cruiser Tiger, also completed in 1914 and carrying eight 13.5-inch guns.

The oldest Japanese battleship now in commission is the Fuso, completed in 1915 and armed with twelve fourteen-inch guns. The oldest battle-cruiser is the Kongo, completed in 1913 and armed with eight guns of fourteen inches caliber.

Neither France nor Italy has any capital ships that will class with the remaining vessels of any of the three big-ship navies. The newest French battleships are the Provence and the Lorraine, dating from 1916 and armed with 13.4-inch guns, while Italy has only four capital ships altogether, the latest completed in 1915 and armed with twelve-inch guns. They are 9000 to 10,000 tons lighter than the best ships of the American, British and Japanese navies—not counting the British battle-cruiser Hood, which is nearly twice their tonnage.

In vessels of post-war completion, the United States will have, as a result of this scrapping program, a considerable preponderance. The Idaho, Tennessee, California, Maryland, West Virginia and Colorado all date from 1919 or later. In the British navy only the Nelson, the Rodney and the Hood have been finished since the war; and in the Japanese list are only two, the Nagato and the Mutsu, dating from 1919 and 1920, respectively. The Nelson, the Rodney and the Hood, to be sure, are the most modern and most powerful vessels of their class afloat, bigger, speedier and more heavily armed. All things averaged up, there will not be much difference in the fighting force of the British and American capital-ship fleets when the announced program is carried out.

A saving of $10,000,000 a year in maintaining expense will accrue to the United States if the Florida, Utah and Wyoming are dropped, but this is a minor matter compared with the savings in construction expense through continuance of the construction holiday. If the Washington treaty is not extended, the United States is scheduled to spend approximately $400,000,000 during the next five years, Great Britain $300,000,000 and Japan $200,000,000 in replacement of existing ships. Between savings in maintenance and savings in construction, a burden of approximately $1,000,000,000 will be lifted from the shoulders of the taxpayers of the three countries if the new agreement goes through.

Such figures need no comment.

GREEN AND HIS PROMISES

What the pledge given by President Green of the American Federation of Labor to President Hoover that unionized labor would not rock the boat during 1930 amounts to, was demonstrated Tuesday in New York City, when 25,000 members of the International Ladies' Garment Workers' Union struck with the full sanction and support of the Federation. The strike, called, as such affairs always are, at the most embarrassing moment for the employers, cripples the women's ready-to-wear manufacturers at the height of their preparations for spring.

Green personally sanctioned this and other strikes in the garment trades when he addressed a convention in Cleveland some weeks ago. On that occasion he was quoted as saying: "Labor will keep its bargain with President Hoover and will not rock the boat, but this does not mean that labor will not be prepared to take advantage of every opportunity that presents itself to increase the wages of the workers, to shorten the hours of employment and improve working and living conditions."

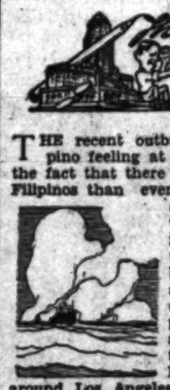
Organized labor received a full quid pro quo at the Washington conference, since employers agreed at that time not to cut wages during 1930 and that agreement has been kept in letter and spirit. It is impossible to reconcile these labor disturbances, however, with what Green said at Washington, or even to reconcile Green's words at Cleveland with themselves. The garment strike emphatically does "rock the boat," emphatically does repudiate Green's pledge, and emphatically does present the American Federation of Labor in the position of trying to scuttle President Hoover's program of industrial reconstruction.

It is perfectly true that the garment workers' union has radical tendencies and that Green probably could not control it if he tried, but there is no evidence that he has tried or has wanted to try. Instead, his Cleveland speech is full evidence that he has encouraged its boat-rocking efforts.

The only conclusion the public can draw is that Green's word is no better than soviet Russia's and is given for the same purpose—to trap the unwary.

The LEE SIDE O' L.A.

By Lee Shippey



THE recent outbreak of anti-Filipino feeling at Watsonville and the fact that there seem to be more Filipinos than ever before on our streets set us to wondering how many Filipinos there are around here. Two years ago the head of one of the Filipino employment agencies told us there were 6000 Filipinos in and around Los Angeles. Now, however, the Philippine Chamber of Commerce, which is largely an organization of Filipino labor contractors, informs us that there are 15,000 Filipinos in Los Angeles county, 75,000 in the State of California—and only about 100,000 in the entire United States.

And one of the best educated and best informed of the Filipino women here tells us that there are only thirty-five Filipino women in the Los Angeles district.

It also is estimated that about 200 Filipinos a month are entering California from the Philippines and from Hawaii.

Many Well Educated

Ang Bantay, the Filipino newspaper published here, is printed in English, as practically all the Filipinos here can read and write English, which now is taught in all the public schools in the islands. Parts of the paper, however, are published in three native dialects, Tagalog, Ilocano and Visaya.

It is said that fully 50 per cent of the Filipinos who come here are either college men or teachers from the Philippines or young Filipinos wishing to enter colleges in this country. That would give the Filipino immigrants a higher educational average than the immigrants from any other country.

Not All Houseboys

Most of us who live in cities get the idea that most Filipinos are houseboys or work in clubs or hotels. The greater number of them, however, are agricultural laborers, and their friends claim that they are doing the work Americans won't do. In one area in which great quantities of lettuce now are being raised by Filipinos, it is asserted, very little lettuce was raised before Filipino labor was available, as Americans do not like the jobs which require stooping and bending, while those short-legged little fellows take to it readily.

Filipino laborers appear to be unusually well organized. One large labor contractor has a permanent camp near Fresno, another at Walnut Park and another in the Imperial Valley. When the season demands many laborers near Fresno, the bulk of his men are there, and later they come here and then go to the Imperial Valley camp for the winter.

The Filipino laborers are asserted to be exceptionally cleanly and it is said that they will not work in any camp in which there are not adequate facilities for daily baths.

No Immigration Bar

The United States raises no bar to Filipino immigration, as the islands are American territory. But the Filipinos here, we are told, have sent back to Manila a petition to the Philippine Legislature to restrict emigration there. The assertion is made that already there is dearth of agricultural labor in the Philippines because so many of the young men have come here. This is, to them, the country of romance. They read of it in the schoolbooks, they study in the American-plan schools of the Philippines and they know that wages and living condition here are better than at home. They all want to come, but as they are as far from us as we are from Europe it is easy to see how only the more prosperous ones can come.

Longest Way 'Round

The Philippine Chamber of Commerce, which has offices in the Wilson Building at First and Spring streets, is hardly what its name implies, as most of its voting members are labor contractors. It also has a large number of associate members, who are workers of various sorts. Very few of the Filipinos here are in any important business other than that of contracting labor, though some of the contractors are said to have piled up fortunes of from $50,000 to $75,000 in comparatively few years. The average Filipino, however, has little idea of saving money, and though their wages are said to average from $4 to $7 a day very few have anything laid by.

"One of the objects of this chamber," one of the officers of the Philippine Chamber of Commerce said, "is to inspire greater thrift and stability among the Filipinos. We have been organized only seven months, with branches in Stockton and San Francisco, thus covering the three principal centers of Filipino activities in the State. In time we hope to get into more purely commercial work. At present 90 per cent of the imports from the Philippines received in California enter by way of New York."

THE CITY NOISES

The New York Health Commissioners have prepared a code to regulate or correct the varied noises of a big city. It has not been made into law as yet, but is earnestly recommended to the prayerful consideration of all good citizens. Different sections are prepared for motorists, for radio owners, for householders, for workers, for factories and for the general public. If it is lived up to there would be no honking of horns, grinding of brakes, screaming of sirens or yelps of taxi drivers. Radios would be muffled so as to disturb no neighbor. There would be no wild parties to wreck nocturnal peace. The milkman would go noiselessly about his mission. Baby would do his crying behind pillows. Street venders would make signs, but would be voiceless. Even the garbage cans would be swathed in rubber to save possible din. All this might result if the code is to be generally observed, but we imagine the old town will continue to be about as noisy as of yore. It is hard to muzzle the Knickerbockers.

TO A GARTER SNAKE

By James J. Montague

I know that you are gentle
And innocent of guile;
Although your tongue is outward flung
You mean no harm the while.
But when you gaze upon me,
Your beady eyes a-shine,
And show a wreath of gleaming teeth,
The chills run down my spine.

You eat uncounted insects
Which bode no good to man;
And day by day you make your prey
The evil rodent clan.
Yet when I feel you wriggling
Beneath my straying feet
Amid the grass through which I pass
I hastily retreat.

How Doctor Raymond Ditmars
Can take you in his hand
And let you twist about his wrist
I cannot understand.
I know as well as he does
How free you are of harm,
But, little snake, you make me quake
With shudders of alarm.

But such is all existence
Upon this rolling earth;
We have no art to read a heart
Though it be filled with worth,
Or fathom patient merit,
Or weigh an inward grace,
If it betide that such should hide
Behind an evil face!

WHAT OTHERS THINK ABOUT IT

ON THE RIGHT TRACK

[New York Herald-Tribune]

Up-to-date penological opinion condemns the present method of permitting prison officials to pass on applications for parole. It is argued that such officials give far too much weight in their decisions to the conduct of the prisoner while in prison and by no means enough to his criminal record, his domestic situation, his mentality and a number of other factors of far more importance than his reaction to prison discipline in determining his desire and ability to go straight. Hence, it is argued, the liberation of hardened offenders who are cunning enough to realize that obsequious conformity to prison rules will open the way to an early resumption of their predatory habits and the disrepute into which the parole system has fallen.

Gov. Roosevelt's desire to establish a parole court entirely divorced from the Department of Corrections is a fruit of this criticism. He is undoubtedly on the right track. There are those, however, who will contend that he doesn't propose going far enough. Instead of a single parole court of the kind outlined for the entire State there should be, so they will say, one for every penitentiary, if the individual case is to receive the exhaustive attention it deserves. They would put the entire population of a prison under the constant observation of a board of parole commissioners, forbid applications for parole or the appearance before the board of counsel for the prisoner and give the board the initiative as well as a free rein in selecting whom it will parole.

Such a system would not be inexpensive. On the other hand, nothing is so costly in the long run as those social expedients that attempt to deal with human beings on the mass-production principle.

GERMANY'S "SLACKER VOTE"

[Philadelphia Public Ledger]

Republican Germany must at least be accredited with having found a use for the "slacker vote" which in some other countries causes considerable heart-burning. Some fourteen or fifteen million voters who absented themselves from the polls defeated a fantastic measure which, had it been passed, might have thrown the whole reparations problem into inextricable confusion and brought on international complications of a peculiarly disagreeable nature.

The extreme Nationalists who sponsored this movement invited the German electorate to vote against "the enslavement of Germany." Specifically, the law in question was designed to compel the government to bring about annulment of the war-guilt clause of the Versailles Treaty and forbid further payments of reparations.

It would have been difficult to persuade Germans actually to vote for "enslavement." Few would have been willing to mark a ballot otherwise than to declare Germany guilt-free and record a natural antagonism to the reparations system. As it was, all the voters had to do was to stay home and let the measure expire. Thus was a patriotic duty painlessly performed.

ANOTHER CHAIN LETTER

BY ALMA WHITAKER

All the way from Ireland comes a chain letter, beginning with the American slogan, "Cross Crossings Cautiously" . . . the chain was started by an American railroad man and is to go 'round the world nine times.

"Please send this chain letter to nine persons to whom you wish luck . . . Do do break the chain, for if you do you will have bad luck. Do it within nine days and you will have good luck."

Attached thereto is a list of former stylish senders as follows:

Senator Heflin to Bernard Shaw, Bernard Shaw to Arthur Train, Arthur Train to C. G. Dawes, C. G. Dawes to Henry Ford, Henry Ford to Col. Lindbergh, Col. Lindbergh to Carl Eckener, Carl Eckener to Dorothy Dix, Dorothy Dix to Lady Hay, Lady Hay to Aristide Briand, Aristide Briand to Ramsay MacDonald, Ramsay MacDonald to David Windsor, David Windsor to John Barrymore, John Barrymore to A. E. Mellon, A. E. Mellon to R. E. Weber, R. E. Weber to Walter Scott, Walter Scott to A. E. Adams, A. E. Adams to A. C. Castle, A. C. Castle to Hugh Randall, Hugh Randall to Ras. F. Bell, Ras. F. Bell to J. C. Wellseger, J. C. Wellseger to S. R. Cochrane, S. R. Cochrane to R. H. Kelling, R. H. Kelling to Edward Gerhart, Edward Gerhart to A. S. Fisher, A. S. Fisher to A. E. Hubbs, A. E. Hubbs to Col. E. J. Blair, Col. E. J. Blair to James Walker, James Walker to P. R. Clarke, P. R. Clarke to Ward Castle, Ward Castle to G. R. Carr, G. R. Carr to V. V. Boatner, V. V. Boatner to W. C. Hurst, W. C. Hurst to Sir A. Duncan, Sir A. Duncan to J. Ballantyne, J. Ballantyne to T. E. Argyle, T. E. Argyle to D. C. Urie, D. C. Urie to W. H. Morton, W. H. Morton to E. L. Cleugh, E. L. Cleugh to J. B. Stephens, J. B. Stephens to W. J. Baille, W. J. Baille to F. W. Andrews, F. W. Andrews to H. A. Matier.

Now these are mighty names and I am supposed to add mine thereto and send nine copies of the list with the nine letters . . . otherwise I shall have bad luck. Phew!

My, but I'm glad that list did not give all nine of the names to which these illustrious chain-letter enthusiasts presumably sent letters . . . think of copying that bunch out!

I wonder what happens to people who break chain letters. I broke a chain prayer two years ago in which I was warned of dire woes awaiting me if I did. Maybe that's why the snails got into my garden so despicably last year, and the devil grass got out of hand in the lawn. Perhaps that is why my small lambkin had to have his tonsils out and my tall one cannot bring home better than C's, with maybe a lone B from U.C.L.A. Or that painful foozle I made over the radio . . . or that long story I lost when I hadn't a carbon copy . . . or that illustrious celebrity I wanted to make a good impression upon, calling on me in the morning and catching me in a soiled smock.

Perchance, had I not broken that chain, none of these sorrows would have come to my household.

But to come back to the latest chain letter. There is something so very naive, nay, even crude, about it. How come all those glamourful people subscribed to a thing like that . . . playing Black Bogey to to their friends, making preposterous prophetic assertions about the luck we shall or shall not have? Did they believe in it, or were they just afraid to take a chance not to?

Bernard Shaw, mind you? And we may presume that "David Windsor" is H. R. H. Prince David of Great Britain. Gen. Dawes, Col. Lindbergh, Andrew Mellon . . . really now, I ask you?

Or, whist, did their respective secretaries just answer the letters for them? Isn't it perhaps only advisable to send chain letters to those people only who have secretaries . . . several secretaries as that awful list extends?

EDNA ST. VINCENT MILLAY

You, lovely one, whose words
Were like the singing birds,
Whose hand, so slim and white,
Was like a gull in flight,
As tossing back your hair
It left your forhead bare;
And then, we saw your eyes,
Keen, tender, gentle, wise,
Full of surmise—surprise.

Yes, everything you did
Revealed some beauty hid;
So, in a happy trance,
I watched your wistful glance,
And waited for your hand
To fling again the strand
Of golden hair away
That we might see the play
Of thought upon your face.
Your fluid, fleeting grace,
Until you came to be
A perfect harmony.
For, when all's said and done,
You and your verse are one.

Gift to Town Expensive

Horncastle, Eng., is trying to figure out a way to accept a valuable gift. By the will of Rev. George Ward the town has been left Hamerton House, with the adjoining Poplars Gardens, which have for years been open to the public. The problem is how the town can pay the heavy death duties involved and for the upkeep of the place.

Come-Apart Auto Invented

Designed so that it can be taken apart within twenty minutes and stored in hallways or basements a "midget automobile" has been invented by Zaschka, the well-known German inventor. The car is a three-wheeler, and can be "knocked down" into three main sections. It is capable of a speed of from twenty-five to thirty miles an hour.

Crete Was the Cradle

LOS ANGELES, Jan. 31.—[To the Editor of The Times:] In The Times of January 30 there was a communication from J. L. R. Dickson criticising The Times' editorial which ridiculed the claims of writers that inscriptions on rocks along the Amazon are Phoenician characters.

This gentleman, like others in times past, is endeavoring to give credit to a people for something they are without the slightest foundation on fact worthy of being credited with.

The Phoenicians were in no sense a literary people and did not invent the alphabet. Much that has been assigned to Phoenician influence in the Aegean littoral, at an early period in the world's history in the way of gold ornaments, engraved tablets, weapons for offense and defense, cinery urns, etc., today is accounted for by that wonderful civilization of ancient Crete, discovered by Dr. Evans, with its center of activity in the city of Cnossos, which ended about 1450 B. C., very suddenly and for no cause.

The conclusive opinions of today by well-informed scholars is that the two languages—Hebrew and Phoenician—"developed independently from the old Canaanite language as shown on the Tel-el-Amarna tablets, and that excepting the inscriptions found at Gebal, nearly, if not quite all of their writings are subsequent to the sixth century B. C., and a majority belongs to the fourth."

Too Valuable For Dumps

LOS ANGELES, Feb. 1.—[To the Editor of The Times:] In the East Los Angeles is regarded a beautiful city, and in many ways it is, but, it could be made much more attractive if the vacant lots were cared for.

At small expense Los Angeles could be greatly improved.

Smoking on Street Cars

LOS ANGELES, Jan. 30.—[To the Editor of The Times:] Lee Shippey is correct. There still are many thousands of people in Los Angeles to whom the odor of tobacco is distressing."

But—did it ever dawn on you that the "smoking" section and the "open" section on the Sierra Madre cars are one and the same? The ladies might possibly prefer air (and you know the gas masks you must carry if you sit inside are rather bulky.) Yes, indeed, they erred in thinking the smokers would meet them halfway—they should have opened a window.

WHERE CAN I LEARN

Leather Modeling?

BY LOUISE L. TEMPLE

[Prepared in co-operation with the Los Angeles evening high schools. Questions concerning free evening classes will be answered if stamped addressed envelope is inclosed. Address Louise L. Temple, care of The Times.]

Modeling, or raising leather into patterns with wax or clay, is being taught in the Hollywood Evening High School, 1521 North Highland avenue. Age is no limit for enrollment in this class and the only expense is $1 registration in addition to furnishing one's own tool and whatever materials it is desired to make up into leather articles. The tool costs $1 to $1.50 and may be bought at any art store. the cost of leather may be estimated by planning on one-third of the retail cost of the article to be made.

When the art of making the simplest leather articles has been learned the student will be taught antiquing, designing and application of design, rubber cementing the edges together as in inner tubes, and lining with hand-made or ready-made linings. Miss Ruth Base, the instructor, has her own method of polishing and preservin" the leather with an English saddle soap.

The class meets on Tuesday and Thursday evenings from 7 to 9 in room 21 upstairs in the Domestic Science Building.

No doubt it's true that divorces are fewest among the faring men. The circumstance lights because it comes but once a year.

HARD ON CRIME

The scientists devote much time to studying the cause of crime. In sundry cases of fame they analyze the cause of game. The day is coming when the skate who fails to walk the pathway straight will have a chance of dodging jail, as scientists upon his head will pursue the man whose morals are hopes; if it's a fest of wits or limb, the cops will do the nature him; but if the criminal brains he does not have a brass-bound swains. But if he be another tale when the cops are on his trail! He rabs a bank, by poet's pens, the village will arrive and say, "We can't identify the jay. He's left no prints behind, no other clue, the case is blind. 'Tis not the rascal lost his hat, and that is, but what of that? He's left a million other tiles, it has been come up thereat, and so let us have that hat; we'll put it through a microscope, and soon will hand you all the dope concerning that immoral dub who robbed the widow's cow and dump." They view that hat up and down, they brush it, they and scrape its crown, and all the dandruff there, and they rise up and declare the man who stole the widow's cow is suffering from severe cold; he's limping much because his chin, his nose is red and his gin, he has a small bull upon his track." And then the cops set forth with, and find the sinful man named Smith.

COURT REFORMS HOLD BY TURNEY

Women's Political League Hears Municipal Judge

Case-Fixing System Told One of Worst Evils

Duty of Vice Leaders Here Declared Broken

Based upon his belief in the need for reorganization of courts in the United States, a talk at noon yesterday by Municipal Judge Turney before members of the Women's Political League, luncheoning in the Windsor Tea Room, revealed that the courts of many large cities are operated under a minority government.

"Contrary to all the nice phrases about majority rule," he said, "they are, I call a '2 per cent government,' by those who have axes to grind—the leaders, shyster attorneys, the bail bondsmen and others. One of the worst evils is the case-fixing system, which defies the average citizen that anything is being done, but which criminal element, taking the place of the law, fix. We will never get rid of it by imposing only nominal fines.

"Just a year ago," he continued, "the ladies in Los Angeles decided to break up that system. Since then, 'fixes' have largely been frustrated through arrest and conviction. The inauguration of the calendar system, a great reform, also was a great handicap to fixers.

"The new night court has given defendants a fair chance to offer evidence they see fit, so that if they are convicted or freed, it is not the courtroom in a much state of mind. I think that in all cases, when young vagrants are treated like so many cattle, disposed of in herds, and many as crime careers.

"Facts," he concluded, "there is not installed into the courts of Los Angeles a new spirit of cooperation, restoring the confidence of the public."

"BAD DEBT" PUP MAKES GOOD

His Tricks More Than Repay Owner

Fritz Does One of His Stunts

Garage man's police dog shows how to act when getting ticket, with Officer E. R. Crook assisting.

IT WAS a lucky day for Leonard Haynes, two years ago when after having suspended the "no credit" rule temporarily in his garage at 4794 Whittier Boulevard, he accepted from a customer an awkward German police puppy in lieu of cash for services rendered. Lucky, because it developed yesterday that the pup has grown since then, under tutelage of Haynes, of course, into a remarkably talented canine.

The varied attainments of Fritz—for that's the moniker Haynes bestowed on the bad-debt dog—are attested by county motorcycle officers who patrol Whittier Boulevard near the garage. They are his most ardent admirers; and when life becomes dull along the highway they call him to drive away the ennui. Fritz balances a ball on his nose, seal-fashion, smokes a pipe, selects a designated key from a bunch of keys and performs countless other tricks associated only with "educated" dogs.

Haynes accepted Fritz in payment of a small sum, yet he said yesterday he would not part with him for a king's ransom.

NEW VENICE OIL PERMIT PLAN URGED

Barthel Wants Council to Grant "Any and All" Requests to Drill

Councilman Barthel of the Venice district yesterday introduced in the City Council a resolution in reply to one offered several days ago by Councilman Randall, which calls for a systematic development of the Venice oil area in place of what he terms a threatened spasmodic, town-lot procedure.

Randall's resolution proposes that the Council refuse drilling permits unless the property owners agree to a block-by-block development, with contracts with the city whereby the municipality receives a royalty of the oil in proportion to the extent of land covered by public streets and alleys.

Barthel's resolution sets forth that the Venice people are capable of effecting their own contracts and managing their own business without interference and asks that the Council issue drilling permits for "any and all requests." He further asks the Council not to adopt any restrictive policy.

Several days ago it was discovered that one of the applicants is Mrs. Barthel, who asks for her permits under her maiden name of Harriet Cleveland.

Both resolutions were referred to the City Planning Committee, which is now considering the applications. The committee and several members of the Council yesterday afternoon made a tour of the area.

Title Insurance Companies' Tax Suit Nears End

Hearing of testimony in the suit of four title insurance companies against Collector of Internal Revenue Welch, seeking the return of more than $500,000 paid on income taxes, is expected to be completed today in the court of United States District Judge James. The sums sought to be returned were paid as income taxes from 1921 to 1929.

The four plaintiffs assert that they are insurance companies and not subject to the income tax as charged against them. The government asserts that they are trust companies and should be required to pay the tax.

The plaintiffs are the Title Insurance and Trust Company, Title Guaranty and Trust Company, California Title Insurance Company and the San Diego Union Title Insurance Company.

MOTOR DISTURBS

The whir of an airplane motor on a rack four miles away from the Hollywood ranch where Ken Maynard was filming "Songs of the Saddle" carried so distinctly that all work on the western talkie was discontinued until word was sent to the airport and the plane overhaul job discontinued.

Plans Laid for Birth-Control Meeting Here

Dr. Aaron J. Rosanoff, chairman of the program committee for the Western States Conference on Birth Control and Population Problems, announced yesterday at a luncheon-meeting of the executive committee that the program for the conference which opens on the 20th inst., and continues until after the 23rd is practically complete, and that speakers of national distinction will address the sessions. Assisting Dr. Rosanoff are Dr. Etta Gray, Mrs. John P. Buwalda and George R. Kirkpatrick.

The dinner, which is the opening event of the conference and which is to be at the Roosevelt Hotel, will be arranged by Mrs. Clark Milliken, Mrs. Ernest Swift, Mrs. Margaret Morris, and Mrs. Andrew Brown, all of Pasadena. Hostesses for the banquet are Mrs. Guy Van Buskirk and Mrs. B. P. Schulberg.

City May Help Defend Officer

A resolution was passed yesterday by the Police Commission asking City Attorney Werner to assign a member of his staff to defend Officer F. S. Jaynes against the damage suit for $50,000 filed in Superior Court by the widow of August Lehman, shot and killed by Jaynes on the night of January 19 as a burglary suspect.

The action was taken at the request of Chief of Police Steckel and investigating officers, who reported that Jaynes had found Lehmann acting suspiciously in the rear of a house at 2701 South Mansfield, that he had fled and refused to halt for the officer, who fired and shot him. Near him, according to the investigators, was found a flashlight, two screen picks and a "jimmy."

Salesman Seized on Bunko Charge

John Quincy Adams, a salesman who concedes he is no descendant of the President of that name, was arrested yesterday on charge of grand theft bunko. Adams, who is 41 years of age, was arrested at his home, 111 West Seventh street, by Detective-Lieutenants Armstrong and Bilgh of the Central bunko squad.

They acted on the complaint of Dr. Earl E. Conn, of 4759 Hollywood Boulevard, who charged that he gave Adams $6500 to invest in motion-picture stock, and that the money never was invested or returned. Adams denies taking any money for his own use from Dr. Conn.

DIVORCE GROUNDS UNSCENTED

Because Mrs. Anna K. Reddep, it was asserted, wouldn't use perfumery, Fred Redden, her husband, yesterday sued her for divorce. Redden asserted in his suit also that his wife was "insanely jealous" and that her conduct "utterly destroyed" his happiness. The couple were married in February, 1926, and separated a year later.

HEIRS FIGHT INHERITANCE TAX CLAIMS

Court Takes Case Against Mrs. Clampitt's Daughter Under Advisement

Superior Judge Stephens yesterday took under advisement a suit to collect $35,000 inheritance tax on a $600,000 gift from Mrs. Margaret M. Clampitt to her two daughters, a year before her death, it being asserted by the State Tax Commission that Mrs. Clampitt was expecting death when she made the gift and that the gift, therefore, is taxable.

Mrs. Clampitt's estate, which was valued at $1,000,000, was inherited from her husband, the late E. A. Clampitt, former Councilman. By the terms of her will she left the entire estate to her two daughters, Mrs. Leah Clampitt Kelly, and Miss Barbara Clampitt.

Mrs. Kelly and her sister testified that in 1927, after Mrs. Clampitt made the gift, she toured Europe by airplane, and gave other evidence that she did not consider death imminent. Attorneys John W. Carrigan and Harold Prudhoim represented the two daughters of the decedent.

Woman Saved From Gas Death by Repair Man

A plumber yesterday saved the life of Mrs. Rosslyn Rock, 54 years of age, by arriving at 943 West Sixth street to repair a leaky gas stove. He broke into the bathroom and rescued Mrs. Rock, who was unconscious, police report. According to police, Mrs. Frances Stout, the landlady, warned Mrs. Rock that the stove was out of kilter and that she had sent for a repairman. She added that the bathroom might be safe if the window was left open.

When the plumber arrived two hours later, Mrs. Rock was in the bathroom overcome by gas, and the window was shut. The woman was revived at Georgia-street Receiving Hospital. Police forgot to add the name of the hero plumber.

Farewell for Hjelte Planned

As a farewell reception for George H. Hjelte, superintendent of the Los Angeles Playground Department, who was recently appointed to an important post in the Westchester County Park Service in New York, a committee of civic and business officials yesterday announced that arrangements are being made for a banquet, to be held on the 14th inst. in the dining-room of the Chamber of Commerce.

C. L. Glenn, director of physical education and recreation of the Board of Education; E. B. De Groot, Boy Scout executive here, and C. J. S. Williamson, manager of the civic development department of the Chamber of Commerce, are the members of the committee in charge of arrangements for the banquet and reception. Reservations are being made through Mr. Williamson's office.

Rise in Water Rate Opposed

Abandonment of proceedings contemplating an increase in water rates is urged in a resolution adopted unanimously by the Apartment-House Association of Los Angeles county at its last regular meeting, and which was announced for publication yesterday. The petition contained in the resolution is addressed specifically to the commissioners of the department of water and power.

A majority of apartment-house operators, it is pointed out, are merely lessees of their respective premises and as such, under existing rental conditions, are deriving only negligible profits. Any increase in water rates, therefore, would render an already bad situation worse and cause innumerable operators to surrender their premises to the owners, it is stated, resulting in the loss of thousands of dollars through forfeiture of furnishings.

NEW ROSE PINNED ON HOLLYWOOD

Trade Paper Publisher Says Film City Will be World's Music Capital

Hollywood and the motion-picture colony are destined for one of their most prosperous years and the foundation has been laid to make the film capital the capital of the music world as well. Martin J. Quigley of Chicago, motion-picture trade magazine publisher, made this comment in Hollywood yesterday following a ten-day survey of the industry.

"Before talking pictures came into being," Mr. Quigley said, "producers were investing great sums of money without increasing their volume of business. There is no doubt that the spoken screen has increased the volume of business, and with this increase comes increase of revenue. I look for 1930 to be one of Hollywood's greatest years.

"One fact that people seem to overlook out here," he continued, "is that Hollywood is fast becoming and will become the music center of the world. The greatest of music writers are here already. It will not be long before all the popular as well as the classical music will see its start in Hollywood."

This is Quigley's first visit to the Coast in three years, and he is impressed by the tremendous growth and radical changes within the industry.

PROPERTY OWNERS ASK NEW SCHOOL BUILDING

The building of a new elementary school in the section of the city bounded by Harrison street, Brooklyn avenue, Evergreen avenue and Soto street is requested in a petition presented to the Board of Education yesterday by the Boyle Heights Property Owners' Association. Several representatives of the association appeared at the board's meeting yesterday. No immediate steps can be taken toward the erection of a school in that area, the representatives were told by Supt. Bouelle and J. L. Van Norman, president of the board, because of lack of funds. It was pointed out that considerably more than $500,000 of the proceeds of the last school bond issue were devoted to new construction in that portion of the city, although the school executives admitted that most of the construction was in less congested sections than that which was the subject of yesterday's petition.

CUSTODY OF CHILD UPHELD

Judge Rules Courts Must Respect Divorce Decree Validly Obtained in Another State

Where the custody of a child is given one of the parents by a valid decree in a divorce action in one State, the courts of another State cannot inquire into the merits or demerits of the adjudication, according to Superior Judge Yankwich, who yesterday denied a writ of habeas corpus by which it was sought to take Zane Hughes, 10 years of age, from the custody of her father, Joseph Hughes of Glendale. The writ was sought by the child's mother, Mrs. Myrtle Thames, of Oklahoma City.

The parties had been married and lived in Oklahoma for several years. In 1926 the father came to California and brought the child with him. In 1927 he moved to Nevada for the sake of the child's health. He remained there ten months, during which time he obtained, on March 6, 1928, a decree of divorce which gave him the custody of the child. The mother was served by publication. The wife also obtained a divorce in Oklahoma, the decree being granted on October 10, 1927. Her decree, however, did not give her the custody of the child. Both parties have since remarried.

DECREE VALID

Judge Yankwich in discharging the writ of habeas corpus and remanding the child to the custody of the father, held that where the custody is given by a valid decree, the courts of another State are bound to respect the decree, and can change custody only upon a showing that since the decree has been rendered facts have arisen which make the parent unfit to continue to have the custody of the child.

"This is not an original proceeding," said Judge Yankwich when he denied the writ, "where the inquiry is which of the two parents is better qualified to have the custody. In such cases, preference in case of young children is given to mothers. The interest of the child is the chief consideration. In this proceeding our inquiry is limited to two questions: Was the Nevada decree valid? If so, is the father no longer fit to have the custody of the child?

RESIDENCE BONA FIDE

"On the question of Nevada decrees, I have repeatedly refused to recognize them where it appeared that the residence was not bona fide, but was for the purpose of obtaining the decree only. In this case, however, I am satisfied that the father went to Nevada for the sake of the child's health. He remained there ten months. Long after the minimum residential requirement did he institute the action.

"The only inquiry is then: Have conditions changed since the decree was given? Unless it appears that the father has been guilty of such moral delinquencies as to endanger the welfare of the child, the Nevada court's decree cannot be changed. No evidence of this character has been introduced. On the contrary, it appears that the father is gainfully employed. The child has a nice home and is well taken care of."

MEDICAL BOARD SESSION HEATED

Words Fly Over Case of Whittier Physician

Legal Procedure in Writ of Prohibition Disputed

Testimony Taken Secretly on Oakland Doctor

Heated words flew at the concluding session of the State Board of Medical Examiners' three-day meeting in Foresters' Hall, 1329 South Hope street, yesterday as a result of a legal fight over the case of Dr. Francis James Bold, Whittier, charged with having performed an illegal operation.

Attorney William T. Kendrick, Sr., appearing for his son, who had obtained a writ of prohibition halting the board's hearing of charges, set off the verbal fireworks when he attempted to explain the defense procedure. The board members contended that it had been stipulated they were to be notified when a petition for the writ was presented in court but they asserted they had not been so notified.

DEFENSE SCORED

Prosecutor Richard Lyman scored the defense for what he described as "a flagrant breach of faith."

Attorney Kendrick, Jr., originally obtained a writ of prohibition in Superior Judge Wilson's court. The judge dissolved the writ at a hearing yesterday to which all the members of the board had been subpoenaed but gave the defense leave to amend. Another writ was obtained in the court of Superior Judge Wood, returnable next Tuesday before Superior Judge Gates.

CORONER'S AIDE ON STAND

The writ obtained in Judge Wood's court was served upon the board while Walter W. Kennedy of the Coroner's office was on the stand testifying relative to preliminary matters in the case of Dr. Bold.

Testimony was taken behind closed doors in the case of Dr. Charles Devaughn of Oakland, accused of two violations of the State Medical Practice Act. The case was continued until the board's July meeting in San Francisco on July 8.

Barbed Wire at Air Field Urged

Retention of barbed-wire barricades on fences adjacent to buildings at the Los Angeles Metropolitan airport as a precaution to safeguard the public from whirling airplane propellers is urged in a communication by General Manager Waldo D. Waterman to the Fire Commission, which has referred it to Fire Chief Scott for a recommendation.

Capt. C. S. Mass, fire inspector for the San Fernando Valley, recently ordered the barbed wire removed as a hazard to firemen in case of fire. Waterman admits the wire is a hazard but declares danger to the public from propellers is a greater one.

He explains that the fence and wire is not so strong but what fire trucks could plow their way right through it in case of emergency and therefore it should be left as it is.

Oho, for Life on Ocean Barge

Asserting that her husband wanted to make his home on a barge anchored in the ocean so that he could more easily obtain liquor, Mrs. Margaret May Sunderman went before Superior Judge Bowron yesterday asking for a divorce from Leonard Sunderman.

"We only lived seven miles from the barge and I thought it reasonable that he remain at home and go back and forth to the barge," the wife declared.

The wife further testified that they quarreled about his sleeping on the barge and he struck her and left her one month and nine days after their marriage and she has not seen him since.

A decree was granted on the grounds of desertion and nonsupport.

Wife Charges Mate Gambled

Mrs. Rhonie Gubin seeking a divorce from Frank Gubin, Los Angeles jeweler, in the court of Superior Judge Tryon declared in her complaint that once her husband took their two daughters, Lylian, 15 years of age, and Leone, 11, to a hotel and gambled in their presence. She is asking for a divorce, a share of community property and the custody of the two children.

Mrs. Gubin's chief complaint is that her husband was dissipating all of the family resources by playing gambling games and betting on horses.

Gubin denies his wife's accusations.

The trial of the case will last several weeks.

CITY EMPLOYEE'S WIFE ASKS DIVORCE

Demanding a division of $25,000 worth of community property and an alimony "proportionate to a salary of $400 a month," Mrs. Charlotte M. Phillips, wife of Robert Merchant Phillips, known also as Bert M. Phillips, employed by the city, yesterday sued for divorce. The plaintiff asserts that her husband, on several occasions, misconducted herself with Mrs. Joseph Cojean.

Haines will discuss new books "Concerning Ourselves, American Scenes and Problems" at her lecture at the Central Library Tuesday at 7:30 p.m. Some of the books are Frank Waldo's "Rediscovery of America," Ghent's "Road to Oregon," Mera's "Great American Band Wagon," Moton's "What the Negro Thinks," and Pitkin's "Twilight of the American Mind."

If Everyone Past 40 knew what his Doctor knows

THE verdict of doctors is: Over half of men and women past 40 have a kidney ailment of some form; many without knowledge of it.

The reason, they say, is through overwork of these vital organs. To eliminate 72% of poisons from the system, is their daily task. Constant wear and tear begins to tell at 40. Kidney cells wear out. Then comes improper functioning, gradually undermining health.

Eminent medical authority now prescribes six glasses of Puritas, a pure mineral-free water, each day. It acts to dilute poisonous waste, absorbes and cathries it off, without leaving mineral deposits. Thus it eases the burden of kidneys and protects their normal functioning.

Puritas is scientifically distilled and aerated. All minerals and impurities are removed. Thus it is impurity-free—the purest water obtainable. Though its taste you'll find different at first, each drink you will increasingly enjoy. Telephone TRinity 1861 for immediate Puritas delivery.

GROUP DENTISTRY REDUCES COSTS

HIGH prices often keep people away from the dentist. They may know that their teeth are decayed, and that diseased teeth are a danger, but they cannot pay the high prices generally asked.

The only way to reduce prices is to use system and increase the volume of business. Here "group dentistry" as practiced in the offices of dentists who use the E. R. Parker System has many advantages.

Group dentistry permits the use of business methods and system. Several dentists work together and the cost of rent, heating, lighting and instruments is divided among them.

Combined buying power also greatly reduces the cost of materials used. Time is saved by the use of modern appliances, and no unnecessary visits have to be made. The saving made is shared with the patient.

There are 31 dental offices in the United States and Canada where the Parker System is used. No charge is made for examination or advice.

"ROUNDED SLIMNESS" DECREE OF FASHION

Changes in Style Demand Return to Normal Diet

The flat, skinny figure is no longer in vogue. Slimness is to be desired, but in the words of an international authority "rounded slimness" should be the goal of every woman.

In attaining "rounded slimness," diet plays a very important part. Foods formerly avoided are recommended in every day's menu. These include meat, eggs, milk and plenty of vegetables and fruit. Cereals with milk or cream and sprinkled with sugar are also important in the diet for "rounded slimness."

Particular attention should be paid to desserts. Puddings, custards, fruit pies and ice cream not only have food value but complete the meal in a most satisfying way. Candy is also an ideal dessert. And for variation try cream cheese and crackers with jelly or jam.

To avoid monotony in the diet, many foods can be improved by a little sugar. This is especially true of vegetables which often are tasteless because they do not reach the home immediately after they are picked. For example—spinach, tomatoes, carrots, cabbage and peas are much improved in flavor by adding a dash of sugar. A pinch of salt to a dash of sugar is a good rule to follow.

Aside from the enjoyment that sugar brings, it plays two important roles. First, it furnishes energy; and second, it helps consume excess fat which might otherwise be added to the body. Good food promotes health and beauty. —Sugar Institute.

Suspect Blames Trap for Deal on Fingerprints

Ben Lurie, who is charged with having attempted to purchase fingerprint records from a Los Angeles police officer, will offer as his defense evidence indicating that he was entrapped by his best friend at a time when he was penniless, with his wife confined in a hospital, Attorney Hugh Dickson, defense attorney, announced in his opening statement when the case was called to trial by Superior Judge Hardy yesterday.

Dep. Dist.-Atty. Kemp, prosecuting the case, declared in his opening statement that he will seek to prove that Lurie paid Officer J. C. MacCloud $100 on October 18, 1929, $50 on October 23, and $50 on October 28. The money was paid to obtain fingerprint records of bootleggers, it is charged.

Third Degree Tactics Charged

Asserting that her husband subjected her to police third-degree methods in order to make her confess that she was untrue to him, Mrs. Lurline Margaret Glelow went before Superior Judge Edmonds yesterday seeking a divorce from Willard H. Glelow on the grounds of cruelty.

"He was always suspicious of me without cause. He was continually accusing me of associating with other men, without reason," Mrs. Glelow declared.

A decree was granted.

SCALLOPED SALSIFY

Four cupfuls of sliced, cooked salsify, two cupfuls of white sauce, two cupfuls of bread crumbs, the whites of two eggs, scrape the salsify, slice it and throw it into water to which has been added one tablespoonful of flour and one tablespoonful of vinegar or lemon juice, which will prevent discoloration. Cook in boiling water until tender, drain, make the white sauce and add to it the stiffly beaten whites of the two eggs. Place the salsify in a buttered baking dish, pour over it some of the sauce, another layer of the salsify and so on until the amount has been used. Cover the top with a layer of buttered bread crumbs, place in the oven and bake for fifteen or twenty minutes.

SHRIMP TARTS

Line individual pie tins with a rich crust, take four cupfuls of shrimps and break them into small pieces, season them with salt and paprika and chopped parsley, place a thick layer of them in each individual dish, cover the top with bread cumbs and finely grated cheese. Place in the oven and bake until brown on top.

Break spaghetti into one-inch lengths and boil until tender, take one large can of tomatoes, add to it one stalk of finely chopped celery, a slice of onion, a branch of parsley, a bay leaf, one-half a teaspoonful of thyme and one-half a teaspoonful of marjoram, simmer gently for thirty minutes, then strain. Take three tablespoonfuls of gelatine, soak it in one-fourth of a cupful of cold water for five minutes, then dissolve in the boiling tomato juice, season with salt and paprika. WHEN THE SANDMAN COMES

by THORNTON W. BURGESS

CHATTERER THE RED SQUIRREL IS STARTLED

The curious will soon or late
Find that they have tempted fate.
—Chatterer the Red Squirrel.

Chatterer the Red Squirrel is a busybody. He is a small person, but, like a lot of small persons, he is inclined to think himself rather important. He wants to know everything that is going on. In this respect he is quite equal to Peter Rabbit. Like most small persons, he is very active. He does sit still occasionally, but it is only occasionally. He is here and there and all about during the hours of daylight. Whenever anything is going on in the Green Forest you are pretty certain to find Chatterer the Red Squirrel not far away.

Now, Chatterer learned long ago that when a lot of crows get to cawing and making a great racket there is usually something going on worth seeing. Of course, he heard the racket that flock of crows made around Hooty the Owl and Mrs. Hooty at the old nest of Blacky the Crow. For a few minutes Chatterer sat listening. "Those crows are teasing somebody," said Chatterer. "I know by the sound of their voices that they have found somebody to plague. If this were summer I would say that they had found Redtail the Hawk and were trying to make life miserable for him. But this isn't summer, so I suspect they have found Hooty the Owl. My, my, what a racket they are making! Perhaps they will drive Hooty out of the Green Forest. It would be a good thing if they should. He doesn't bother me much, because usually I am at home and asleep when he is out hunting. But once in a while on a dull day he appears unexpectedly. I've had two or three narrow escapes. I hope they'll drive him away. I'll go over to see what's going on."

So Chatterer started in that direction, traveling through the tree-tops when he could, and he could most of the way. He was only a little more than half way there when the voices of the crows changed. "Ha!" exclaimed Chatterer. "Something has happened. Those crows are frightened."

A moment later the cawing of the crows ceased altogether. Then, looking up, Chatterer caught a glimpse of black-feathered folks hurrying in different directions. Each of those crows that he saw was flying as if life itself depended on speed. Chatterer has a shrewd little head. He chuckled. He knew just as well as if he had been there and seen it all that those crows had had the tables turned on them, as the saying is. He knew that their fun had been turned into sudden and great fright.

He knew that their fun had turned into sudden and great fright

Chatterer kept on. He was curious. He wanted to find out exactly what had been going on. So it was that presently he came to the tree in which was the old nest of Blacky the Crow. Chatterer knew about that nest. He had known about it for a long time. He had been tempted to make that nest over in the fall for his own winter use. He hadn't done it because he had seen Blacky the Crow around there more or less and he had a feeling that Blacky might make trouble for him.

For several minutes Chatterer sat still in a tree just a short distance from the tree that held the nest. He suspected that somewhere around that point Hooty the Owl probably was sitting. He had no desire to be seen by Hooty. He wanted to see him first. So he sat still and looked and looked and looked through all the trees. Nowhere could he see Hooty. Finally he made up his mind that Hooty must have flown away when the crows flew. "I guess I won't see Hooty after all," said Chatterer to himself. "He doesn't belong around here anyway. Probably he has gone back to his favorite place in the lonesomest part of the Green Forest. Now that I'm here, I believe I'll have another look at that nest of Blacky's."

Chatterer was just preparing to jump over into the next tree when his sharp eyes caught sight of something black floating down from up in the tree where Blacky's nest was. It was the feather of a crow. Chatterer's heart seemed to almost stop beating, he was so startled.

YOUR BABY and MINE

By MYRTLE MEYER HILDRED

Mrs. Hildred will be glad to answer all questions pertaining to babies and children. A stamped and self-addressed envelope, forwarded to this office will bring a personal reply.

This department offers leaflets on weaning and feeding the child from 6 weeks to 6 years, prenatal care and diet for the nursing mother, constipation, colds for the new baby, sleeping, walking, teething, thumb sucking, ammonium, urine, bed wetting, training in cleanly habits, periods of nursing, cod liver oil, orange juice, hives, worms, vomiting, refractory children, prune juice, lime water, rupture, styes and boils and cradle cap. Before asking a personal question about one of these problems, it is better to send a self-addressed stamped envelope for the leaflet you need. If your particular problem is not covered in the above list, Mrs. Hildred will be glad to give you a personal reply.

JUST WHAT BEHAVIOR DO YOU EXPECT OF YOUR CHILD?

Success or failure in dealing with our children is largely the result of what we expect of them. We all know of some poor child who is expected to follow in the footsteps of a dissolute father, and usually does. We know the attitudes held by stepmothers or fother-mothers who easily grow discouraged at misbehavior and are ready to throw it up to the child that he doesn't take after them. Children live up to our pessimistic, as well as optimistic, expectations. If we are ready to translate every action into a belief that they are being intentionally bad or naughty and tell them so, what encouragement is there for the child to do better? It, instead, we try to find a logical reason for the child's behavior, recognizing it as curiosity, a bid for attention or a desire to be outstanding in some particular, we touch the mainspring, and our own understanding of these universal motives gives us the courage to expect that they will be temporary or adjustable.

Good Management Achieves Good Behavior

Mrs. T. T. S. says: "I am convinced that children are good or bad because they are encouraged to be that way. I have heard parents call a child 'Meanness' as a nickname. The child lived up to it. Upon asking another child: 'How are you?' he had been taught to answer: 'I'm a bad one.' Awfully cute in the small child but not conducive to his good behavior.

"My daughter does not know what it means to be called bad. I have kept the word 'naughty' out of my vocabulary. She needs correction, sometimes punishment, but I try consistently to emphasize her good points.

"I find that children learn unconsciously by our examples. During her first year she played in a play pen. I was fearful that when put on the floor in the spring she would be into everything. To my surprise when I said, 'no,' she drew back. She had learned the meaning of the word when I had refused to let her touch some article or refused her some food. She says, 'Thank you' and 'You're welcome' and holds us to the same standards. I'm glad my husband co-operates fully with me in her training.

"I have been enjoying your recent articles on letting children help. I find it pays even if the work has to be done over. Oh, yes, I have to cut off the buttons and sew them over again, but some day she will be a lot of help.

"We are trying to keep before us constantly that some day our children will be grown up, and we believe that their habits then will be very much the same as they are now."

If the teakettle has some hot water in it, hold the spout under the faucet to fill it to the top. Thus you eliminate the danger of burning your hands with steam.

HOLD-UP MAN KNOCKED DOWN

Sock went the fist of Mrs. C. C. Reynolds, 370-A Lambert Road, Santa Fe Springs, right on the right eye of a bandit who pointed a gun at her and roughly commanded her to get out of her automobile as she was driving on Colima Road near Whittier Boulevard last Wednesday evening.

Miss Mabel Normand, former film actress, was given one pint of new blood yesterday morning in a transfusion administered by Dr. Walter Brem at Pottenger's Sanatorium, where she has been a tuberculosis patient for the past ten months.

"Before the transfusion," said Dr. F. M. Pottenger, "Miss Normand was feeling better than she had for some time and she withstood the ordeal very well, but the permanent results of the process will be very slow and it will be some time before we can tell what benefit she will receive from the transfusion."

The blood was obtained from a man whose name was not given.

Dancer Ordered Held for Trial

Lillith Dusenberry, 18-year-old hula dancer, was ordered held for trial by Superior Court on drunk-driving charges by Municipal Judge Ballard yesterday. Her bond was set at $500.

Witnesses called by Dep. Dist.-Atty. Russell declared the girl was responsible for an accident at East Forty-second street and Avalon Boulevard on January 29, last. She swerved her automobile quickly enough to avoid striking another which was entering the intersection, they testified, but the other machine upset in trying to avoid her. Officers Lund and Walker reported the girl scratched and bit them when she was arrested and taken to the Georgia-street Receiving Hospital. She was intoxicated, Police Surgeon Lopozich declared.

Husband Nagged Her, Says Wife

Harry Kraus nagged and tormented his wife Fanny to such an extent that he completely wrecked her piece of mind, she testified yesterday before Superior Judge Hazlett when asking for a divorce.

"He told me he was going to leave me and go so far that I would never find him," she told the court.

A decree was granted.

NEWS OF THE CAFES

Grimth and Norris, operators of a chain of cafes in Los Angeles, announce the opening next Monday of one of the finest buffet restaurants in the city, between Sixth and Seventh on Spring street, catering specially to the busy business man and woman. Hot and cold sandwiches, tempting salads and pastries will be featured.

The cafe is equipped with all modern cooking equipment and electrical refrigeration. C. J. Cavanaugh, manager, stated it is planned to open a string of similar establishments in the very near future.

CAMPUS TOGS TO RULE

Johnny Hamp and his Kentucky Serenaders, now in their fourth week in the Cocoanut Grove at the Ambassador, will don rooters' caps and campus sweaters tonight when they feature their weekly collegiate program of dance numbers.

MYSTERY VEILS FETE

Monday will be "Mystery Night" in the Blossom Room of the Roosevelt Hotel, and no announcement of the nature of the program of entertainment which will take place is to be made.

It has been stated, however, that the occasion will be one of the most notable yet staged in the Blossom Room. George Olsen and his orchestra will head the lavish floor show which will be presented, and which will have on its roster a number of outstanding headliners.

AFTERNOON OF DANCING

Dancing all afternoon is an innovation recently inaugurated at the Oaks Tavern Cafe, Fourth and Hill streets, by the manager, Frank Reiter. A Hawaiian quartet provides the dance music from 3 to 7 p.m. and the chef has prepared a special menu consisting of sandwiches and salads to be served during those hours. The Yellow Jacket Orchestra and a snappy floor show are featured noon and evenings.

NEW FEATURES ADDED

Mark Collins, builder of the Hill Top Inn, Montrose, has incorporated many features that he gathered in a study of scores of similar establishments elsewhere, and also ideas gathered from his twenty years in the hotel business in Maine, thus making his cafe one of the most unique dining places in the Southland. The booth partitions are so constructed as to fold back out of the way when it is desired to clear the floor for dancing and the table appointments are of the finest, vacuum coffee urns and coffee glasses being unusual features.

Choice of Jail Prevented by Taking Fines from Posted Bonds

Efforts of Communists convicted on misdemeanor charges in twenty-seven cases to serve the jail sentences imposed by Municipal Judge Sheldon rather than pay their fines were blocked yesterday by Clerk Charles Keisner when he refused to accept their surrender. Keisner declared they are prohibited from serving the jail sentences by the fact that each had posted cash bail before the trials, out of which the fines will be taken before the remainder is returned, in accordance with the rules of the Municipal Court.

Six Communists, convicted of disturbing a public meeting at 2113 Brooklyn avenue January 3, last, were fined $75 each with the option of spending fifteen days in jail. Each of the defendants had $100 cash bail posted.

Those convicted were Mrs. Lillian Silverman, Morgis Popoff, Thomas Ray, John Coolikov, Isadore Brooks and Mrs. Evelyn Martin.

Twenty-one Communists arrested on blocking-the-sidewalk charges in front of the hall and in front of the Mexican Consulate, where they held a meeting of protest against the Mexican government January 4, last, were recently fined $25 each.

Many Helped to Find Work

Of the 232 ex-prisoners of the County Jail handled by the Sheriff's contact department during January, eighty-seven were placed in jobs, it was stated yesterday in a report issued by R. E. Frith, contact officer. Thirteen of the total number still are unemployed, while 132 had jobs of their own, the report added. The office reported 410 interviews in behalf of jobs for ex-prisoners during January.

From the Sheriff's special fund 105 loans were made to ex-prisoners during the month. Loans outstanding totaled $4143.30 and cash on hand January 31, last, was $1111.68.

Chain Has Gross Income of $15,000,000 in Year

Thousands of Miles of Wire Added for Expansion

Mirth and Melody Included in Station Offerings

The Times Forum, KHJ, 10:30 a.m.: Dr. Philip M. Lovell, in charge of the "Care of the Body" department of The Times Magazine. World wide news, 12:30, 4:30 and 10 p.m.

BY JOHN S. DAGGETT

Followers of the programs of the National Broadcasting Company, released locally through KFI and KECA, may be amazed at the magnitude of the business handled last year by this chain system. Merlin H. Aylesworth, its president, states in his annual report, according to advices from Washington, that the gross income of the company last year was approximately $15,000,000, and that broadcasting has definitely attained the standing of "big business."

"The year was one of decided advance for the company," he declares. "The service offered associated stations from the main distributing points, stations WEAF and WJZ, was increased sixty hours a week and now offers continuous service for nineteen and one-quarter hours each week-day from the former and sixteen and one-half hours from the latter station. During the year the company served 199 clients, compared with ninety-six in 1928. The expanded business made necessary an increase in the personnel, exclusive of artists, from 538 to 917. More than 1,000,000 letters were received during the year."

VAST WIRE NETWORK

"The permanent wire network used by this company in the transmission of programs now totals 32,500 miles. Fourteen new stations which joined the chain during the year necessitated the addition of approximately 4500 miles of specially conditioned telephone wires for permanent service and 900 miles for special recurring service. There are now seventy-three network stations in the system, according to the report. All of the programs do not come to the Pacific Coast, but it is intimated that more are to come this year as a result of a reduction in sustaining rates made January 1, last.

Radio has developed a tremendous new channel of revenue to the American Telephone and Telegraph Company in the collection of tolls from the extensive network and this fact has had a direct bearing on the development of the industry and the subjugation of rebroadcasting, which at one time was promised by the Westinghouse Company.

Girls Battle Policeman in Bandit Hunt

After a struggle with a policeman last evening two girls who said they are Leonora Martinez, 23 years of age, and Valencia Martinez, 21, were arrested in connection with the hold-up and robbery of a Japanese woman on Wednesday. The two girls were booked on charge of suspicion of robbery. They refused to give any address.

Mrs. Takie Nadaio of 789 Tuna street, San Pedro, was held up and robbed of $1000 shortly after she left a bank on Terminal Island Wednesday morning. A Mexican man, 25 years of age, seized the money she just had drawn and made off in a rented coupe, which he abandoned in a lumber yard not far away. Witnesses told police that he transferred to another coupe in which two women were waiting. The license number, which was noted and given to police, was found to be registered to Leonora Gonzalez and J. C. Rivera of 392½ Third street, San Francisco. Officers were notified to look out for the car.

Traffic Policeman Vodon at Spring and Sixth streets last night spied the car. In it were the two Mexican girls. When he tried to stop them, after pursuit, he says, the driver, Leonora Martinez, fought him off. Vodon managed to subdue her and take the girls to Central Police Station.

REDWOODS TO BE TOPIC

California's redwood trees will be discussed tonight at 7 o'clock at a meeting of the Southern California chapter of the Sierra Club, in Boos Brothers Cafeteria, Broadway and Seventh street. Winfield Scott, representing the California Forest Protective Association, will illustrate his talk on "The Redwood in Sentiment, in Industry and in Reforestation," with 100 stereopticon views.

MARZEC TRIAL NEARING CLOSE

Arguments Expected to be Started Today

Notebook Introduced in Bank Robbery Case

Notations Said to Give Theft Data in Code

Arguments in the trial of Pete Marzec, accused eccentric bank bandit, probably will begin in Superior Judge McComb's court today, Attorney Orbison, representing the defendant, indicated when court adjourned last night.

The prosecution closed its case at noon with the introduction into evidence of a small notebook found in Marzec's luggage at the time of his arrest. According to Dep. Dist.-Atty. McCartney, prosecuting the case, notations found in this book constitute one of the strongest links in the chain of circumstantial evidence surrounding the defendant.

These notations read:

"March 30, '27, Sroda, 84." (Sroda is Wednesday in Polish.)

"Aug. 17, '28, Pontek, 12." (Pontek is Friday in Polish.)

Marzec is charged with robbing the Merchants National Trust and Savings Bank at 4212 South Hoover street of $8400 on March 30, 1927, and another branch of the same bank at Twenty-fifth street and Central avenue on August 17, 1928. McCartney contends that the notations in Marzec's book relate in code the location of the two robberies and the amounts obtained.

Two guns—a .22 caliber automatic with the barrel threaded for a silencer and a German Luger—also are included in the mass of evidence introduced against Marzec. His victims in the Central avenue bank robbery assert that the bandit had two guns, one a .22 automatic equipped with a silencer and a German Luger.

WOMAN TO FACE JURY AS POISONER

Mrs. Lewis, Rooming-house Operator, Ordered Tried for Murder Attempt

Mrs. Belle M. Lewis, rooming-house proprietor, was ordered held for trial on three felony charges growing out of her asserted attempt to poison Henry P. Lynch, her business partner, following the conclusion of her preliminary hearing before Municipal Judge Russell yesterday. Charged with attempted murder, administering poison with intent to kill and mingling poison with food, the woman's bail was reduced from $5000 to $2500 at the request of her attorney, Alfred Paonessa.

Dep. Dist.-Atty. Broker established that Lynch had backed the woman in purchasing the rooming-house and in other enterprises to the extent of $1400. Lynch, on the witness stand, declared he became sick after being given some barley which Mrs. Lewis told him she had cooked and "would be good for him." City Chemist Welsh testified that he found barley, impregnated with strychnine and used as rat poison, in Lynch's room and similar barley, which had been cooked, in a garbage can.

Through E. J. Erskine, who resided in an apartment next to Lynch, Paonessa established that the latter had on several occasions threatened to poison himself.

BOY KILLED; DRIVER OF CAR BEATEN

Father of Traffic Victim Punching Motorist When Officers Arrive

After suffering a beating at the hands of a father enraged at the sight of his lifeless child, James W. Taylor, 33 years of age, of 1443 East Sixty-eighth street, yesterday was booked on suspicion of manslaughter as a result of the death under the wheels of his automobile of Walter Hawkins, Jr., 6, of 856 East Forty-ninth street.

The child was killed by Taylor's automobile, according to police, when run over while playing near the Forty-ninth-street school, where he was a pupil. Taylor stopped the car and was preparing to take the boy to a hospital when the elder Hawkins, having learned of the accident, arrived and struck him on the jaw. Patrolmen Bledsoe and Rouse of Newton-street division separated the combatants, taking Taylor to Georgia-street Receiving Hospital for treatment of lacerations.

Opinions of witnesses differed as to the cause of the accident, police said. A Coroner's inquest will be conducted at 2:30 p.m. today.

GRAND JURY DRAWN TODAY

Name of Nineteen to Comprise 1930 Panel Will be Selected by Superior Judge Wood

The first step toward selection of the 1930 county grand jury will be taken by Walton Wood, presiding judge of the criminal division of Superior Court, at 10 o'clock this morning when Ed Miller, court clerk, will draw thirty names from the 200 placed in the grand jury wheel.

The thirty persons whose names are called will be notified to appear before Superior Judge Wood on the 18th inst. for questioning regarding their qualifications for grand jury duty. If the court finds nineteen of the prospects qualified the jury will be sworn in at once and a foreman appointed.

If the necessary nineteen jurors are not selected from the first group of thirty another list of thirty names will be drawn and the prospective jurors questioned at a later date, and so on until the jury is complete.

According to Percy Hammon, deputy District Attorney in charge of grand jury matters, the new grand jury is not being summoned because of any sensational inquiry, but merely to get it organized and functioning within the next thirty days, if possible, to dispose of numerous routine matters that have accumulated since the first of the year.

GLORIA CHOOSES SPICY STORY

Bryan Foy Announces Program of Short Subjects; Janet Gaynor Will Have "Liliom" Heroine Role; Alice White Tells Marriage Plans

BY GRACE KINGSLEY

Gloria Swanson has no notion of sitting down and twidding her thumbs while she waits for the completion of Franz Lehar's score for "Queen Kelly," but instead is going thriftily to work on another film for United Artists.

GLORIA SWANSON

The picture, it was decided yesterday definitely, will be Josephine Lovett's original, "What A Widow!" Several stories have been under consideration, but Miss Swanson a couple of days ago went to the desert near Indio, where Miss Lovett has been working steadily on the story for several weeks, and after the two had gone over it carefully Miss Swanson decided that it was quite the best picture material she has had in a long time.

No sooner was this accomplished than two leading men, on whom Miss Swanson has been counting in case she selected the Lovett story, were signed. They are Ian Keith and Owen Moore, both of whom have so many screen and stage successes to their credit that it is needless to mention them.

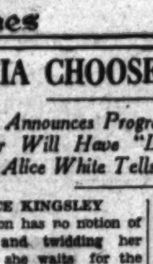
Of course, Miss Swanson will sing in "What a Widow!" Indeed, she is having three songs written for her use in the picture.

The scenes of the story are laid in Paris and New York. From which statement you will deduce that Miss Swanson will wear clothes. And the fact is, the story calls for no less than fifteen costumes. Some of these are to be revealed in the color photography, which is to accentuate the picture.

Sidney Franklin is to direct, providing he can be borrowed from Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer.

JOHNNY ARTHUR TO STAR IN COMEDIES

Bryan Foy, full of pep after his vacation, is back on the job at First National, heading the department of Vitaphone shorts, and planning some important things for that department of the Warner Brothers' activities.



BRYAN FOY

As will be remembered, Foy was the man who first gave the world the talking pictures, when he produced "The Lights of New York" for Warners. Now he is bringing all his enterprise to bear on the making of a bunch of new shorts.

Expanding in several directions in the making of these shorts, a large variety of subjects will be chosen.

Johnny Arthur is to star in a series of situation comedies, Foy believing, and we agree with him, that Arthur is one of the greatest comedians of today.

Foy Will Direct

Foy himself is to direct J. P. McEvoy's "The Potters," featuring Lucien Littlefield, Lucille Ward, Mary Hutchison and Billie Taft. Beatrice Van adapted the series to the screen.

A series of fairy stories, done in Technicolor, is being produced under direction of Roy Mack with Foy supervising. Nancy Drexel heads the list of players, with fourteen clever children assisting her as actors.

Carter De Haven and Herman Raymaker are directing a series of slap-stick shorts under supervision of Foy.

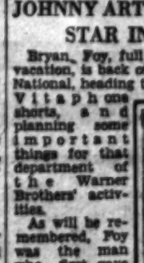
While in New York, ostensibly on vacation, Foy just couldn't quite settle down to idleness, so, by way of recreation, he produced a German feature called "The Royal Box," employing Alexander Moise and Camilla Horn. It went in at the Fifth Avenue, where it was a hit, and is to be shown in all the larger cities with German populations, including St. Louis, Milwaukee and other centers. It has been sent on to Germany.

Herman Ruby is penning stories and dialogue for the Vitaphone shorts, with M. K. Jerome and Harold Berg writing the songs.

"We're going to make two shorts a week instead of four," Foy said yesterday. "After all, why worry?"

Janet Gaynor in "Liliom"

To the brilliant Janet Gaynor has fallen one of the best roles of the year, that of the heroine of Franz Molnar's "Liliom."



JANET GAYNOR

Fox made the announcement yesterday. Just who will play the title role isn't settled, though there is always the possibility that Joseph Schildkraut, who played the role so wonderfully during a long run of the play in New York, may be borrowed from Universal. Of course, too, there is Charles Farrell, with whom Miss Gaynor is usually teamed.

All Miss Gaynor's acting powers will be put to the test in the acting of Liliom's sweetheart and wife, who passes through a hundred subtle and intense phases of emotion during her hectic life with Liliom, the shelk of the circus, and who follows him even to heaven.

Nothing is to be left to chance in the filming of this production, and Samuel N. Behrman, one of the most brilliant young novelists and playwrights of today, has arrived in Hollywood from New York to begin the first task under his newly signed Fox Films contract, the preparation of the screen story of "Liliom."

Among his other stage successes is his adaptation of "Serena Blandish." "Meteor," his latest play, is now running in New York.

Estelle and Jack Return

All loaded down with honors from her vaudeville tour, during which, by the way, she sang several songs with much success, Estelle Taylor is coming home to Hollywood this morning.

Jack Dempsey will accompany his wife, having joined her at Kansas City.

Miss Taylor had several picture offers during her vaudeville tour, but could not accept them. She is coming home now to consider a couple of offers. In case she does not accept either, she wires that she will go out again in vaudeville, this time over the Publix circuit. However, she says she would like to remain at home for a while.

Alice White May Marry

Alice White isn't denying at all that she is engaged to marry Si Bartlett, young Los Angeles resident.

Just when the wedding will take place she says hasn't been determined.

"I haven't set the day yet," she said yesterday. "We are, in fact, just waiting for Si to decide what he will do as a career."

"He has had a lot of excellent screen tests, and may enter pictures. I should like to have him do that. On the other hand, though, he may go into business."

The First National star is hoping to go to New York following the completion of her current starring vehicle.

RUSSIAN PLAY HAS PREMIERE SHOWING

"Armored Train" Tells Story of Revolution; Gilmor Brown Featured

BY KATHERINE T. VON BLON

Unmitigated violence, represented through two dynamic characters and by mass movements expressing a crescendo of unrest, characterize "The Armored Train," heavy modern Russian drama from the pen of Vsevold Ivanov, now receiving an auspicious American premiere at Pasadena Community Playhouse.

The play is modernistic in treatment, yet savors of the early Greek tradition, with its massed movements, its songs streaming and repeating in emotionally conceived rhythm, the rising and falling inflection of the upheaval. It is Russia in revolution. The strange cadence and motifs are built up in a sequential manner, which reminds one of the creative movements of a symphony.

It is a drama whose power lies in the intensely realistic delineation of contending forces, symbols of certain ideals. These forces are represented by massing of men and means; with the two characters "of Vershinin, the peasant leader, and Nezelasov, scion of the aristocracy, about whom revolve terrifying events. The towering figure of Vershinin, tremendous in his inarticulate peasant simplicity, recreating the facts of life, and groping toward the great human rights of existence, is colossal.

The taking of the armored train by the peasant forces, through the casting of their own bodies beneath its wheels, is one of the scenes in which the tempo is heightened and the emotional side stressed until it becomes terrific in power.

Janis Muncie has created a background which sweeps with a sort of terrible dignity about the play. It is painted with breadth and sort of aloofness as one dealing in revelation.

A fine characterization is that of Gilmor Brown as the peasant Vershinin. Reserve, the stolidity of the peasant, and also the dignity of great soul moulded in the habiliments of common clay seem to shine forth in the Brown version. As Nezelasov, aristocratic captain of the Czar, Onslov Stevenson gave an excellent performance. His scene in the turret of the train was dramatic and moving. Joseph Sauers as Filanov, the father, gave a virile and moving performance. As Pecklanov, the dreamer, Charles Levison seemed miscast, though he made the part interesting to a certain degree. As Nastia, wife of Vershinin, Wilma Entwistle managed a well-shaded interpretation.

RADIO HERO CROONS HIS LOVE SONGS

"Vagabond Lover" Gives Rudy Vallee Opportunity to Reveal Talent

BY PHILIP K. SCHEUER

Dudy Vallee, a phenomenon, struggled to express the nobler emotions from the screen at the R.-K.-O. Theater yesterday, in a film entitled "The Vagabond Lover." As a singer of popular ballads, Mr. Vallee is able to stand on his own feet; it is already well known that his crooned glissandos, or whatever you want to call them, have a way with women—such a way that, at 11 o'clock yesterday morning, they do say there was a line of them a half-block long at the box office. Before such a mass visitation of the fair sex, the only chivalrous thing for mere man to do is to retire with as much dignity as he can muster, keeping a civil tongue in his head while still within earshot, and taking care that such troublesome questions as "Can such things be?" never pass his lips under penalty of the swiftest annihilation.

Mr. Vallee, when he wasn't crooning, kept pretty much to himself, his downhearted demeanor suggesting that he had troubles of his own, or just possibly that it was something he ate. In either case, he has satisfied a universal curiosity as to what he is like—and this, I take it, is the sole reason for "The Vagabond Lover."

But I had almost forgotten. Marie Dressler is in it. Miss Dressler portrays a society matron of generous amplitude and humor, whose pet ambition it is to confound her rival, the haughty Mrs. Todhunter. If Miss Dressler's deportment leans rather heavily on the side of slapstick at times, no great harm is done. In fact, none at all. As her niece—also as the object of Mr. Vallee's unwilling passion—appears pretty Sally Blane, whose enthusiastic response never at any time threatens to run away with her, either.

"A Little Kiss Each Morning" is the catchiest number of the lot. It has been widely "plugged" in the past, and is still a favorite with audiences. Then there are the title piece, another beginning, "I love you, believe me," and still another about the only girl in the world. Mr. Vallee's orchestra, the Connecticut Yankees, is a lively collegiate group augmented by the lively presences of Eddie Nugent, Norman Peck and Danny O'Shea.

Marshall Neilan directed, from a story by James A. Creelman, for Radio Pictures. The recording is very good.

The bill of varieties is led by Ruby Norton in "Famous Blondes," by Neville Fleeson. Ray and Harrison, the little fellow and the large lady, still display laugh proclivities in contrast. Frederick Sylvester and His Nephews are agile and talented, and Hal Neiman is a comedian.

A Grantland Rice Sportlight, devoted to trained dogs, is a most fascinating and enjoyable short film subject on the same program.

Theater Adds New Names to Midnight Show

The names of Frank Richardson and Dave Franklin have been added to the program already announced for tomorrow night's midnight frolic at Grauman's Chinese Theater, in conjunction with Lawrence Tibbett's starring picture, "The Rogue Song."

Richardson will sing some of his well-known songs which have proven popular with Chinese Theater patrons, and will be accompanied by Dave Franklin who will also present his piano monologue eccentricity.

Included in the program will be W. S. Van Dyke, director of M.-G.-M.'s "Trader Horn," who will introduce from the stage two savages which he brought back from Africa.

Japanese Drama Will Open Soon

A Japanese-American box office, innovation of Michio Ito, producer, is now open at the Figueroa Playhouse for the sale of tickets for "Samurai and Geisha," three-act musical drama which opens a week's engagement Monday night.

"Samurai and Geisha" features Tsuteul, noted Nipponese stage star, and his company of thirty sword players, Geisha dancers, singers and musicians, direct from Osaka for their first American tour. The attraction moves direct from Los Angeles to New York, where it will be presented under the auspices of the Theater Guild.

LOVERS REUNITED

Richard Arlen and Mary Brian are again to be seen as screen sweethearts. Miss Brian has been cast as Arlen's leading woman in Paramount's all-talking picturization of Zane Grey's outdoors story, "The Light of Western Stars." Arlen and Miss Brian first appeared together in "The Man I Love" and later in "The Virginian" and "Burning Up."

Loew's Books Whiteman

Paul Whiteman and his orchestra will appear on the stage at Loew's State Theater starting Thursday, it was reported yesterday. The presentation will take the place of the regular Fanchon and Marco act.

The engagement will probably last but one week, it was said. Whiteman and his band are known wherever popular music is played, and the jazz maestro is expected to prove as popular as ever in the new offering.

Battle of Feminine Wiles Opens

And Olive Borden are the combatants for the favor of H. B. Warner in "Wedding Rings," the film starting today at Warner Brothers' Hollywood Theater.

'NUT FARM' PLAY CAST SELECTED

Emerson Treacy, Shirley Mason Will Take Leading Roles in Comedy

The 16th inst. is the date set for the western premiere of "The Nut Farm," the comedy which played in New York and Chicago last summer.

William E. Smith, producer at the Vine-street Theater, has assembled a versatile cast for this farce. It is headed by Emerson Treacy, Shirley Mason, Gloria Grey, Frank Mayo and Frankie Raymond. Each of these players has had wide individual experience on both stage and screen, and are all well suited to their respective roles in "The Nut Farm."

Rehearsals will start immediately, so that this second attraction on the winter program at the Vine Street will be prepared to succeed "Sun-Up" at the conclusion of its limited run.

'Lummox' Player Gains Poundage for Film Role

Winifred Westover weighed 120 pounds when she signed for the title role in Herbert Brenon's production, "Lummox," starting at the United Artists Theater Wednesday. She is reported to weigh 195 pounds in the picture. Forty pounds excess represent eating of fat-producing foods over a period of several weeks, it is said.

The rest of the added weight required to give the servant girl heroine the correct posture of the well-known character is Brenon's scheme of concealing thirty-five pounds of lead in her shoes, skirt hem, collar and sleeves.

Miss Westover leads a stage and screen cast in "Lummox," composed of William Collier, Jr., Ben Lyon, Edna Murphy, Myrtle Stedman, Clara Langsner and Dorothy Janis.

Name of Louise Follows French Idol in Films

Maurice Chevalier has had two sweethearts—each named Louise—since he has been in America. One was in his first talking picture, "Innocents of Paris," and the other in his latest, "The Love Parade," which is in its third and final week at the Paramount Theater.

In "Innocents of Paris," Chevalier introduced a song which became popular, "Louise." In "The Love Parade," Chevalier does not sing about Louise, but he sings several to Louise.

Louise in "The Love Parade" is played by Jeanette MacDonald, the former Broadway musical-comedy favorite.

UFA Picture Screened Today

One of Europe's outstanding cinema artists, G. W. Pabst, again displays his direction in the new UFA production, "The Loves of Jeanne Ney," which opens tonight at the Filmarte Theater. "The Loves of Jeanne Ney" starts briskly in the Crimea. It then swings to Paris, where the action takes on new speed through several climaxes, adventures and episodes.

Edith Jehenne portrays the title role of Jeanne Ney. Brigitte Helm has the sympathetic part of a blind girl, and Fritz Rasp interprets a renegade Russian.

An added attraction will be an old-time classic, "Who's Baby?" starring Gloria Swanson.

DALE FULLER RETURNS

Dale Fuller has returned to her Hollywood apartment from several days spent on her orange ranch. Following the run of "The Sacred Flame" at Warner's Hollywood Theater, the picture, which is one of her latest releases, will show at various neighborhood houses.

Talking Films to Bring Alex Aarons West

NEW YORK, Feb. 6. (Exclusive) Alex A. Aarons of the firm of Aarons and Freedley, musical-comedy producers, will leave for California next week. While on the Coast, he hopes to effect an arrangement between his firm and a talking-film producing company.

Bertha Kalish has begun rehearsals of a Yiddish play, "The Soul of A Woman," by Harry Kalmanovitch. She will open in the play at the National Theater on the 15th inst. "Staves of Luxury," starring Max Gobel and Jennie Goldstein, will have its premiere tomorrow night at Gabel's Public Theater.

In addition to Alice Brady, who will appear in the star role of "The Fatal Woman," the complete cast will include Robert Williams, Wilton Lackaye, Clark Gable, Mark Smith, Lenda Farell and Gordon Weld. Don Mullally is directing the production, which is to open on the 21st inst. in Hartford.

"Echo," a play by Leila Manning Taylor, will soon be presented for a series of matinee performances, in the company will be Marcia Brown, Alan Campbell, Katherine Hepburn, Dodd Mehan and L'Estrange Millman.

"Out of the East," which the author, Charles F. Park, is sponsoring, is due to open on Broadway during the week of the 24th inst.

Lyle Stackpole and Bernard J. McOwen will appear in Mr. McOwen's play, "The Blue Ghost," which Jimmie Cooper is producing.

Arthur Byron, who plays the warden in "The Criminal Code," is to go to Sing Sing tomorrow as the guest of Warden Lewis F. Lawes. During the afternoon he will address a group of convicts.

"CRIMINAL CODE" BOUGHT

Harry Cohn announces that he has acquired the talking-picture rights to "The Criminal Code," the sensational stage play of prison life. This makes the third stage play that Cohn has annexed for Columbia's new program. He recently bought "Rain or Shine," the musical play with a circus background which will feature Joe Cook, and "Soldiers and Women," the Paul Hervey Fox stage play which occasioned considerable comment during its recent run on Broadway.

GILDA GRAY IN TALKIE

"He Was Her Man" has been selected as the final title for Gilda Gray's initial talking screen two-reel production at the Paramount Long Island studio under the direction of Dudley Murphy. Featured in support of Miss Gray is Walter Penner.

"JOURNEY'S END" CONTINUES RUN

Wellington Briggs

"Journey's End," which is being given a popular reception at the Belasco Theater, has also stirred audiences in other large cities of the world. London and New York especially have paid honors to this drama of war, which was penned by R. C. Sherriff.

The cast enacting the play is composed of Englishmen, some of whom are making a first visit to the United States. Conspicuous in the cast are Basil Gill Hugh Williams, Wellington Briggs, Wallace Douglas and Walter Hudd.

BACKSTAGE YARN TOLD ON SCREEN

William Powell and Hal Skelly Responsible for Fine Portrayals

Possessing markedly distinctive features, yet falling at the same moment to strike a note of real suspense, "Behind the Make-Up" arrived quietly at the Boulevard Theater yesterday.

This is a film which Robert Milton directed for Paramount and upon which, it can easily be seen, a great deal of thought, time and tasteful effort has been expended.

That the result will never be box-office and in the same breath never go down in high artistic annals is easily apparent. Yet the film has merit, and interest, due to excellent characterizations provided by both William Powell and Hal Skelly, and rather fine and pictorial settings.

The story, while not unbelievable, fails to pack the punch necessary to suspenseful interest. It moves in leisurely fashion, allowing ample opportunity for careful inspection of each of the players, their own character, motives and individual reactions. It never strikes a pitch higher than, say, middle C.

It is a backstage story, although that should not be held against it.

For the behind-the-curtain scenes are not overemphasized for local color, nor are they underemphasized.

The story is simply of one Gardoni, (William Powell,) who believes whole-heartedly and rather dreadfully in himself. He, the artist to the fingertips, can do no wrong. Accordingly he steals the act of his more simple friend, Hap, (Hal Skelly,) steals Hap's girl and more than that, steals the glory that might have been Hap's after he, Gardoni, has gone to his death.

Skelly as Hap is the dumb, trusting and loyal low comedian, who, in his love for the girl (Fay Wray,) rises to fine heights of comradely sacrifice. Miss Wray is at all times charming, although miscast as a waitress in a Baton Rouge cafe, who could marry a Gardoni. Kay Francis does a typical Kay Francis vampire.

A program of music and specialty acts, presided over by Slim Martin, accompanies the feature.

Civic Repertory Casts MacLaren in Next Drama

Ian MacLaren, noted screen and stage star, who has just completed a part in the Tiffany picture version of "Journey's End," will appear as guest player in the second production of the Civic Repertory Theater, "A Bill of Divorcement," which will open at the Music Box Theater on the 17th inst.

"I have a sincere belief in the fine possibilities of the stage to serve the public," said MacLaren. "It is, in a way, an obligation on the part of the actor."

MacLaren is best known in Los Angeles as the portrayer of Christus in the Pilgrimage Play for the past three seasons. He has been seen here also in "The Passing of the Third Floor Back" and with Margaret Anglin in a season of Shakespearian leads. For years he has been identified with the best in eastern theaters.

Actress Plays Dramatic Part in Warner Film

Constance Bennett, one of the three noted Bennett sisters and daughter of Richard Bennett, stage star, is said to have one of the most coveted screen roles of recent years of Alanna, the heroine of "Son of the Gods," the First National production at Warner Brothers' Downtown Theater.

Miss Bennett recently arrived in Los Angeles after a prolonged European sojourn and found she had become an overnight celebrity through the personal triumph she had made in this role, it is said. Naturally the first thing she did was to rush down to see and hear herself in the Rex Beach opus, and was delighted that audiences favor her performance.

Oscar Straus and Wife Will Hear Operetta

Oscar Straus, noted Viennese composer, and Mrs. Straus, will be the guests of Lillian Albertson and Louis O. Macloon at tonight's performance of "The New Moon" at the Majestic Theater.

Of interest is the fact that this occasion will mark the first operetta that the internationally known composer will have seen in America.

Perry Askam, who will be loaned to Warner Brothers by the Macloons for a picture, is to make his debut in the talkies in the new operetta by Oscar Straus, written especially for Vitaphone production some time in April.

ROY DEL RUTH TO FILM "AGONY COLUMN"

Having selected the cast with his usual care, Roy Del Ruth has started actual filming of Earl Derr Biggers's novel, "The Agony Column," at Warner Brothers' studios. Loretta Young, Grant Withers, H. B. Warner, Judith Vacelli, John Loder and Craufurd Kent head a list of players. Del Ruth has been identified with several box-office successes turned out by the Warner organization.

BARITONE TO APPEAR

Calvin Hendricks, blind baritone, will be heard at the midnight matinee of the 233 Club's annual show on the 15th inst. at the Music Box Theater. Although blind since birth, Hendricks plays the pipe organ, composes songs, many of which he sings professionally, and was the recent second-prize winner in the Atwater-Kent Foundation contest held in New York.

ONE CONVICTED IN GRAFT CASE

Ex-Detective Lieutentant Sheffield Found Guilty

Washington and Dunn Win Verdicts of Acquittal

Jury Deliberates Case for Twenty-four Hours

M. B. Sheffield, colored, former detective lieutenant in the Los Angeles Police Department, last night was convicted of two counts of bribery by a jury in Superior Judge Emmet Wilson's court. Roscoe Washington and Richmond Dunn, codefendants with Sheffield, were acquitted. The jury deliberated twenty-four hours. Trial of the three officers started two weeks ago.

Sheffield was convicted of having accepted two bribes, one of $25 and another of $100 from Sebe Hendricks, Central-avenue bootlegger, to refrain from arresting him for violation of the Wright Act.

Sentence will be passed by Superior Judge Wilson at 10 o'clock Monday morning.

The status of Washington and Dunn in the Los Angeles Police Department following their acquittal will be a matter for the Police Commission to decide. In the past officers acquitted of charges have been restored to duty.

An apple tree 100 years of age, at Kentville, Nova Scotia, produced twenty-two barrels of Catkin Pippins last season; its owner, Downey Morton, picked apples from the same branches fifty years ago.

MILLIONS IN INDUSTRIAL EXPANSION DISCLOSED

Expansion to the extent of several million dollars and pay-roll increases to more than 1000 persons in the manufacturing plants now located in the Union Pacific East Los Angeles and Vernon industrial areas were revealed last night by Carl R. Gray, president of the Union Pacific System. Mr. Gray was a guest at the Vernon Industrial Development Association annual dinner.

In the past eight years the Union Pacific has acquired a total of 843 acres of industrial property, Mr. Gray said, all located in Greater Los Angeles. This does not include the 400 acres within the Central Manufacturing District, which was purchased in 1922 and in the development of which the Union Pacific played an important role.

The properties include 200 acres in Tract Nos. 1, 2 and 3; 518 acres in Tract Nos. 4 and 5, and 124 acres in the Metropolitan Tract.

Since the purchase and development of this ground, Mr. Gray explained, industrial investments in buildings and equipment in Tract Nos. 1, 2 and 3 have amounted to several million dollars and 2180 persons are regularly employed in the plants. The industries located in Tract No. 4 represent a building and equipment investment of almost as much and a pay roll of 1775 persons. A total of several millions is invested in the plants and equipment located on Tract No. 5, with a pay roll of 1725 persons. In the Metropolitan Tract there is a huge investment in buildings and equipment, with a pay roll of 1440 persons.

SCENARIO WRITER HAS APPENDIX REMOVED

Seized with acute appendicitis while at work, Frances Hyland, widely known scenario writer, yesterday was taken to the Osteopathic Hospital for an operation, which was performed by Dr. H. B. K. Willis, who last night reported his patient to be doing well. Miss Hyland has done most of her writing for Tiffany-Stahl studios.

SAUSAGE DIET PALLS

Mrs. Lillie L. Simone refused to cook meals for her husband and he was forced to live on canned goods and sausage, George Simone declared when he went before Superior Judge Tappaan yesterday seeking a divorce. Simone said his wife often threatened to leave him, telling him she did not love him any more. A decree was granted on the grounds of mental cruelty.

PULLMAN EXECUTIVE LOS ANGELES VISITOR

Business was the least of the worries of Clive Runnels of Chicago, vice-president of the Pullman Company, following his arrival at the Biltmore yesterday. The visitor said that he and his wife are in Southern California for a vacation.

DEATH TRIAL POSTPONED

Preliminary hearing of murder charges against Sterling H. Duncan, watchman accused of shooting his employer, Carl J. Ostrom of 323 West Second street, because the latter made him work on New Year's Day, was postponed yesterday by Municipal Judge Ballard until next Friday. Police officers told the court Duncan has been confined in the State hospital at Patton.

HIGH PRAISE GIVEN CITY'S LIBRARIES

Executive of National Association Here for Convention Planning

Miss Sarah C. N. Bogle, assistant secretary of the American Library Association and executive secretary of the Board of Education for Librarianship, is at the Biltmore to confer with City Librarian Everett R. Perry, vice-president of the American Library Association, on plans for the national library convention, to be held at the Biltmore June 23 to 28.

MISS SARAH C.N. BOGLE

The association has 11,000 members and an attendance of more than 2000 is expected.

Miss Bogle believes Los Angeles is the logical place for holding the convention as it is the home of the vice-president of the association, and the center of many interesting libraries, including the public library building, the headquarters of the Los Angeles County Library. The university and school libraries and the Huntington Library also serve as drawing cards to those who wish to study the various phases of library work, she said.

In her capacity as executive secretary of the Board of Education for Librarianship, Miss Bogle visited the Library School of the Los Angeles Library to study the curriculum and methods employed. She remarked that this library school had been accredited by the Board of Education of the American Library Association.

Miss Bogle came to California at the invitation of Vierling Kersey, State Superintendent of Public Instruction, to survey the possibilities and needs of education for librarianship in the State. She spoke of the remarkable development of State and county library work in California and said that it is always a pleasure to refer foreigners who look to America for library development, to the county system in California.

Miss Bogle acted as director of the American Library School in Paris during its demonstration period, an international school growing out of the demand during the war for library service, and representing twenty-three different countries in its enrollment. On her way back to the Chicago headquarters of the American Library Association, she will make a number of stops to study conditions in other States.

Annulment Row in Withers Case Formally Ends

A dismissal of the annulment proceedings against the Arizona marriage of Grant Withers, film actor, and his 17-year-old bride, Loretta Young, was filed yesterday by Attorneys Smith and Breslin, representing the plaintiff, Mrs. Gladys Belzer, the bride's mother, and W. De F. Mann and Maurice McCarthy, attorneys for the defendant.

Withers and his bride recently eloped to Yuma. On their return Mrs. Belzer filed suit to annual the marriage on the grounds that the bride was only 17 years of age, and had married without her mother's consent. Such a marriage is legal in Arizona, but may be contested in California.

Miss Young announced yesterday that she and her husband will proceed with their plans for the construction of a home.

"We plan on occupying our apartment at the El Royale for a year while we are building our new home," she stated. "The dismissal of the suit has made me very happy."

Miss Young declared she communicated with her mother yesterday and that "everything is lovely."

INDIA FREEDOM DANGERS CITED

Missionary Back After Three Years at Lahore

Return to Bloody Internal Wars Predicted

Much of Mayo Book True, Says Miss Beesemyer

Severance of India from the British Empire would be a stumbling block in the path to world peace and would throw India back into that state of bloody, internecine strife which prevailed before the beginning of English rule, Miss Gertrude Beesemyer, who has returned to Los Angeles after three years of missionary work at Lahore, said yesterday.

"The Nationalist party is not strong enough, numerically, nor well enough organized to attain its goal of independence for India, and I, for one, would not care to live in India if the party should win," said Miss Beesemyer. "I cannot picture India with an established government. Every section of the country is like a little nation, in itself, and self-government for India would mean chaos. For instance, the people of the United Provinces fear the inhabitants of the Punjab who, if the Nationalists should be successful, doubtless would conquer the United Provinces. There are many small native States which would be swallowed up by the larger States if England should withdraw its protection from India, leaving the average Indian with less independence than he enjoys today."

MAYO BOOK ACCURATE

Discussing Catherine Mayo's book "Mother India," Miss Beesemyer said it is against conditions such as are described in Miss Mayo's book that the missionary doctor and evangelist are working. Statements made by Miss Mayo concerning undesirable conditions are true, especially in regard to conditions in the villages, although such conditions do not prevail throughout India, Miss Beesemyer said.

"Through the work of the missionaries and that of educated nativese these unhappy conditions are gradually being eliminated," said Miss Beesemyer. "The new law against child marriage, which will go into effect next June, will help greatly in ameliorating the miseries of India."

Miss Beesemyer, who is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William Beesemyer of 3307 Virginia avenue, went to India under the auspices of the Woman's Foreign Missionary Society of the Methodist Episcopal Church and did tuitional work at the Lahore School for Girls, established and maintained by the women of the Methodist church.

WORK AMONG OUTCASTS

"When I left India, we were preparing for an enlargement of the school, which was built to accommodate fifty students but in which we usually had more than eighty girls," said Miss Beesemyer. "Our school is recognised by the government of the Punjab, for the English government favors the education of girls and supplies about half the funds for educational institutions."

Stating that she found India to be a most fascinating country, with its extremes of poverty and riches, its wondrous scenery and its interesting philosophies, Miss Beesemyer said she was especially interested in the religion of the Hindus.

"Almost every act of an Indian involves religion," said Miss Beesemyer. "So ingrained in the Indian are his ideas of religion and respect for religious rites that it is a real step forward for him when he becomes a Christian. It means the breaking away from caste and custom, as well as from his old religious ideals. The pupils of our school are, for the most part, children of Indian Christian workers and of villagers, most of whom are outcasts."

Eight Graduate in Optometry

Eight optometrist students last night received diplomas at the graduating exercises of the Los Angeles School of Optometry, University of Southern California. Dean Ernest Hutchinson presented the diplomas to William J. Garrick, William F. Harvey, Albert L. Liggett, Howard Malleck, Alexander M. MacPherson, Leonita J. Russell, Robert G. Wallis and Dorothy Wilson, conferring on each the degree of doctor of optometry.

The dinner, graduation exercises and dance were held in the Student Union Building, University of Southern California.

COLORADAN SOUGHT

In a letter received yesterday from E. Brittendall of Delcarfen, Colo., The Times is asked to aid in locating the writer's brother, H. L. Brittendall, who disappeared from Pueblo September 15, 1922, and is believed to be in Los Angeles. The missing man is said to be suffering from amnesia due to a blow received when he was held up by bandits. He is described as 35 years of age, 5 feet 6 inches in height, and weighing 150 pounds.

LAND SHOW ANNOUNCED

Event Scheduled for Week of March 8 Will be Held Under Auspices of Realty Board

Plans for the California Land Show, to be presented under the auspices of the Los Angeles Realty Board, March 8 to 23, were announced yesterday. The show will be held in a large pavilion to be erected at Hill and Washington streets, especially designed by F. J. Luebbert.

Special awards will be made for the first exhibit to be completed and ready, for the most artistic display, the best industrial display and particular stress will be laid on the horticultural and manufacturing divisions. In addition, the committee announces special awards for any products, goods or manufactured articles and other items deemed worthy.

The main entrance will be a replica of the lower fifty-foot section of the giant sequoia Wawona of the Mariposa Grove. It will be covered with natural bark and the famous twenty-foot tunnel will serve as the principal gate. The entrance will be flanked on either side by a group of smaller redwoods.

Co-operation from civic bodies of the Southland is announced by the management and the Los Angeles Chamber of Commerce has indorsed the show, according to its sponsors.

Chef Wyman to Prepare Dishes

Since the women who attend the Los Angeles Times' cooking school evince especial interest in "wholemeal" dishes, today at 2 p.m. Chef Wyman will prepare one that is unusual and inexpensive, a baked beef heart stuffed with tongue forcemeat. To accompany this she will make a cabbage salad served in pepper cups. Two desserts will be demonstrated; maple nut mold—a quickly made pudding served in glasses—and a chocolate cake. In answer to numerous requests Chef Wyman will show how to make a chocolate icing using canned milk.

The Times invites everyone to attend these classes, which are held every Friday and Tuesday in the Southwest Building, 130 South Broadway.

COUNTY WILL FILL POSITIONS BY TESTS

Several county positions are to be filled soon by competitive examinations, it was announced yesterday by the Los Angeles County Civil Service Commission. These positions, with the starting salaries attached, are: Assistant county architect, $350 a month; resident roentgenologist, maintenance and $375 a month; recreational directors, male, maintenance and $125 a month, female, half-time, $75; assistant nurses, 75 cents an hour. MRS. PRESSLER AND MRS. LIFUR CLASH

NOTED RIVALS BATTLE IN MIDWINTER FINALS TODAY

San Gabriel Star Shatters Course Record to Defeat Mrs. Woerner, 7 and 6; Miss Gottlieb Loses

BY EDWARD LAWRENCE

The same old dish, but just as delectable as ever, will be served over the north course of the Los Angeles Country Club today when Mrs. Leona Pressler of San Gabriel meets Mrs. Gregg Lifur of Riviera in the thirty-six-hole finals midwinter championship.

Continuing the same traffic pace she set for herself in winning the medal with a 77 on Monday, Mrs. Pressler yesterday advanced to the finals with a smashing 7 to 6 victory over Mrs. C. J. Woerner, Los Angeles Country Club women's champion.

MRS. GREGG LIFUR

Mrs. Woerner scored the prize upset of the midwinter championship on Wednesday when she defeated Mrs. Pressler's matchless golf yesterday.

The former western women's champion, runner-up in the 1929 national women's championship, and holder of both the California State and Southern California women's crowns, shot the greatest nine holes of her career yesterday when she was out in 36, even men's par, and missed a couple of short putts which would have given her a 34.

Despite a fine 42, Mrs. Woerner was 6 down at the turn.

Mrs. Lifur, who has been playing a bit below her usual game, was forced to extend herself to defeat Miss Gottlieb, 2 and 1. The former New York miss, now a member of the Los Angeles Country Club, was 1 up at the turn, but soon lost her slight advantage when Mrs. Lifur tightened up.

It is extremely doubtful whether any woman golfer in the world, not

ANOTHER WIN FOR CARNERA

Giant Italian Finishes Cowboy Owens in Second Round of Bout

BY JACK FARRELL

NEWARK (N. J.) Feb. 6. (Exclusive)—Mt. Carnera, the imported volcano from Italy, erupted anew at the First Regiment Armory here tonight and Cowboy Bill Owens, intrepid flivver adventurer from Guthrie, Okla., was buried under the debris of right uppercuts in twenty-three seconds of the second round of a scheduled ten-round fight.

PRIMO CARNERA

Owens, unlike the other two chumps who fought Carnera in this country, refused to be frightened. But he was knocked stiff. And in going beyond the first round, Cowboy Bill estab-

FOES MEET IN CRUCIAL TILT

Title Chances Depend on Series Results

Cage Rivals Hook Up in Pair of Games

Visitors Given Edge Over Local Quintet

BY BRAVEN DYER

Returning for their final invasion of Los Angeles this season, Nibs Price and his California basketeers are slated to arrive this morning to meet U.C.L.A. in a two-game series at the Olympic. The first contest will be played tonight at 8 o'clock with the second slated for tomorrow evening. A preliminary game between Oneonta Military Academy and the U. C. L. A. frosh will open tonight's program.

LARRY WILDS

From a U.C.L.A. standpoint the series is a crucial one and anything worse than an even break will ruin Bruin hopes for the title. Even this may not be good enough and Caddy Works and Company are out to make sure by taking both games and thus make their series with Southern California the deciding factor in the race for the southern division championship.

Having beaten the Bears, 36 to 23, in Berkeley last month, the Bruins feel that they can repeat on their home floor. This is fairly sound reasoning, in a way, but on the other hand, U.C.L.A. has appeared to be in a slump and whether the boys will snap out of it tonight remains to be seen. It is this writer's guess that the teams will split even.

GOOD DEFENSE

California showed well defensively against the Trojans here last week, but had a bad night getting the casaba through the net. When Whitey Neilson and Joel Coffield got into the game the Bears looked a lot better than they did with these two boys on the bench. Perhaps Price will open with them tonight or he may prefer to shoot them in at an opportune time, figuring their speed and shooting ability will overwhelm the Bruins.

With such men as Capt. Ten Eyck, Wilson Tripp and Kent Pursel the Bears have a tremendous weight

Lieb Due to Reach Here Today

Tom Lieb, former Notre Dame football coach, is slated to arrive in Los Angeles this morning at 9:30 o'clock over the Southern Pacific. He will be met at the station by Walter T. Casey and other officials of the Loyola University Alumni Association and taken on a tour of the Del Rey Hills institution. Lieb has tentatively agreed to become head coach at Loyola, but reserved signing until after looking over the local situation.

DEMPSEY HERE ON BUSINESS

Ex-Champ Arrives Today; May Enter Seven-Million Sports Syndicate

Jack Dempsey will arrive back in Los Angeles today from Chicago after an absence of several months. This is the longest stretch the ex-heavyweight king has been away.

JACK DEMPSEY

There are rumors that Dempsey will be invited to join a syndicate here to build a $1,000,000 sports arena in Los Angeles.

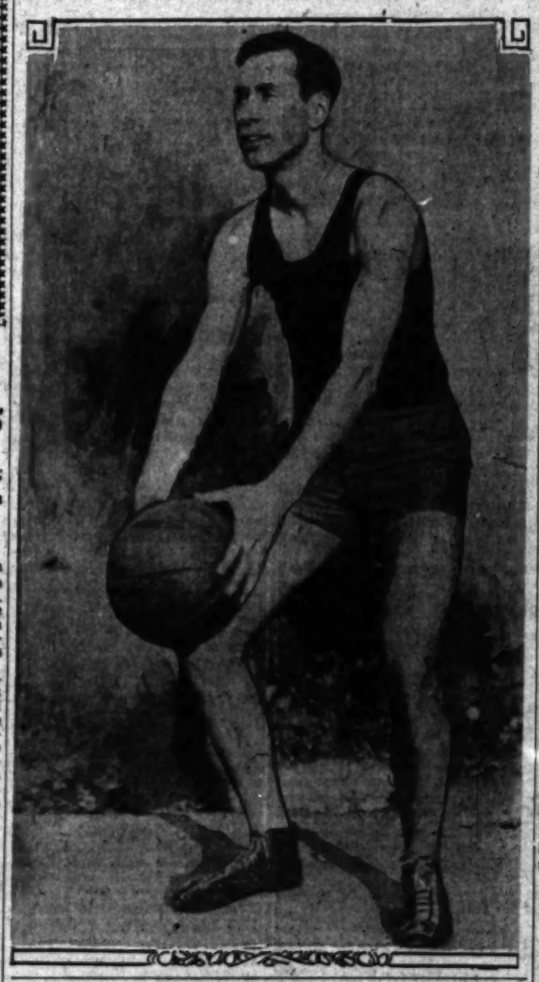
Dempsey's stay will be short, according to his brother Barney. He will return to Chicago, where he is promoting boxing bouts at the Coliseum. Dempsey plans to hold several outdoor shows at the Wrigley Field ball park there next summer.

PENNSYLVANIA FIRST

NEW YORK, Feb. 6. (AP)—The University of Pennsylvania has signified its intention of finishing first in the indoor track and field championships of the intercollegiate A.A.A.A. here March 1 by sending in the first list of entries. Coach Lawson Robertson has nominated forty-two men for the meet, it was announced today.

ON INVADING QUINTET

Here's Wilson Tripp, the sad-eyed Californian, who plays a forward position on the Golden Bear basketball team, which opposes U.C.L.A. at the Olympic tonight.



TROJANS LEAVE TONIGHT

Twelve Players Make Trip to Palo Alto for Game With Stanford Squad Tomorrow Night

Leaving here tonight at 8 p.m. on the Lark, a party of fifteen Trojans will invade Palo Alto this week-end, seeking a fourth consecutive conference basketball victory for Troy in a game with Coach Husky Hunt's Stanford five tomorrow evening in the Card gym.

The Trojans will hold a brief workout on the Stanford floor tomorrow morning at 10 o'clock to become accustomed to the new surroundings and will then retire to the Cardinal Hotel for a rest before the game. After the contest the Southern California party will go to San Francisco for the night, leaving there Sunday night and arriving in Los Angeles at 8:15 a.m. Monday in time for 9 o'clock classes.

FRANK SMITH

Although it has been Coach Sam Barry's policy to use as few players as possible in the conference games so far, he will take twelve basketeers on the trip, the other three members of the party being Student Manager Bonhomme Cahn, Dr. Packard Thurber and Coach Barry.

Taking what for Barry is an unusually large squad indicates that BERLIN, Feb. 6. (AP)—Frankie Genaro of New York threw away his chances for an easy victory when he was disqualified for fouling in the seventh round of a ten-round fight with Harry Stein, of Germany, here tonight.

Stanford Golfer Sinks Spoon Shot for Ace on 218-Yard Hole and Takes Medal Honors in Qualifying Round of Intercollegiate Tourney at Del Monte

DEL MONTE, Feb. 6. (AP)—Winston Fuller, young University of Southern California golfer, upset the dope today by defeating Gibson Dunlap, U. C. L. A. star, 4 and 3, in the first round of match play in the Pacific Coast intercollegiate golf tournament at Pebble Beach.

GIBSON DUNLAP

Fuller uncorked some amazingly long drives and accurate approaches in the afternoon round, shooting a much better brand of golf than his mediocre 89 in the morning's qualifying round. Dunlap got off to a bad start and did not improve. His putter would not work and the ocean exacted even more penalties than his morning round when he qualified with a 79.

Dunlap's teammates blamed his poor showing on the strain of final examinations. He left for Del Monte directly after completing the last of his final tests at the university.

Dunlap twice medalist and 1928 intercollegiate winner, will be remembered for the brilliant 69 he shot in the first day's qualifying round of the 1929 national amateur championship at Pebble Beach when he led Bobby Jones by a stroke.

Warner Edmonds, of Stanford, whose medal 73 which included a hole-in-one on the 17th, featured the morning round, defeated Clark Potter of the University of California in a great match play battle, 2 and 1.

Allen Moser, U. S. C., defending champion, romped in to a 6 and 4, victory over Doug White, Stanford. Dick Stevenson, Stanford, last year's runner-up, was hard put to

STATZ AIMS FOR BIG YEAR

Jigger Gives Up Golf During Winter in Order to Put on Weight; Stars Seek Yank Southpaw

BY BOB RAY

Arnold (Jigger) Statz, the par-shooting Angel center-fielder, has forsaken the fairways of the San Gabriel Country Club during these waning winter months as part of his campaign to make 1930 a bigger and better season for Mr. and Mrs. Statz and the four little Statzes.

Statz, who is none too hefty, anyway, believes that the daily treks he used to take around the fairways during the winter months tended to prevent his putting on weight that would prove valuable to his baseball in August and September. It's a hard grind, this baseball business, and an athlete is prone to get "down" during the closing weeks of the campaign unless he has added enough pounds on his frame during the off-season to carry him through to the finish.

Arnold Statz

Back in the winter before the 1926 race Statz cut out his golf. The result was that the added pounds he gained that winter enabled Jigger to have his greatest baseball year. Statz looked like the best ball player in the world with the Angels in 1926 and his work was highly instrumental in carrying the Seraphs to the championship by such a decisive margin. Jigger batted .354 that season, hammered out sixty-eight doubles and eighteen triples and fielded so brilliantly that he was immediately drafted by Brooklyn.

Statz believes much of his success

GILBERT HALL NEAR DEFEAT BY UNKNOWN

NEW YORK, Feb. 6. (AP)—Twice within a single point of defeat, Gilbert Hall of South Orange, N. J., cofavorite with Frank Hunter for the national indoor championship, gained a hard won place in the semifinal round of the title tournament at the Seventh Regiment Armory today.

FRANCIS HUNTER

Ed Jenkins, a comparatively inexperienced New York youth, caught the former Canadian indoor champion of guard and had him tottering on the brink of defeat before Hall finally took control and pulled out the match at 9-11, 13-11, 6-0.

Qualifying to meet Hall in the semifinals tomorrow, Julius Seligson, Lehigh student, who once held the national intercollegiate crown, eliminated the lone middle western standard-bearer, Harris Coggeshall of Des Moines, by 6-1, 6-2. Seligson prevailed principally because of the power and steadiness of his deep court driving game.

In the other half, Hunter, who holds the rank of America's second best player, came through along with Perrine Rockafellow, one time Colgate star. Hunter's victory over Eugene McCauliff, ex-Fordham player at 8-6, 8-6, produced some good tennis with the younger man fighting back bravely but with the issue never seriously in doubt. Arrayed against Herbert Bowman, seeded fourth, Rockafellow, who is seventh in the seeded list, produced something of a surprise by winning in clean cut fashion by scores of 6-4, 6-3.

In the doubles quarter finals Hall and Kenneth Appel, South Orange, beat Irving Raymond

Seals Loom as Strong Pennant Contenders in 1930 Pacific Coast League R

SQUAD BOASTS GOOD INFIELD

San Francisco Mound Staff Looks Formidable

Putnam Predicts Great Year for Frank Crosetti

Outfield is Only Worry of Bay City Outfit

BY RUSSELL J. NEWLAND
Associated Press Sports Writer

SAN FRANCISCO, Feb. 6. (AP)—San Francisco's Seals, winners of seven Pacific Coast League championships and usually strong contenders when not "in the saddle," shape up as a first-division team for the 1930 pennant scramble.

JOHN MILJUS.

A strong infield and stout pitching staff are the facts that present themselves from a study of the roster. The catching department is nothing to worry about, but the outfield is unimpressive. Of course, baseball "dope" is as uncertain as the preseason gossip in any other sport so the Seals may yet turn up with a lambastin', hard-to-get-out trio in the outer garden.

As it is, they will start the season with these flychasers: "Red" Wings, Ed Coleman, Jerry Donovan and Art Jahn. Wings, thoroughly experienced and a consistent clouter, will be the balance wheel of the group, although much is expected of young Coleman, big-league prospect. Donovan, another youngster, may get going but the fact remains that the services of Smead Jolley will be missed. Jolley, the fence hunter, was sold to the Chicago White Sox after last season.

George Alfred Putnam, secretary, official spokesman and leading eater of the Seals, halted long enough in the midst of a noonday repast to inform this department his team will have "the outstanding major-league prospect in the circuit this season." He referred to Frank Crosetti, 19-year-old shortstop, who played a brilliant game last year and is expected to be much more impressive this season.

There is no doubt but what Crosetti is due to develop into a star of major proportions. He has everything, from heart to hitting, and only needs more seasoning. In describing Crosetti's qualifications, Mr. Putnam rose to new and extraordinary heights of eloquence. The reader may gather the reason for the preceding statement through the knowledge that Mr. Putnam is a talker of unlimited capacity, in fact he could handicap a carnival spieler two hours and whisk over the finish line with a lead of two measured newspaper columns.

CARNERA WINS OVER OWENS

lished a new American record for distance, at least.

All the violence, the fury that lies smouldering beneath the outward complacency of the Italian giant was released as if on a given signal in round two. After being actually hit by the negro Bronco Buster several times in round one it was apparent from the way that Primo leaped from his corner to start the second round the end was just around the corner, and that Owens was due to take a none-too-pleasant exit.

Swish! Primo's right glove took an upward course and landed flush on the chin. Cowboy Bill swayed with the punch. His eyes took on a glassy stare. He tried to get his guard up, but was not quick enough. Primo looped a few more rights over his weary opponent's glove and a left hook followed a straight course right into the cowboy's stomach. Another right uppercut and Owens was knocked flat on his shoulders.

Referee Gene Roman must have sensed the futility of giving the fallen gladiator the benefit of a count but, being a kindly soul, he pumped his arm up and down nine times, but the cowboy was apparently in another world. On the last stroke Owens suddenly came to and sat up to see what all the shooting was about.

He was still sitting and looking around with a goofy expression on his face, when his handlers gathered him up.

Primo performed for a near-capacity crowd of some 3000 customers who paid approximately $25,000.

Before the fight started the Oklahoman broke out in a cold sweat that seemed to presage an early end. But when he failed to swoon after absorbing the first punch on the jaw, the experts began to take the proceedings seriously.

The man mountain moved around with the agility of a toe dancer in round one. He rapped Owens on the chin and in the stomach with punches that were not love taps, yet Owens refused to curl up. Instead the Oklahoman lashed out bravely with rights and lefts and even when he saw his best punches slide off Primo's elephantine frame he did not become discouraged. But then came the second stanza and the cowboy's lament.

Carnera weighed 276 and towered head and shoulders over Owens and his meager 220 pounds.

VENICE COPS TWO

The Venice High School Class C and Class D basketball teams annexed a pair of victories yesterday over the San Pedro cagers in games played in the Pirates' gymnasium. The Gondolier Cees triumphed by a 16-to-6 score, and the Dees outpointed the Pirates, 13 to 9. The Class A and Class B teams of the two high schools will clash today at San Pedro in the Bay League season.

Back Pass is Employed to Trick Foes

BY SOL METZGER

Ladies and gentlemen of the basketball fan fraternity, it is well to remember that the hand is quicker than the eye. Thus, when watching this cut back offense of your favorite team look for many things to happen. Even then you'll be surprised. We have just seen a series of plays built around the cut back specialists, No. 1 and No. 2. Enter a third hero here as No. 1 again tries to ring one from the foul-line for a two-pointer.

The opposition isn't going to let No. 1 take any more cracks at the basket from the foul line. Nope, they are not going to be fooled in that manner. Just the same No. 1 goes through all the motions of trying. Up go his two hands to make the chest shot and up high in front of him goes his opponent.

Look elsewhere for the plot to unravel. You'll find it in a third player tearing along back of No. 1, a team-mate. And the thing is timed perfectly. As the opponent is sky high No. 1 merely flips the ball back over his head into the eager hands of his team-mate, who dribbles in and shoots. Hard stuff to beat, isn't it? Let's look at another type of offense tomorrow—the long pass.

EDISTO IS WINNER AT CALIENTE

Hair-Raising Finish Sees Mack Entry in Victory

AGUA CALIENTE (Mex.) Feb. 6. In a hair-raising finish, Edisto, formerly of the Seagram stable and now campaigning for Willard Mack, American playwright, won the Yosemite $1200 handicap feature of today's program. A. A. Boroni's Crofton was second and Benny Creech's Andromeda was third.

Running the six furlongs in 1m. 11 4-5s., which is within two-fifths of a second of My Daddy's track record, Edisto, oldest in the field of ten that faced the barrier, paid $116.40 for each mutuel. It was the second largest price for the current meeting. Edisto, trained by Al Jones, was given a daring ride by Cecil McHugh.

After being in close quarters at the stretch turn, Edisto came gamely in the run home, and slipping through an opening near the end, caught Crofton in the closing stride. Mack races under the nom de turf of the Billbee stable. Results:

First race, five and a half furlongs—Kentize (Redding) won; Dan K. (Morfa) second; Little Broom (Cleverley) third. Time, 1:06 4-5.

Second race, seven furlongs—Rose Jones (Keller) won; Cretsanganis (Lasswell) second; Vorpell (Richardson) third. Time, 1:28 4-5.

Third race, three furlongs—Dapest (Gottlieb) won; Sun Thorn (Cornell) second; Yozano (Ellis) third. Time, 0:36.

Fourth race, six furlongs—Prospect (Mulroney) won; Chard (Redding) second; Ella May (Schutte) third. Time, 1:12 2-5.

Fifth race, six furlongs—Edisto (McHugh) won; Crofton (Barrett) second; Andromeda (Redding) third. Time, 1:11 4-5.

Sixth race, mile and an eighth—Elizabeth (Redding) won; Fair Bill (O'Brien) second; Cameo (Inselone) third. Time, 1:52 3-5.

Seventh race, mile and a sixteenth—Forecaster (O'Brien) won; Tin Soldier (Greco) second; Royal Mate (Warren) third. Time, 1:48.

STATZ AIMING FOR BIG YEAR

cess in 1926 can be attributed to his laying off golf the previous winter and he's adopting the same formula in his preparations for the coming season.

Right now Jigger says he's in wonderful condition, much heavier and confident that he'll again enjoy a highly successful season.

SHEIKS AFTER SOUTHPAW FROM NEW YORK YANKS

Bill Lane, the gruff-voiced boss of the Hollywood Stars, has not said so in so many words, but he has hinted that his Sheiks are expecting to land one of the many southpaws now gracing the New York Yankee roster.

The Yanks are overloaded with fork-handed flingers and there is a strong possibility of their sending one to Hollywood this year. Bob Shawkey, the new Yankee pilot, has Herb Pennock, Tom Zachary, Ed Wells, Fred Heimach and Vernon Gomez on his club and can't possibly find use for so many southpaws. The Stars have a working agreement with the Yankees and Lane might be able to talk Col. Ruppert into sending one of the quintet of left-handers out to Hollywood for the 1930 campaign.

At present the Sheiks have a pair of pretty good southpaws in Lefty Johns and Emil Yde, but they could use another portsider. Particularly so in view of the fact that Manager Oscar Vitt plans to convert Yde into an outfielder because of his hitting ability.

FIRST CUB-ANGEL GAME TO BE SANDBERG BENEFIT

Trust William Wrigley, Jr., to do the right thing for those who have served him faithfully. The multimillionaire baseball magnate yesterday announced that he would turn over the entire receipts of the first Cub-Angel exhibition game to the widow of Gus Sandberg, veteran Seraph catcher, whose recent untimely death plunged the local baseball colony into remorse.

The Cubs and Angels will play their first spring contest at Wrigley Field on Saturday, March 8, and local baseball fans are expected to turn out en masse to pay a final tribute to the memory of the well-liked Sandberg.

It is expected that a fund of $10,000 will be raised by the game and turned over to Sandberg's widow and his two small boys.

CARL HUBBELL EXPECTED TO SIGN WITH SEATTLE

Carl Hubbell, veteran right-handed pitcher who was with the Missions last season, is expected to be signed by the Seattle Indians soon. Red Killefer recently sold Hubbell to Chattanooga but the hurler refused to report to the Southern League club. Hubbell has agreed to terms submitted by Bill Klepper, Seattle prexy, and will sign with the Indians as soon as Killefer can call off the deal that would have sent the hurler to Chattanooga.

RABBIT PUNCHES

BY PAUL LOWRY

THE MIAMI SPECTACLE

IT MUST have become painfully apparent to the Madison Square Garden Corporation by this time that Jack Sharkey and Phil Scott are not going to draw the big "gate" that Sharkey and Young Stribling did at Miami last year.

The New York Garden promoters, who signed a five-year contract with the City Fathers of Miami to duplicate last year's spectacle, have overlooked a lot of factors that made the 1929 rendition such a big success.

Color in the person of Jack Dempsey, ex-champion, who carried on for his pal Rickard.

Curiosity on the part of southerners and winter visitors to Miami, many of whom had never seen a big fight before.

Phil Scott is an Englishman, whose nickname is "Fainting Phil." No native son stuff there—nor any ring courage.

The South won't bite again like that. Last year's spectacle was too dull.

If the boys do $250,000 business they will be overdoing it. The fight isn't worth it.

BAER AND OWENS

MR. "DUTCH" MEYERS wasted no time in signing for his boy Ernie Owens to meet Max Baer, the Oakland heavyweight find.

"Just let me put my name on the dotted line," Meyers told Matchmaker Hayden Wadhams of the Olympic, "and you can fill in the rest of the contract to suit yourself."

Mr. Meyers is an industrious soul, who believes in striking when the iron is hot.

His boy Owens has waged some bad fights in the past, but he put over a good one when he gave away more than twenty-five pounds and battled Dynamite Jackson to a draw.

This feat inspired Mr. Meyers to ask for a bout with Frankie Campbell, the author of eleven straight knockouts, but Campbell's managers promptly ducked the issue. Thereupon Mr. Meyers sought Baer.

He is the Oakland find, who has been knocking the boys stiff in a punch in the north. He was discovered by Bob McAllister, former amateur heavyweight champ of the Olympic Club, in the secluded little town of Livermore.

Baer gets a guarantee of $2500 for the match, and Owens takes 20 per cent after the Oakland heavy gets his cut.

All of which means that if Baer gets over Owens he will have a big bulge on Campbell right in the territory where the latter has gained his biggest prestige.

And wouldn't it be quite a match to see Baer of Oakland battling Campbell of San Francisco in a Los Angeles ring? There are possibilities ahead.

FISTIC SMOKE

TWO pending local fights have a lot of interest attached to them. One is the Payne-Lamar bout at Hollywood tonight and the other is the Santiago-Townsend affair at the Olympic next week.

Those in the know at Hollywood claim that Payne's handlers wanted to duck Lamar after they discovered how tough the Mexican stacks up.

Lamar has been fighting locally ever since the old four-round days, and has tackled all the best of the junior lightweights and full-fledged lightweights. He has never been knocked out and he fought such good ones as Ace Hudkins and Jackie Fields when those two good boys were lighter on the hoof.

The Santiago-Townsend fight looms as a kayo affair.

Townsend in one showing at the Olympic dumped Wildcat Carter on the canvas eleven times in one round. He had stopped Carter in the Northwest before the local fight.

There is much interest in Santiago, the Cuban. He has had every good fighter he ever fought on the floor. Among them are Tony Canzoneri, Benny Bass, Honeyboy Finnegan, Al Foreman.

Bud Taylor claims that Santiago is the hardest-punching lightweight in the ring today, and doesn't bar Jimmy McLarnin.

THE BASKET RACE

MORE hot stuff tonight and tomorrow night at the Olympic.

The Bears of Berkeley and the Bruins of Los Angeles in a pair of basketball duels.

The outcome will have a big bearing on the race for the Pacific Coast Conference hoop title of 1930.

The Bruins got off to a great start, and won the first skirmish from the Bears in the north by holding their foes to one point in the second half.

But the Bears have been coming and the Bruins going, so the present series is hard to dope.

At any rate the team that wins the double-header knocks the other definitely out of the title race. If they split that's another matter.

POMONA TRACKMEN OUT

Athletes Appear for Workouts as Spring Sun Hits Claremont; Hunt May Run Hurdles

CLAREMONT, Feb. 6.—The balmy spring weather that has been visiting Claremont for the last week has seen a great increase in the number of scantily clad athletes running about Alumni Field.

Coach Bob Strehle's Pomona track team has been getting in some worth-while workouts with both the weather and the lessening of academic activities very conducive to a little physical exercise.

Although the Sagehens have no outside meets for over a month Strehle has planned numerous intracollegiate affairs for his track-and-field athletes. The first of these will come off in about two weeks, an intramural track meet being scheduled for the last week in February. This meet is in the nature of a novice meet, open only to those students who have not been awarded varsity letters. Every year Coach Strehle discovers some hitherto unknown trackster in the novice meet and it is unlikely that he will fail to do so this year.

The new semester finds Quincy Hunt, star hurdler, back in school and, although he has not kept in perfect trim, he has been taking an occasional workout and it will not be difficult for him to regain his old form. Hunt has never competed for the Pomona varsity, but took firsts for the Pomona freshmen in both hurdle events in the frosh conference meet of two years ago.

Pomona lost only one track aspirant by means of the faculty ax this semester, little Bill White, brother of George White, captain of last year's team, failing to make the grade.

Although Strehle is by no means downhearted over the outlook for the coming season, he is not predicting a championship team and it is doubtful if the Sagehens will succeed in putting a better team on the track than they did last year, and, if such is the case, it will not be good enough to bring home the bacon, as both San Diego and Oxy are due to have their usual strong teams.

LADIES' GYM NIGHT

A ladies' night gymnasium program will be held tonight at the L.A.A.C. gymnasium with a number of novel athletic stunts on the card. Helen Petch, 15-year-old tumbler, will give exhibitions and there will be boxing, wrestling, weight lifting and rope-climbing events as well. Miss Doris Brown's ladies' classes will also be on the program.

JUNIOR EVENTS WELL SELECTED

All-Around Improvement for Those Who Compete

Junior Olympic Games Are Well-Rounded

Latin America Trip Will Advertise City

BY BRAVEN DYER

There is considerably more to the Junior Olympic Games than mere competition and the prizes to be won. Competition is good for all athletically inclined youngsters and an occasional prize helps to stimulate outstanding performances.

BRAVEN DYER.

But in the end it's the all-around physical development which is so beneficial to all who take the Junior Olympic Games program seriously. The five events on the schedule were not picked haphazardly. They were selected with the intention of making growing boys better men and those who have participated in the program or directed the games will tell you that the plan is a complete success.

BETTER SHAPE

Any boy who puts his heart and soul into a season of Junior Olympic Games competition will come out of the program in better shape physically and mentally. It's a program that gives every muscle a chance to grow and it calls for headwork in addition to arm and leg exercise.

The Junior Olympic Games program was selected only after much study and research. Each of the five events serves a definite purpose in building stronger and more healthy bodies.

The five cardinal principles are speed, strength, skill, agility and coordination.

For those who are planning to enter the program for the first time the five events are listed herewith:

(1) Seventy-five-yard dash. This develops speed and is also a test of co-ordination for few runners ever get far without this latter attribute. The distance is short enough so that the event is no strain upon boys under 16 years of age.

(2) Chinning the bar. This is probably the most difficult event on the program and one which calls for intensive training. Strength is necessary to perform this test well, but if you are not strong to begin with you can readily build yourself up by diligent practice.

(3) Basketball free throw. More skill is required in this event than in all the others put together. It takes a keen eye, steady nerves and co-ordination to cage eighteen out of twenty in this event as Jerry Deal, former Southern California champion, has done in the past. Practice counts more here than in any of the tests and there is no reason to be discouraged if your showing is not sensational at the start.

(4) Standing broad jump. This develops agility and gracefulness. Bob San Jose, national champion last year, had the most unique form of any boy competing in this event. At the same time it was the most graceful. Bob stood on his toes, hands extended straight into the air over his head. Poised there for seeming minutes, he suddenly launched into the air and by attaining great height was able to make almost impossible distances.

(5) Baseball throw for distance. Considerable natural athletic ability is necessary here, although a good cocoa can make a fair thrower out of a mediocre athlete. Strong arms are a great aid and strong arms are built by diligent chinning practice.

NEW STRENGTH

After practice in these events your arms, legs and back will acquire new strength. Such tests as the basketball throw also give the mind and eye a new type of training.

In addition to the physical benefit to be gained by participation in the program there is the educational reward which follows to those who are lucky or efficient enough to win the ocean cruise from New York to the Latin American countries and back to Los Angeles. The four boys with the best scores in the Southern California finals, slated for June 1, will be given this trip, with all expenses paid.

GENARO LOSES IN BERLIN GO

been warned several times for alleged low punching. Some boxing critics in the audience of 10,000 thought that Genaro's punches were fair and that he was the victim of an unjust decision but the large majority jeered the American and loudly cheered the referee's action.

Stein, towering some six or seven inches above the little American, absorbed some heavy body punishment throughout the fight. The German's height forced Genaro to concentrate almost entirely on the body. In the fifth round Genaro floored Stein for the full count but instead of allowing a knockout, the referee, evidently thinking the blow had been low, gave Stein a one-minute rest. Not understanding German, Genaro remained standing during this time while Stein was resting comfortably on a stool in his corner. Genaro was warned twice in the sixth round for alleged low punching and the seventh brought him disqualification amid a storm of applause from the crowd.

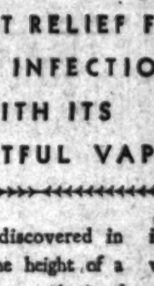
MANDELL MAY COME HERE

Possibility of Lightweight Champion Meeting Santiago-Billy Townsend Winner

Sammy Mandell, lightweight champion, may be brought to the Coast. The Olympic is working on a match for March.

There is a possibility that the winner of the Armando Santiago-Billy Townsend bout slated for next Tuesday may be the titleholder's opposition.



SAMMY MANDELL

Ted Morgan, who recently dropped his junior lightweight championship to Benny Bass, may figure, also. Morgan has been on the shelf temporarily with an injured thumb. He will start work as soon as his hand will permit.

Shortly before Morgan fought Bass Matchmaker Wad Wadhams was angling for a Mandell fight for Tod. The former junior lightweight champion plans to fight at 135 pounds and is in line for Mandell.

Santiago is in the same stable with Morgan and has a high rating as a puncher. He probably has knocked down more top-notch fighters than any other boy of the present crop.

He dropped Honeyboy Finnegan twice, Al Foreman three times, Tony Canzoneri twice and Benny Bass three times. He carries a knockout punch in either hand. He became widely known a year ago by a quick kayo of Joey Sanger.

Townsend is a right-hand hitter. He toppled Wildcat Carter eight times in two rounds when he appeared at the Olympic a few months ago. The Vancouver boy has hands like a heavyweight and is strongly developed about the shoulders and arms.

Matchmaker Wadhams yesterday made a trip to Soper's ranch to see Santiago in action. The Cuban did not show in a local gymnasium on his arrival a week ago but went directly to the Ojai camp.

The semi-wind-up is an eight-rounder between Eddie Burnbrook, veteran middleweight, and Jimmy Hanna. The latter hails from Pocatello and claims he has never been defeated in sixty-five fights.

Hanna weighs either middleweight or light-heavy. There is a possibility he may develop into a candidate for a bout with Frankie Campbell.

Wadhams has Les Kennedy and Dynamite Jackson signed for February 18 with Eddie Mack and Maurice Holtzer coming up a week later.

Panthers Make Southern Trip

Coach Ralph Welch and his Panther quintet from California Christian College leave today for San Diego to engage the State College five there tomorrow night in what promises to be a fast game.

The Panthers, minus the services of Capt. Butch Thompson, who was ill, were barely nosed out by La Verne last Wednesday evening, 32-32, after a game in which they led throughout, and hope to make it a win over the southern city team tomorrow.

Those making the trip are Coach Welch, Capt. Butch Thompson, Lefty Tower, Wally Newberry, forwards; Eugene Usrey, center; Day Dorland, Ralph Chaplin, Alfred Watson, Grafton Linn and Lon Burns, guards.

HARVARD ALUMNI WIN

The Harvard School alumni defeated their alma mater's casaba tossers on their home court yesterday afternoon 20-12. The Cadets held the lead until the last part of the third quarter, when Bernie Johnson of the alumni started making a string of baskets.

A "PAYNE" FOR LAMAR

That's just what Cecil Payne of Kentucky promises to be when he tackles Johnny Lamar in the ten-round feature at the Hollywood Stadium tonight. Cecil, despite his slaty name, is quite a lad with his fists. For that matter, so is Johnny—which means that Hollywood fans should have an interesting evening if everything goes according to Hoyle.

Reiselt Back in Cue Lead

NEW YORK, Feb. 6. (AP)—Winning both blocks today, Otto Reiselt of Philadelphia, went into the lead in his three-cushion billiard match with Welker Cochran of Hollywood. Reiselt now leads 400 to 394. Reiselt won the afternoon block, 74 to 42, in seventy-one innings, and the night session, 50 to 41 in thirty-seven innings. Reiselt had high runs of seven in each block. Cochran's best cluster this afternoon was four and tonight seven.

Welterweights are in the special. Tommy Hoffman and Johnny DeCoursey are very evenly matched and it's a toss-up as to which will win. Jack Hurd is favorite over Jimmy Lyall. They are big fellows and some like Hurd to win by a kayoe. Freddie Welch is picked to beat Mish Kerkorian in the curtain raiser. They are middleweights.

PUTNAM LOST TO SAGEHENS

has been bothering him ever since. After a thorough examination the doctor informed Putnam that he had better rest it for some time to come.

Although Putnam's loss is somewhat offset by the good showing of Stan Hahn, reserve forward, who will start in Putnam's place, the reserve strength of the Pomona team has been greatly weakened. With Hahn ready to go in at any time without greatly weakening the line-up, the Sagehens were fairly well off, but now, Coach Merritt has no one who is capable of performing up to the standard of his starting line-up.

The Sagehens took things rather easy this afternoon, spending most of their time shooting baskets. The Pomona boys have been rather weak in this department of the game and unless they improve their eyes considerably they are going to have to get a quantity of shots in order to make any points.

Pomona fans are looking to Capt. Clarence Bishop to crash through with a few points Saturday. Bishop, while playing a beautiful floor game against Whittier, failed to garner any points and fans think that it is just about time for him to have a night on. It is doubtful if there is another center in the conference with the all-around ability of Bishop.

The freshman teams from the two institutions tangle in a preliminary game. Coach Heath's Sagechicks are coming along rapidly and should give the Oxy babes a real battle.

FALKIRK WINS

GLASGOW, Feb. 6. (AP)—In a replayed game from the second round of the Scottish Football Association competition today Falkirk beat Queen of South by four goals to three.

CARD GOLFER IS MEDALIST defeat John Butts, Stanford dark horse, 1 up.

Additional first-round results, championship flight:

Dick Thompson, Stanford, defeated Dave Hanna, U.C.L.A., 4 and 3.

Russell (Bud) Thompson, U.S.C., defeated Winston Scott, Stanford, 2 and 1.

Herman Hellman, Stanford, defeated Horace Griggs, California, 4 and 3.

Edgar Lindner, California, defeated Ralph Allen, Stanford, 4 and 2.

Tomorrow's pairings:

Edmonds vs. D. Thompson, R. Thompson vs. Fuller, Stevenson vs. Hellman, Lindner vs. Moser, Moser and Edmonds are favored to win their quarter-final rounds tomorrow, while Fuller and Stevenson are also given a slight edge by Del Monte observers.

In the second flight today Charles Coffin, Stanford, defeated Herb Fleishhacker, Stanford, and tomorrow will meet Brink.

Moser played the best golf of the afternoon round, finishing one over par, a remarkable improvement over his morning round of 90 when he visited the ocean repeatedly.

Bud Thompson staged a brilliant comeback from 4 down, barring his way all the homeward nine to win 2 and 1 from Bill Edmonds.

Edmonds was five over par when he finished the match against Fuller, and on the aggregate, the amateur title is seed this morning.

Fuller finished three over par, to Dunlap's approximate eight over. Fuller started out with a birdie 3 on the first, was three up at the turn, but the ninth hole cinched matters by winning the fourteenth and sixteenth.

The Fuller-Dunlap cards:

Par, out	4	5	3	4	4	3	4	4	4	35
Fuller	3	5	3	4	4	3	4	4	4	34
Dunlap	4	5	3	4	4	3	4	4	4	35
Par, in	4	5	3	4	4	3	4	4	4	35
Fuller	4	5	3	4	4	3	4	4	4	35
Dunlap	4	5	3	4	4	3	4	4	4	35

Ralph Allen, Stanford, won the play-off for last place in the championship flight. He was tied with Tommy Webster of Southern California at 82 and won the first extra hole with par 4. Allen Moser, Southern California, defending champion, found the ocean on the sixth, eighth and seventeenth holes, ending up with a 5 on the eighteenth for a 90.

Edmonds's ace was made with a spoon. It was the first time the difficult par 3, 218-yard seventeenth had ever been made in one.

Gil Ekkles of Southern California won low gross in the freshman flight with 82.

Qualifying scores:

Warner Edmonds, Stanford, 73-2—71.

Dick Stevenson, Stanford, 78-3—75.

Gibson Dunlap, U.C.L.A., 79-6—73.

Douglas White, Stanford, 80-6—74.

Dick Thompson, Stanford, 81-4—77.

STEVENSON IS ELECTED GOLF PRESIDENT

DEL MONTE, Feb. 5. (AP)—Richard Stevenson of Stanford University was elected president of the Intercollegiate Golf Association at the organization's annual meeting here tonight. He succeeds Doug White, also of Stanford.

TROJAN TEAM OFF TONIGHT

the Trojan mentor expects plenty of trouble from this Stanford quintet which defeated S. C. in their first court encounter of the season. The Southern Californians evened the count by winning their second meeting, and Saturday's contest will be the deciding factor of the annual three-game series.

The same combination that started against U.C.L.A. and California recently with victorious results will open the game for Troy at Stanford, according to Barry. This combination is Frank Smith and Jack Gardner as forwards, Jesse Mortensen at center and Capt. Johnny Lehners and Wilbur (Web) Caldwell as guards.

Of this five Mortensen is the outstanding floor man. Lehners is the quickest and surest in guarding and Gardner is the best shot. Smith and Caldwell, although not outstanding in any particular branches of the game, have been highly consistent performers with a fast floor game, good shooting and a quick understanding of the Barry systems of offense and defense.

Bill Pierce, a regular early in the conference season until Mortensen returned to the game after a shoulder injury, will probably see considerable service against the Cards, while Aaron Nibley, one of the fastest and trickiest men on the squad, will also probably get into the game for a time.

Trojan players making the trip to Stanford are Frank Smith, Jack Gardner, Bill Pierce, Aaron Nibley and Henry Cano, forwards; Jesse Mortensen and Henry Walbot, centers, and John Lehners, Wilbur Caldwell, Ray Harris, "Moose" Thompson and Jim Truher, guards.

Max Baer on Suspended List

SAN FRANCISCO, Feb. 6. (AP)—Max Baer, sensational heavyweight prospect from Livermore, today was under voluntary suspension until informal charges before the State Boxing Commission that he had "carried" "Tiny" Abbott, Eureka fighter, in a recent bout had been investigated.

Baer stopped Abbott in the sixth round of a bout at Oakland and reports were circulated on the following day that he had allowed the Eurekan to stay more than five rounds. Charles F. Traung, local boxing commissioner, took cognizance of the reports, and at a hearing today suggested to Baer that he withdraw from any scheduled fights until his name has been cleared.

As a result, Baer will not meet Ed Herring in Oakland next Wednesday. The Livermore boy has come to the front in spectacular fashion. In eighteen fights he has scored thirteen knockouts, won three decisions and lost two on fouls.

LINKS RIVALS BATTLE TODAY

Mrs. Pressler, Mrs. Lifur in Midwinter Finals

San Gabriel Star Shoots 36 to Win Match, 7 and 6

Thirty-six-Hole Match Ends Brilliant Tourney

excepting Miss Joyce Wethered, England's famous star, or Miss Glenna Collett, United States women's champion, could have defeated Mrs. Pressler yesterday.

NINE PARS IN ROW

The San Gabriel star had nine consecutive fives to her 36 going out. Her long game was superb, and she was putting beautifully.

Mrs. Woerner seemed as delighted with Mrs. Pressler's marvelous golf as Mrs. Pressler was herself, and her attitude spurred the San Gabriel golfer on to a record score.

The match ended on the twelfth hole, when Mrs. Pressler scored a 5 to Mrs. Woerner's 6, after they had halved the first two holes on the incoming nine.

The card:

Men's par (out)	554	344	353	—36
Mrs. Pressler	554	344	353	—36
Mrs. Woerner	555	454	464	—42
Men's par (in)	434	453	444	—35—71
Mrs. Pressler	555
Mrs. Woerner	556

So far, Mrs. Pressler has not been carried past the fourteenth hole. In her first-round match she defeated Mrs. Willie Low of Lakeside, 7 and 5; defeated Miss Helen Lawson of Wilshire, 5 and 4, in the second round, and Mrs. Woerner, 7 and 6.

With the exception of one hole, Mrs. Lifur played exceptionally well coming in. She squared the match at the tenth hole with a well-played 4, and went into the lead, 1 up, at twelve by holing a ten-foot putt for another 4.

TAKES FOUR PUTTS

The 550-yard fourteenth hole proved to be an excellent example of the vagrancies of golf. Mrs. Lifur, on in 3, apparently had the hole cinched, as Miss Gottlieb took four shots before finding the green. Miss Gottlieb's putt stopped on the edge of the cup, giving Mrs. Lifur two putts for a win.

Fearing to knock her opponent's ball into the cup, Mrs. Lifur putted cautiously, the ball missing the cup and passing between the hole and Miss Gottlieb's ball. She then proceeded to 4-putt for a 7 to give Miss Gottlieb the hole and square the match.

They halved the fifteenth hole with 5s, and Mrs. Lifur won sixteen, despite a dubbed second shot. Mrs. Lifur was on in 3 and down in one putt for a 4, while Miss Gottlieb's thirty-footer for a 4 hit the cup and bounced out.

One up and two to play, Mrs. Lifur tallied a cautious 5, which was good enough to win, when Miss Gottlieb sliced her second into the barranca, and then placed her third into a trap, finally taking a 6.

The card:

Mrs. Lifur (out)	556	366	374—45
Miss Gottlieb	575	465	453—44
Mrs. Lifur (in)	444	573	45X
Miss Gottlieb	545	563	56X

It is interesting to compare Mrs. Pressler's score with Mrs. Lifur's, even if it doesn't mean anything.

THIRTY-SIX HOLES

Mrs. Pressler would have been 5 up at the turn, but a battle would have resulted, nevertheless, as Mrs. Lifur would have won the first three holes coming in with a trio of 4's against 5's.

Here is how the cards stack up:

Mrs. Pressler (out)	554	344	353—36
Mrs. Lifur	556	366	374—45
Mrs. Pressler (in)	553
Mrs. Lifur	444

The first eighteen holes of the finals will be played this morning, starting at 9:30, and the final eighteen this afternoon at 1 o'clock.

A gallery fee of $1 will be charged, the proceeds going toward an entertainment found for the national women's championship, which will be played over the Los Angeles Country Club in the fall.

Following are the complete results of yesterday's matches:

Championship flight, (9:30 and 1:15)—Mrs. Leona Pressler defeated Mrs. D. J. Woerner, 7 and 6; Mrs. Grace Lifur defeated Miss Beatrice Gottlieb, 3 and 2.

Harry Cooper Shows How He Explodes Ball

BY SOL METZGER

I'm always looking for generally accepted principles of play in producing these little golf yarns. Only in that way can real tips be passed on to the great numbers who wish to improve their games. I've found one in connection with the explosion shot.

All the stars we have seen, especially the star pros who have given golf principles perhaps more study than the amateurs, play the explosion alike in one respect. First, they open the face of their niblicks. Second they cut across under the ball from right to left.

We once saw Harry Cooper make a magnificent explosion at Oakmont in the 1927 open. And the scar his niblick left in the sand, a scar I have sketched here, proved again that the cut shot is the generally accepted way to blast. Tomorrow—a point to watch in exploding.

The action of the knees, the hips, the arms on the backswing and at time of impact is well described in Sol Metzger's leaflet on the pivot. He will send it to any reader requesting it. Address Sol Metzger, in care of The Times, and inclose a stamped, addressed envelope.

VAN FLEET-DURKEES SCORE HOCKEY WIN

Springing something of a surprise the Van Fleet-Durkee ice hockey team defeated the Shell Oilers, 5 to 3, at the Palais de Glace last night.

The game was marred by a serious injury to Crapper, one of the Oilers, who suffered a broken leg after colliding with the north wall.

The Proulx brothers, Hector, Nole and Gene, starred for the winners. With the score 3 to 2 against them at the start of the third period, Howard evened the count and then Hector Proulx tallied twice.

RING TALENT SCOUTED

Leo Newman Hunting for Local Boxers to Develop at New East Side Auditorium

Leo V. Newman, owner of the East Side Boxing Auditorium, which will open Monday night with Joe Guerrero and Ritchie King boxing the main event, is scouting for ring talent.

He believes that the development of local cards will increase interest in boxing and that there are any number of capable boys in the local ranks who are not starring because of their lack of opportunity. It was because of this belief that Guerrero was given the chance to battle King. The Mexican has done everything asked of him and has piled up an impressive knockout record, but has been given no chance against the imported scrappers of big reputations.

The big local cards at this time are Cecil Payne, Goldie Hess, Bud Taylor, Fidel La Barba, Frankie Campbell and Eddie Mack. Hess and La Barba are the only Los Angeles boxers in the list.

Newman's efforts to uncover talent will take in all divisions except the heavyweight. The big fellows will be given a chance to show but they are too scarce to make a search profitable.

With Guerrero and King showing Monday night, Newman gives another great prospect and a great club fighter a chance to show when he sends Sammy Jackson against Matty Mario, eastern welterweight, a week later.

The new auditorium on the East Side will be thrown open for inspection by the fans Sunday. Newman has worked quietly on his boxing venture, but now he is ready to go with a club that figures to make a place for itself in Los Angeles boxing. Fans will find that he is giving them as perfect a boxing arena as there is in the West and he will give them cards that insure a world of action.

SLOWING UP

Harry Vardon, in his younger days the world's greatest golfer, averaged 81.5 strokes per round, according to a compilation of last year's championship and tournament competition in Great Britain.

BRUINS FACE BEAR QUINTET

and height edge over their rivals and it is this factor that may bring about U.C.L.A.'s downfall. All are well over six feet tall and Frank Lubin is the only Bruin in the same altitude with them.

Playing on the Olympic floor may help the Bruins considerably. Their maiden effort on this court was that stunning 53-to-30 victory over Stanford. Since then U.C.L.A. has been away from home for every game. Getting back to their home court should help the boys considerably.

Capt. Larry Wilds and Carl Knowles have always been excellent shooters at the Olympic and the Bears will have to break swiftly and guard closely or these two will snag a flock of points. Give either a chance to get set and it's curtains. Knowles is more "unconscious" in his shooting than Wilds, the latter doing best when given the opportunity to get ready, aim and fire.

California's guarding against the Tropans was splendid and the low score at the end of the first half, 7 to 5, was due in a large measure to the fact that nobody had a good shot at the basket.

MAY WIN TWO

Going on the assumption that the Bears, due to superiority in physique and reserve strength, are entitled to an edge over their foes despite the recent defeat in the North, it would not be surprising to see California win both games. The Bruins are more likely to win tonight than tomorrow.

U.C.L.A. has never taken a series from California, but having won the first game some time ago, there is a good chance that the Bruins are about to break that jinx.

The line-ups:

U.C.L.A.		California
Wilds (C)	F	Trigg
Von Hasen	F	Purcell
Knowles	C	Ten-Broeke (C)
Eby	G	Fonda
Lubin	G	Davis

Mary Browne, recently restored to amateur standing as a golfer, is the only woman who ever achieved prominence both in tennis and on the links.

Anzac Tennis Squad Picked

MELBOURNE (Australia) Feb. 6. (AP)—The Australian Davis Cup team for the 1930 tennis competition has been officially selected. It is composed of Jack Crawford, 22-year-old captain; Harry O. Hopman, E. F. Moon and Jack Willard.

Like the United States, Australia has decided to rely on youth in the Davis Cup quest. Crawford and Hopman, a crack doubles combination, were members of the 1928 team that lost to Italy. Otherwise the team has had no Davis Cup experience.

Australia has challenged in the European zone this year and is drawn against Switzerland in the first round.

MANY OLYMPIC STARS AT S.C.

Seven Champs Have Won Cardinal and Gold

Wykoff Swells Total of Great Athletes

Houser Won Three Crowns in Competition

With Frank Wykoff now attending the University of Southern California, the number of Olympic Games champions who have worn the colors of the Trojans has now reached seven, a look into past S.C. records reveals. Although Wykoff did not win the 100-meter dash in the 1928 Olympics in Amsterdam, he was a member of the United States four-man 400-meter relay team which won its event in the Olympic record time of 41s. flat, and this relay victory gives the Trojan sophomore the distinction of Olympic champion.

BUD HOUSER

Southern California's first Olympic champion was Fred (King) Kelly, now an air-mail pilot. Kelly won the 110-meter high hurdles in the 1912 Olympics in Stockholm, his time being 15.1s. Charley Paddock, the "fastest human," was S.C.'s next Olympic champion with a victory in the 100 meters in 10 4-5s. in the meet that was held in Antwerp in 1920. Paddock was also a member of the 400-meter relay team of that year.

Earl Thomson, who worked as a freshman under Coach Dean Cromwell at S.C., was first in the high hurdles in the 1928 games, winning his race in 14 4-5s., and he can be considered the third Trojan Olympic champion.

Lee Barnes, winner of the pole vault in the 1924 games in Paris, and Dr. L. Clarence (Bud) Houser, winner of both the shotput and discus throw in the 1924 games, were the Trojans' fourth and fifth Olympic champions. Houser was an Olympic winner three times, having taken first in the discus throw again in 1928.

Charley Borah, now a student in the Trojan school of medicine but ineligible for further competition at S.C., as he served three years with the varsity track squad while a student at the S.C. college of dentistry, was an Olympic champion in the 400-meter relay with Wykoff in the 1928 games.

Mercury Cagers Defend Laurels in Beach Clash

The strong Los Angeles Athletic Club basketball team will be called upon to defend its lead in the Southern California A.A.U. race tonight when Coach Forrest Twogood takes his clubmen to Long Beach for a game with the Pacific Coast Club quintet.

Dick Rutherford has primed his home talent for the Mercuries and a close game should result tonight. The L.A.A.C. team has scored four straight A.A.U. victories but will need to down the Coast Club to assure another Southern California championship.

Chances that "Rags" Wilcox, Mercury captain and brilliant center, would see action tonight were brighter last night. Wilcox injured his hand when he led his team to a dazzling 56-to-36 victory over Hollywood last week and has missed all practices since that game. He is recovering, however, and will likely play tonight as well as tomorrow night against De Paul University. The latter game will be played at the L.A.A.C. gym and should be one of the best contests on tap for the week as the Blue Demons from Chicago boast one of the strongest of midwestern teams.

BRUIN NETTERS WILL MEET ARIZONA HERE

The varsity tennis team of the University of California at Los Angeles will engage in an intersectional meet this season with the net aggregation of the University of Arizona. The meet will be held on April 5 on the Bruin tennis courts on the Westwood campus.

The date, April 5 was chosen because the Arizona track team will clash with the Westwood trackmen on the same day on the U.C.L.A. oval. Bill Ackerman, varsity tennis mentor at the Bruin institution, is getting his team in shape for the coming season, and expects to have the men at top form against the Arizona Wildcats. Leonard Dworkin leads the Bruin net aces into action this year as first man, with Cliff Robbins probably getting the call as second man.

FIVE SOCCER TEAMS STILL IN RUNNING

Five City League soccer football clubs still remain in the running for the California State championship. This list is due to be reduced to three after Sunday's doubleheader at Loyola Field is over. In Sunday's round the Magyar and Scot elevens play at 3 o'clock with Richfield opening against the L.A.A.C. Mercuries.

Hollywood, the fifth team in the cup running and the favorite to again win the City League championship, draws a bye Sunday. State play-off games always produce the best soccer of the season and as no games will be played Sunday at Pasadena a large crowd of fans is expected for Loyola Field.

SMITH, DUDLEY IN EXHIBITIONS

Noted American Golf Pros Invade Mexico City

Three-Day Show Planned by Links Luminaries

Event to be Broadcast for First Time

BY JACK STARR-HUNT

MEXICO CITY, Feb. 6. (Exclusive) When Horton Smith and Ed Dudley appear in exhibition matches tomorrow, Saturday and Sunday, at the scenic Mexico City Country Club here, it will be the first appearance locally of noted American players since 1905, despite the inducive year-around golf weather and the excellent courses available in Mexico City.

ED DUDLEY

Twenty-five years ago, when golf was in its infancy here, a group of English and American players played in a tournament at a local club. The tourney was won by Willie Smith, who was then immediately engaged as professional of the San Pedro Golf Club and he remained with the club until his death.

Also playing in the tournament were Alex Smith, his brother; Willie Anderson, holder at that time of the open championship in the United States; Sandy Herd, Rolland Jones, Andrew Kircaldy, Fred McCleod, J. H. Simpson, Bob McIntosh, Bernard Nichols, Gilbert Nichols and George Low.

For the first time in Mexico City a sports event of this nature will be broadcast. It will go on the ether both in Spanish and English over the powerful Mexico City station XEB, which is powerful enough for reception in the United States.

Tomorrow Smith will pair with Max Wright, runner-up of the Mexican amateur championship, and play against Dudley and Percy Clifford, Jr., amateur champion here the last two years.

On the second day Smith and Dudley will oppose each other in exhibition play. On the third day, which is Sunday, Smith will have as his partner George Randall, pro at the Chapultepec Golf Club, and will play against Dudley and Harry Brown, pro at the Mexico City Country Club.

RIVETER KILLED WHEN HE FALLS

Iron Worker Plunges Five Stories in New Building on Downtown Corner

Henry Gomes, 28 years of age, of 153 North Avenue 59, was injured fatally yesterday when he fell five stories while working on a building in the course of construction at Ninth street and Broadway.

Employed as an iron worker by the McClintic-Marshall Construction Company, he was riveting girders when he lost his balance and plunged to the basement. He died an hour later in the Georgia-street Receiving Hospital.

Completion of New Silver Lake Road Requested

Completion of the Silver Lake Boulevard project within the year was urged yesterday by the Vermontshire Merchants' Association. R. W. Wheeler, chairman of the association's project committee, stressed the need of completing this link between Pasadena and the Wilshire district. He called attention to the fact that about $15,000 which was construed as illegally assessed against seven city-owned playground lots will be respread correctly over the assessment district, and that then the project will be started on its way.

He emphasized that the city and property owners already have paid for and built three and six-tenths miles of Silver Lake Boulevard north of Sunset Boulevard, and that the link remaining to be completed is less than one mile in length. The district has been promised a liberal allocation to pay for this last link, it is stated by the officials of the Vermontshire Merchants' Association, one of the sponsors of the project.

appeared to be the wish of the groups represented.

The second step in the organization movement will be taken next week when another meeting of resort representatives will be held in San Bernardino for the purpose of formulating a definite program for carrying out the plan, Manager Cormack reported to the Playground Department. The idea of unification is an outgrowth of co-operative efforts on the part of leading Southern California mountain playgrounds to promote winter sports and snow carnivals this season, under the sponsorship of the California State Chamber of Commerce.

CITY CREEK ROAD REOPENED TO TRAVEL

The City Creek Road in the San Bernardino Mountains, which has been closed to the public since the recent snowstorms, has been reopened, according to announcement yesterday by Clifford R. Lynn, manager of Myers's Camp in Bear Valley.

"There is a good two-way road and motorists will not need skid chains," said Mr. Lynn. "The road will be in splendid condition for the Bear Valley Carnival on the 8th and 9th inst."

AIRPLANE NEWS EXCHANGE

(Not all the interesting and out-of-the-ordinary news of the day finds a place on crowded wires or wires. Every evening The Times conducts a news exchange by airplane. By Western Air Express, T.A.T. and Standard lines papers of current and yester date from pivotal cities are received. Washington, D. C., contributes the first only two days from the press; Indianapolis and Chicago, thirty-six hours; Kansas City, Salt Lake City and Phoenix are just halfway 'round the clock. Today's gleanings range in subject from an account of a minister in Washington, D. C., paying up the Sunday's collection of pennies for bail when he was caught speeding, to a cold weather story from Albuquerque.)

HANDY COLLECTION

Washington (D. C.) Star, Feb. 5.

The Sunday collection of the Forestville (Md.) Methodist Church came in handy for Rev. Edgar Beckett, the pastor, when he was arrested for speeding yesterday afternoon.

Mr. Beckett was asked to put up $10 as collateral at the Fifth Precinct, and he surprised the station clerk by bringing in a bag of pennies. The clerk summoned help, four policemen responding. They finally doled out 1000 coppers.

Judge Isaac R. Hitt fined the minister $5 in Traffic Court today, so Financial Clerk Sanford, very angry, took time to count 500 pennies and gave them back to the minister.

Beckett said that he was rushing to a bank in this city to deposit last Sunday's contribution when Policeman Z. R. Wright halted him. According to Wright he paced the preacher for several blocks on Pennsylvania avenue Southeast at thirty-five miles per hour.

COLD WEATHER STORY

Albuquerque Journal, Feb. 6.

Hunters and trappers of the United States Biological Survey are working against a heavy handicap of freezing weather at their various camps throughout the State, Survey Leader John C. Gatlin reported upon his return from an inspection trip lasting a week.

The leader, driving more than 200 miles to Reserve to visit the camp of Hunters Sloan and Allsup near Reserve, found that weather in their area was so severe through the night that coyote traps froze tight to the ground and failed to spring shut when released by the quarry.

WON'T BE LONG NOW

Kansas City Star, Feb. 6.

The Kansas City man who recently declared that he would throw his cigarette lighter away the first time it failed him showed us the lighter yesterday, and it's getting pretty badly battered up.

DIDN'T LAUGH IT OFF

Chicago Tribune, Feb. 1.

Archie Harrison found himself in a woeful state and telephoned the police.

"I have," he hollered, "a large sum of money and I want a big police guard."

The pride of the force was dispatched and escorted him to his abode.

"By the way," said Sergt. Ben Hanke, "how much money are you holding?"

Archie produced a ring with a bunch of keys.

"That's a good one on me," said he, "I thought it was money."

He laughed heartily, and the disgusted law tossed him into the hastile.

LIKE THE WET PAINT SIGNS

Salt Lake Tribune, Feb. 6.

Officials of the Union Pacific System are more or less humorously considering whether their safety first psychology is right or wrong.

The question arose following receipt of a communication on Thursday from an anonymous Houston, Tex., man, who asserts railroad danger signs are based on the wrong psychology.

The writer states, "tell a man to stop, look and listen, and he is impelled to do none of the three." He suggests for railroad crossings: "Come ahead. You're unimportant."

"Don't stop. Nobody will miss you."

"Try our engines. They satisfy."

WAS TWO-GUN FIGHTER

Phoenix (Ariz.) Republican, Feb. 6.

Survivor of nearly a score of gun battles with desperadoes, Deputy Sheriff Lee Wright, who died early yesterday from wounds suffered in his last skirmish with fugitives, left behind a six-shooter into the batteres' butt of which a half-dozen or more niches had been carved.

Cow hand, deputy sheriff, special officer, Wright was of the old West, a man who knew no fear and who could shoot straight.

These compliments came from Phoenix officers yesterday, some of whom had known Wright through a period of forty years. Those who have known him and his achievements in other gun fights are unable to explain how he suffered his wounds at Chandler on the night of January 13 without wounding at least one of the trio, captured near here the following day.

Like so many of the other old westerners, Wright was what was known as a "gun-fanner." He used his thumb, rather than the trigger finger.

"Wright was a deadly marksman with his six-shooter," Ben Clark, desk officer at police headquarters, declared. "I understand that during the Chandler fracas, Lee was armed with a shotgun. That, or perhaps the wounds in his right arm, may explain his shooting on that night."

BANDIT MAKES PAIR SHIVER

Grocer and Butcher Locked in Ice Box

Other Angelenos Enjoyed Warmth

A. B. Coon, grocer, left, and L. Sprar, butcher, locked in ice box by store bandit.

WHILE thousands of other Angelenos were basking in midsummer weather yesterday A. B. Coons, manager and L. Sprar, butcher, were nearly frozen to death at 3503 Venice Boulevard. They were locked in a large ice box in a MacMarr store at that address for nearly an hour.

After being released by an early-morning customer both told police how an armed bandit had held them up soon after the shop was opened. The bandit, they said, forced them into the ice box, latched the heavy door from the outside, helped himself to $50 from the cash register and departed.

Unable to open the refrigerator door from the inside, Coons and Sprar were compelled to stamp about among quarters of beef and swinging hams in the frigid atmosphere until released by the customer nearly an hour later.

Major Disaster Drill Today for Scouts of City

Interest in today's announced "major disaster" mobilization is so great among Boy Scouts that scoutmasters predicted last night the turnout will exceed by many hundreds that of last year. At the siren signal by Field Scout Executive Davey from the dirigible Volunteer, the Boy Scouts of Los Angeles council will hasten by all means of transportation to the mobilization points and take up their duties as they have been drilled to do in case of an actual major disaster.

E. B. De Groot, scout executive of Los Angeles Council, announced that the public will witness an interesting demonstration of Scout work, and he urged adults to be present at one of the mobilization places this afternoon in order to appreciate the activity fully.

California Team Wins in Debate

Good debating won over patriotic pride last night when the team of California Christian College won a two-to-one decision over the team representing Pacific University of Forest Grove, Or., in a debate at Grayson Memorial Auditorium. California Christian supported the affirmative on the question "Resolved, that the foreign indictment of American culture is justifiable," and won.

The debaters were Robert Oliver and William Ladd for Pacific University and Herbert Minard and Morris Schollenberger for California Christian College. The judges were Rev. Neal K. McGowan, John Proebstel and H. L. Herberts.

Bixbys Refuse Confirmation of Divorce Rumor

A rumor to the effect that Jotham W. Bixby, son of the founder of Long Beach and president of the Bixby Company of that city, is about to be made defendant in divorce proceedings instituted by his wife, Mrs. Bertha Bixby, elicited neither confirmation nor denial from Bixby yesterday. He is leaving immediately for Mexico City, he said, and has no wish to discuss the report.

It became known last night that Mrs. Bixby and her 18-year-old daughter Batrece are living at the Hollywood Roosevelt Hotel where they registered last Saturday, but attempts to obtain a statement from her also were futile.

The Bixbys have been married twenty-one years, and the asserted estrangement is reported to have come about quite recently.

Dr. Crandall's Wife Expires

Mrs. Gertrude R. Crandall, wife of Dr. Walter G. Crandall, past president of the Iowa State Dental Association and the Los Angeles County Dental Association, passed away at their residence, 2925 Beachwood Drive, Hollywood, yesterday.

While her health had not been good for the past several months, her condition was not considered serious but the end came unexpectedly.

Born at Wykoff, Minn., in 1877, Mrs. Crandall came to Los Angeles from Spencer, Iowa, fourteen years ago and had been prominent in the social activities of this city.

She leaves her husband, two sons, Kenneth and Dick, one daughter, Carol, and mother, Mrs. Rollins.

Interment will be at Forest Lawn Memorial Park Monday, next, services being in the Little Church of the Flowers at 2 p.m.

Coal produced in British mines last year weighed 260,000,000 tons, or nearly 8 per cent more than in 1928.

ROLPH HERE FOR REUNION OF SOLDIERS

Bay City Mayor Made Honorary Member of Ninety-first Division

"It is only in California that one can take a trip like I will take today in the middle of February—in Los Angeles at midnight and in San Francisco this morning, over one of the most wonderful highways in the world, the new coast route," said Mayor James Rolph of San Francisco last night.

Mayor Rolph came here to attend the reunion of the Ninety-first Division, A.E.F., he stated. He was made a life honorary member at the meeting of the overseas men at Patriotic Hall Wednesday night. "It is one of the finest honors I ever received in my life," he said. "It is a privilege to be counted as a comrade of that splendid group of men. I shall always prize that membership."

Mayor Rolph spent the day visiting friends in Los Angeles and Long Beach.

C. C. Teague in City in Interest of Raisin Men

Charles C. Teague, member of the Federal Farm Board, is in Los Angeles relative to obtaining relief and perfecting marketing for California raisin growers. He is stopping at the California Club and last night said he expects to be in the city for two or three weeks and that he will go to Fresno after completing his work here.

"I have nothing to say except that I am here in the interests of the grape industry. It would be a mistake for me to talk now," he said.

It is understood that Teague is meeting with a group of bankers here. Carlyle Thorpe, head of the California Walnut Growers' Association, who has been making a survey of the raisin industry, came west with the farm board member.

Council Head Wants to Walk

Council President Sanborn, the only member of that body left with a city car and driver after the recent elimination of the aldermanic transportation system, which is estimated at an annual cost of $46,000 to the taxpayers, yesterday introduced a resolution asking that his car be dispensed with and the driver sent back to the police department, thus signifying his intention of walking with the rest of his colleagues.

The resolution was referred to the Supply Committee.

JUNIOR BAR GROUP ELECTS OFFICERS

Officers were elected last night by the Junior Bar Association of Los Angeles at a meeting in the Chamber of Commerce Building. The officers elected were: John D. Richer, chairman; Grant Cooper, first vice-chairman; John Oliver, second vice-chairman, and Orlo Poe, secretary. Guests of honor at the meeting included Judges Burnell, Archbald, Keeth, Doran and Westover and Hubert Morrow, Guy Crump, president of the Los Angeles Bar Association, and Norman Bailee, president-elect.

MUSIC GEMS FEATURED IN CONCERT-LECTURE

CHASE NETS SUSPECT IN THEFT CASE

Woman Caught in Store After Asserted Attempt to Snatch Purse

A woman's scream for help as she discovered another tugging at her handbag yesterday precipitated a wild chase through a downtown department store which ended in the capture of the suspected purse snatcher.

When booked at the Central Police Station on a charge of suspicion of burglary, the suspect, who carried two handbags almost filled with a variety of merchandise, gave her name as Mrs. Frances Mathews and her age as 52 years. She refused to reveal her address. The capture was effected by a store detective, but only after a hot pursuit and a violent struggle.

Following a check-up in the police record bureau the detectives announced that Mrs. Mathews has a record which extends over a period of ten years. She was arrested in 1920 on a grand-larceny charge, they report, and while awaiting trial in 1921 was again arrested on a similar charge. She was sentenced to San Quentin and released on parole January 30, 1924. On February 7, 1927, she was again arrested in San Francisco on a grand larceny charge and returned to prison as a parole violator.

Police believe her arrest will check numerous complaints of downtown shoppers about rifled purses following jostling in crowds.

The handbags carried by Mrs. Mathews contained vanity cases, money, jewelry and various other articles, police said.

G.O.P. County Committee Raps Sanborn Attack

Resolutions upholding W. J. Sanborn, president of the Los Angeles City Council, and denouncing the proponents of his recall were adopted last night by the Republican County Central Committee at its monthly meeting in the Civic Auditorium, Culver City. Col. William Erie Fowler, chairman, presided. The body adopted the resolutions introduced by Mrs. Evelyn White Michler, as follows:

"Whereas, it has come to the attention of the Republican County Central Committee that recall agitation against President of the Los Angeles City Council W. J. Sanborn has been started in the Ninth District, and

"Whereas, it is common knowledge that Sanborn has served the Ninth District as a City Councilman for more than ten years faithfully and well, now, therefore, be it

"Resolved, that this committee places itself unanimously on record as denouncing the recall movement and its proponents, and at the same time unanimously expressing our wholehearted indorsement of Councilman Sanborn."

Speakers at last night's meeting included State Senators Merriam, McKinley and Evans, Councilman W. J. Sanborn, Reeve Houck, Mayor of Culver City, John Dillon and Joseph Scott.

Doctor Pierce's Clinic

DR R. V. PIERCE long ago established his clinic in Buffalo, N. Y. If you have awful pains in the back, sometimes in the arms, hip or foot, it's often due to an over-abundance of that poisin called uric acid. The kidneys are not able to get rid of it. Frequently the sufferer is disturbed at night, often having to get out of bed. The signals of distress, which are easily recognized, and include such symptoms as lumbago, backache, depression, drowsiness, irritability, headache, dizziness rheumatic twinges and dropsy, are often due to the kidneys not being able to function properly. This is the time to write Dr. Pierce's Clinic in Buffalo, N. Y., for free medical advice and send sample of urine for free analysis.

Dr. Pierce's Anuric in tablet form, a prescription which has been very successfully used in the Clinic is now recommended to those who suffer with irregularity of urination and the pains and disturbances that come from poisons in the system. The mere drinking of a cup of hot water each morning and "Anuric" before meals brings quick improvement. Anuric can be procured from your druggist.—[Advertisement.

SERVICE MEN TRANSFERRED

Capt. Taylor to be Relieved by "Fighting Parson;" Col. Woods Joins Hines's Staff

Two important changes in the port's service colony were announced yesterday by the War and Navy Departments. They were transfers to other duties of Capt. Le Roy N. Taylor, chaplain of the battle fleet, and Col. R. F. Woods, commanding officer of the Third United States Coast Artillery, at Fort MacArthur.

Capt. Taylor comes ashore from the battle fleet flagship California to duty in San Pedro as liaison officer of the navy out-patient dispensary and will also have charge of the work of the Navy Relief Society in the San Pedro base area. He relieves Lieut. J. P. Forsander, ordered to duty aboard the U.S.S. Altair, destroyer tender.

Capt. Taylor will be relieved by the navy's famous "fighting parson," Capt. John J. Brady, now serving with the special service squadron in Caribbean waters. Capt. Taylor will leave the California next week, Capt. Brady going aboard upon the flagship's arrival at Panama on the 28th inst.

Capt. Brady has been awarded both the Navy Cross and the Distinguished Service Cross for bravery in action while serving with the marine expeditionary force in France during the World War.

Col. Woods yesterday received orders tranferring him to San Francisco to duty on the staff of Maj.-Gen. John L. Hines, commanding the Ninth Corps Area, where he will have charge of the organized reserves in the San Francisco area.

His relief will be Lieut.-Col. C. W. Waller, now commanding the Sixty-third United States Coast Artillery, an antiaircraft regiment now at Fort Winfield Scott, which will relieve the Third Regiment at Fort MacArthur.

Col. Woods will leave the post within the fortnight and during the interim before Col. Waller's arrival, Fort MacArthur will be in command of Maj. Kelly B. Lemmon, it was announced yesterday by Capt. M. E. Conable, post adjutant. First units of the Third Regiment will leave for new duties on San Francisco Bay about March 8 and immediately thereafter the new antiaircraft regiment will take station here from Fort Winfield Scott, according to Capt. Conable.

MAYOR STUDIES BONDS DATA

Approval of Proposed Election on $38,000,000 Issue Expected to be Announced This Week

Formal approval of Mayor Porter to the submission to the voters some time in May of a bond issue of $38,800,000 to be devoted to the enlargement of the city's water supplies and the increase of storage and distribution facilities will probably be given within the next few days, it was said by the Mayor last night. His statement followed a final conference yesterday afternoon at the offices of the Chamber of Commerce at which the directors of the chamber discussed with the members of the Water and Power Board and Wm J. Sanborn, president of the City Council, the terms and uses of the proposed bond issue.

The program presented by the Water and Power Board received the tentative approval of the other parties to the conference with the provision that this approval would be made final only after the program's complete indorsement by Mayor Porter.

The Mayor said last night that he could not definitely announce the details of the bond program until he has had an opportunity to study the figures submitted and the conclusions reached at yesterday's conference, but he added that he had been in general agreement with the ideas of the Water and Power Board on the subject before the conference was called.

Two definite decisions of the conference, he said also, had his wholehearted sanction previous to the meeting. They are that no power bond issue be presented to the voters at this time and that there should not even by any discussion prior to July of next year of any rise in water rates.

The program presented yesterday allots almost one-half of the proceeds of the bond issue, $19,181,000, to payment for lands and water rights in Inyo and Mono counties. The next largest item is $8,250,000 for the construction of dams and reservoirs.

The construction of a tunnel from Mono Basin to the upper reaches of the present water system, through which the Mono county water will be diverted to the existing aqueduct, will take $7,500,000 of the proceeds of the bond issue, it is estimated. Enlargement of the Aqueduct to carry the additional supply will take $800,000, and the addition to the system of new distribution lines will require $3,269,000.

The increase in storage facilities at this end of the Aqueduct, as contemplated in the program, will be from the present capacity of 48,000 acre feet to a total of 113,000 acre feet. Other storage features of the program are the construction of a dam in Long Valley which will impound 68,000 acre feet of water and another dam in Bouquet Valley which will store 30,000 acre feet. It is also planned to enlarge the Chatsworth reservoir to bring its capacity from its present 7500 acre feet to 42,500 acre feet.
